Gold! Gold!

BUY THE BEST!

Be Sure You're Right, Then Go Ahead.

Five Large Veins,
75,000 Tons, High-grade Ore in Sight.

Favorable reports by Horace V. Winchell, (state geologist); Julius Ropes (president of the "Ropes Gold and Silver Mine"); Wm. Peters, (former superintendent of the "Little American Gold Mine"); men acknowledged to be authority on gold formations, as well as of practical mining experience.

The Wiegand Mine.

Since the visit of Professor Horace V. Winchell to the property, a shaft has been sunk on No. 5 vein, fourteen feet deep. The vein is a true fissure, six feet wide between walls, with two feet of rose quartz assaying from $28.00 to $210.00 per ton; the balance of the vein matter being mixed, about 75 per cent of which is quartz, all of which carries free gold.

Miners are now at work under contract to sink this shaft to the depth of a hundred feet, and expect to progress at the rate of about thirty-five feet per month. Shafts on Nos. 1 and 2 veins, will be continued in the near future.

Arrangements will be made to have a ten-stamp mill (capacity thirty tons per day) ready to run by May 15th, by which time we propose to have a stock pile of about 1500 tons of good ore.

To expedite the work of opening up the mine, power drills will be used if necessary. In order to push this work as rapidly as possible, the "Wiegand Gold Mining Co." has been organized under the laws of the State of Minnesota. Capitalization, $200,000.00; par value of shares, $1.00. Fifty thousand shares will be placed in the treasury to provide funds for working capital. Ten thousand shares are now offered for sale at fifty cents a share, and will be sent by mail in not less than 100 share lots, on receipt of certified checks.

We are aware that gold stocks, as a rule, are not desirable property. Nor do we propose to encourage anyone to buy the Wiegand stock on our say so. To those who care to invest, we advise them to first thoroughly investigate, or have someone on whose judgment they can rely, do so for them. The property can be seen and a man of experience can readily judge as to its value.

Ore averaging $7.00 in the mill will pay a large profit. The appearance of the vein matter, together with assays running from $6.45 to $210.00 per ton, indicates that the rich quartz will average from $5.50 to $5.50 per ton.

Any further information desired can be obtained by calling at our offices, 300 and 310 Burrows Block.

Reports, prospectus and a good write-up of the Rainy Lake and Seine River Gold Fields, sent by mail on application.

STILL COLDER.

The Weather Bureau Has Predicted the Severest Cold Wave of the Season for Tonight.

It Will Extend Over Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Two Dakotas, Colorado and Several Other States.

Reports From the Eastern States Show That Very Frigid Weather Prevails at Many Points.

Twenty Below Zero at Albany and Several Degrees Below at Philadelphia—Cold in Europe.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—During the past twenty-four hours the pressure has risen 1.22 inches at Havre; 1.38 at Medicine Hat and 1.42 at Swift. Current winds have fallen more than half an inch at Kansas City, Des Moines, Keokuk, Springfield, Ill., Hannibal and St. Louis, Mo. These conditions have produced a very steep gradient of the barometer and wind velocities of sixty miles an hour at Valentine, Neb., 48 at Cheyenne and 46 at North Platte, Neb.

Emergency warnings indicating violent gales with snow have been sent to the states in the upper and middle Mississippi and lower valleys and upper lake region. The indications are for the severest cold wave of the season in Colorado, Northern Texas, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota tonight.

COLD IN NEW YORK STATE.

Twenty Below Zero at Albany Early This Morning.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The French line steamer La Gascogne, now three days overdue from Havre has not yet been sighted. The wind is blowing strong from the northwest and although it is clear overhead the intense cold of the atmosphere causes a vapor-like fog to rise over the water, the result being that the observers at Fire Island and Sandy Hook can see but a short distance off shore. La Gascogne, therefore, could only be reported when close to Sandy Hook unless the weather moderates.

Last night was one of the coldest ever experienced here. The thermometer at 6 a. m. registered 5 degrees below zero. The Ken line's tugboat Quartershells, he ran suddenly into cold weather. The thermometer fell rapidly and the spray which flew aboard quickly coated the decks and rigging with ice several inches in thickness. The vessel's crew suffered greatly from the cold and only with the greatest caution managed to get about the decks.

This is the coldest day here since Dec. 31, 1880, when the thermometer registered 6 degrees below, and the third coldest day on record since the weather bureau was established in 1870. The other two days colder than this were Feb. 24, 1875, when the mercury dropped to 1 degree below zero and Jan. 10, 1875, when it registered 6 below. Today at 7 a. m. the weather bureau's thermometer, 300 feet above Broadway, registered 3 below. Since midnight when the thermometer read 7 degrees above, it fell steadily until sunrise. Then the mercury in the tube began to rise again. At 9 a. m. it stood at zero and at 10 a. m. read 2 above with prospects of a further rise.

NEWARK, N. Y., Feb. 6.—The coldest weather of the season is being experienced here, the thermometer registering 12 degrees below zero during the night. A still north wind accompanied by light snow has been blowing since yesterday morning. Wires are down in the city and business is practically suspended.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 6.—It was 12 degrees below zero in this city last night, the coldest in eighteen years. BUFFALO, Feb. 6.—Thirteen and three-tenths below zero was the record this morning, the lowest Buffalo record for February and with one exception the lowest temperature ever recorded here since the establishment of the bureau in 1870, that exception being Jan. 25, 1881, when the thermometer registered 13.5 below.

ALBANY, Feb. 6.—At 4 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 20 degrees below zero and at 9 o'clock 10 degrees below. A brisk wind added to the intensity of the cold.

FRIGID IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The Mercury Touched a Very Low Point All Over the State.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—The thermometer in the weather bureau registered 3 degrees below at 7 o'clock this morning, the coldest weather experienced in this city for fifteen years. On Dec. 3, 1880, the mercury reached 5 below and on Jan. 16, 1893, the zero mark was touched. Weather Clerk Day says the cold snap will continue today and tonight, but on Thursday it will be warmer.

ASHLAND, Pa., Feb. 6.—The thermometer registered 12 degrees below zero this morning; 15 at Delano; 18 at Frackville and Centralia, and 15 at Girardville.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Feb. 6.—At 3 o'clock the thermometer registered 20 below.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—Intense cold weather has prevailed here for five days, the mercury registering below zero every day. Last night it dropped to 6 degrees below and at 8 o'clock it was 4 below. For the first time in many years both rivers are frozen over. The Allegheny is frozen solid from Oil City to Logan's Ferry, a distance of ninety miles. Heavy gorges are reported at several points, and grave fears are entertained of damage when the weather moderates. The usual shortage of natural gas has caused much suffering, and many families have returned to coal for heating purposes.

SEVEN BELOW AT BOSTON.

But the Plumbers and Fuel Dealers Are Feeling Happy.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Seven degrees below zero has broken the season's record and made the best business of the year for plumbers and fuel merchants. The presence of the northeast gale, which has been blowing since yesterday, has added to the discomfort. Suburban car lines are badly blocked by drifting snow and incoming trains from North and East, are hours late. In the harbor shipping is practically at a standstill. No vessels sailing and but few arriving. All report heavy weather outside.

Snow Storm at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The snow storm prevailing today threatens to result in a widespread blockade. The weather bureau here has given out notice of probably heavy snow throughout the states, accompanied by a severe cold wave tomorrow with a high northwest gale. The states named are Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Indiana.

Very Cold in Maine.

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 6.—The mercury registered to degrees below zero this morning, with a stiff east wind blowing.

Chilly in Vermont.

NORTHFIELD, Vt., Feb. 6.—The roads here are impassable, with a stiff wind, making high drifts. The thermometer registers 10 degrees below zero.

Cold Weather in Europe.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Bitterly cold weather accompanied by snowstorms prevails generally throughout Great Britain. For the first time in fourteen years the docks at Southampton are frozen over with thin ice. At Market harbor the thermometer registered 4 degrees below. Several persons have been frozen to death in the country. The railroad trains in Scotland and Wales are blocked by snowdrifts. The weather on the continent has also been very severe. In Paris there were five deaths yesterday from the cold.

DULUTH CUSTOMS DISTRICT.

Baldwin to Have a Hearing on the Bill Increasing Its Size.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—[Special to The Herald.]—Representatives Baldwin and Kiefer will be given a hearing on Friday before the committee on Maj. Baldwin's bill for a revision of the Minnesota customs districts, increasing the size of the Duluth district. The secretary of war today transmitted a report to congress showing the estimated number of troops in the various states. Minnesota is put down as having thirty-six regular field officers and a total of 103 officers and 133 privates. The number of men available for military duty and unorganized is estimated at 16,000.

Representative Baldwin today presented a petition of the Duluth chamber of commerce praying for the passage of some commercial legislation as the measure recommended in the president's message.

The Tennessee Governorship.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 6.—The legislative joint assembly met again today and the reading of the returns for governor was resumed. Objections to the vote of different counties were filed by Mr. Turney (Dem.) and Mr. Evans (Rep.). After the returns of the counties had been read, Mr. Evans (Rep.) took the oath of office as governor, which was administered by a magistrate in the state library.

Still Some Friction.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Gen. Barrios, the special envoy of the government of Nicaragua to the government of Great Britain, has gone to Paris. It is learned that his mission here has not been successful. There is still some friction between Nicaragua and Great Britain in regard to the arrest of E. D. Hatch, the acting British consul at Bluefields in September last.

Request to Tufts College.

PROVINCETOWN, R. I., Feb. 6.—The will of Cornelia Maria Jackson bequeaths $70,000 to Tufts college, Medford, Mass., for a building to be called the "Cornelia M. Jackson College for Women," and to provide for the instruction of women in the duties and privileges of American citizenship and in the theory of government, in addition to a regular course.

The Anti-Toxine Plant.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 6.—A bill for an appropriation of $8,000 to establish a plant in which to cultivate anti-toxine, the new German anti-diphtheria serum, was introduced in the state senate by Senator Brand. The bill provides that plant shall be under the care of the state board of health.

Late Pence's New Job.

DENVER, Feb. 6.—A special to the News from Washington says that after March 4 Congressman Late Pence will take up his residence at Kinderhook, N. Y., and engage in railroad business with Haines Brothers, who are the principal owners of twenty or more roads, mainly toll systems.

The Diamond Match Company.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The stockholders of the Diamond Match company held their annual meeting here today. The annual report showed a surplus of $1,000,000 which will be issued as stock and distributed among the stockholders as additional dividend. The regular quarterly dividend of 2 1/2 per cent was declared.

Pensioned For Life.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 6.—The sultan has granted a pension for life to the metropolitan of the city of the American citizen, who was killed by a drunken soldier who ran amuck through the streets here on Jan. 30 last.

IS NOT RATTLED.

The Tall Pine's Strong Efforts to Confuse Blix in His Story Prove Without Avail.

Blix Stuck Very Closely to His Original Testimony, Despite Erwin's Threats and Browbeating.

In Explaining His First Confession Blix Claims that He Was Confused at the Time.

Denied that He Changed His Story to Suit the Greengoods Theory of the State.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 6.—There was an intensely sensational scene in the court room this morning shortly after the Hayward murder trial opened. Blix, the self-confessed murderer, was still on the stand and Mr. Erwin began his day's campaign by charging directly that the witness had doctored his confession given yesterday to suit public clamor.

The state objected to this manner of cross-examination and the court sustained the objection on the ground that it was an attack on character. Mr. Erwin then asked Blix how he accounted for the discrepancy between the two statements he had made as to Harry's giving him the whisky. Blix wanted to go into an explanation of this after his own ideas, but Mr. Erwin insisted on direct answer. It was evident as the cross examination proceeded that Mr. Erwin had determined on a different line of attack from that attempted yesterday, which had so signally failed. He threatened and browbeat the witness.

"I want to explain something," said Blix. "No you don't," retorted the criminal lawyer, "you've babbled long enough; you've got to get down to business now. Did you not change your statement as to what time it was when Harry brought you the whisky, because you had been informed that at that time he was with a man named Waterman?"

"As I sit here before God, what I have said is of myself. No one had told me anything at all." "Did you not make your second statement at the point of a revolver and under a threat?" "No, I did not."

"In your first statement you said Harry gave you the cartridges, about six; now you say it was seven." "It was between six and seven." And then the witness named did not change the story again, back and forth and through, in the effort to secure contradictions.

Mr. Erwin took up each discrepancy between Blix's testimony yesterday and the first confession he made, wherein he asserted that Hayward had done the actual shooting and asked the witness the reason for it. Blix's invariable reply was that he was confused at the time and recollection was not clear. He had thought it over every day since then, and all the details had come back to him. Oftentimes the efforts of the lawyer to trap him from liability for any complicity in the late conspiracy, that it cannot be conceded that such rights and claims as he voluntarily relinquishes have had any legal existence, since Jan. 14, 1895, and that her appeal for clemency for those taking part in the insurrection will receive full consideration.

United States Minister Willis has made objections to the powers of the military court now sitting, claiming that offenses committed previous to the date on which martial law was proclaimed should be tried before a civil court and jury. His objection causes the government more uneasiness than anything that has taken place since the beginning of the rebellion.

THE WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.
Memorial Against the Altamonte Bill Referred to a Committee.
ST. PAUL, Feb. 6.—A Madison, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: A joint resolution was introduced in the senate this morning by Senator Spencely, providing for the appointment by the governor of two members of the legislature or others to meet men from other states to frame legislation to secure ways and means to exterminate the Russian thistle, these commissioners to meet in St. Paul Feb. 14. The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

The memorial to congress asking that action on the Altamonte bill be delayed, came up in the lower house and was referred to the committee on federal relations.

M. R. Siders, of Spooner, is here to lobby against the bill creating a new county out of parts of Douglas and Washburn counties.

A bill was introduced in the assembly by Mr. Mahoney forbidding company stores by mining and manufacturing companies.

A bill was introduced by Senator Brown, providing for an increase in the salary of the supreme court justices from $5,000 to $7,500 annually and of circuit judges from $3,000 to $5,000.

Mr. Bashford sent in a bill which limits the charges of railroad companies for carrying passengers and freight in Wisconsin. It provides for filing with the railroad commissioner by all companies schedules of charges for freight between all points in the state and terminal stations in adjoining states and makes such schedules the maximum rates for such compensation.

searched with the result of finding the largest amount of arms and ammunition at one time since the present trouble began.

The following day the premises were searched again and a number of damaging papers were found. They showed that Liliuokalani was certain of restoration, as she even went so far as to have a new cabinet made out. It was to be composed as follows: Robert W. Wilcox, minister of foreign affairs; Samuel Nowlin, minister of the interior; Charles T. Gulick, minister of finance, and C. W. Ashford, attorney general. As associate justices she named Antone Rosa and V. V. Ashford. W. H. Rickard was to be marshal. Governors for the different islands were selected. A new constitution was prepared by Charles T. Gulick. In fact everything was in readiness for the restoration.

Arrests for treason and conspiracy have been numerous and forty men are under lock and key. This number includes the prisoners of war. It is thought the government has under arrest nearly all who took part in the rebellion. The murderer of Charles L. Carter has been found. He is a half white carpenter named Thomas Poole. He admitted to a native rebel that he did the shooting. When Wilcox took the stand he told his story in a straight forward manner. He claimed that he knew nothing of the threatened outbreak until one week before it commenced. He said that there was not more than 300 men at Diamond head Sunday evening when the first shot of the rebellion was fired. The trial of the leaders was concluded on Jan. 20. The finding of the court has not been made public as yet.

The profound secrecy with which affairs are conducted has led many citizens to believe that the offenders will be dealt with in a lenient manner. In consequence of this, members of the citizens' guard have met and signed a petition to President Dole to be firm and punish the rebels as they deserve. On Jan. 21, Charles T. Gulick, W. H. Rickard, T. B. Walker and W. T. Seward were arraigned on a charge of treason. Walker was the only one who pleaded guilty. It is generally supposed that Seward purchased the arms and ammunition for the rebels during his recent visit to San Francisco. It was proven in court that he hired a native to remain on a small island on the west side of Oahu, to watch for a vessel that was expected from California. The schooner was a sealer named W. C. Wehlborn, belonging to San Francisco.

The vessel was sighted on Dec. 19. The arms and ammunition were placed on board the steamer Waimanalo, an island vessel. They were afterwards landed on Diamond Head, Capt. Davies, master of the steamer, admitted all this, and said he was approached first by W. H. Rickard, who engaged him to intercept the sealer and secure the arms. He was promised $10,000 for doing so.

John C. Culmises, formerly a cabinet minister, and now under arrest for conspiracy, stated that he was told by Seward that he had received a letter from the queen, telling him to go to San Francisco, where he would be furnished with funds by Rudolph Sprickels, with which to purchase arms. A friend of Sprickels named Willis was also implicated in the transaction.

Samuel Nowlin told of frequent meetings held at Gulick's residence, at which plans were discussed by himself, Gulick, Rickard and Seward. The rebellion was planned for five months. The new constitution was completed about Christmas. The rebels had a martial law proclamation all ready. Nowlin said that many foreigners had agreed to help him but they failed to appear in the field.

The government has replied to the queen that her abdication will not exempt her from liability for any complicity in the late conspiracy; that it cannot be conceded that such rights and claims as she voluntarily relinquishes have had any legal existence, since Jan. 14, 1895, and that her appeal for clemency for those taking part in the insurrection will receive full consideration.

LOOKS VERY QUEER.

The "Crippled" Girl at Kanerville, Ill., is in Great Luck.

There appeared in The Herald recently an article telling of the efforts of a young crippled woman at the mythical village of Plunkville, Ill., to raise sufficient money to pay her fees in a medical institute. This came to the attention of J. C. Koehnlin, a member of several philanthropic societies, who sat down and figured out the possibilities of the scheme detailed in the Chicago Tribune's article, and discovered that the sum of $34,000 would be involved in stamps, for which the cripple would eventually receive $125 for 1,000,000.

A person at Gardner, Kan., signing himself "R. T.," communicated with the Kansas City Star, sending a letter to be received in which he was invited to become a link in a chain to assist Edna R. Brown, of Kanerville, Ill. "R. T." called attention to the fact that if all the chains remained unbroken the postage at Kanerville, Ill., would have to be enlarged considerably to accommodate the 30,000,000,000 or so of letters that Edna would receive.

A Kansas City railroad man, who was twice asked to participate in this scheme of philanthropy, wrote to the agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad at Sugar Grove, Ill., the nearest railroad point to Kanerville, asking if Edna's appeal was bona fide; if there existed such a person, and if she expected to be benefited by the stamps which she must be receiving. The agent's reply will be interesting to the many persons who have sent stamps and money to the fortunate young woman. It is as follows:

"Edna R. Brown lives at Kanerville, Ill., but she is not a cripple. She has a sister-in-law who is a cripple. They have received between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 stamps and considerable money during the last three months. Edna Brown has received thousands of letters every day. Last Monday she received 15,000 and Tuesday 12,000; most of them containing money orders, postage stamps, etc. They have already received more stamps than they know what to do with, but I cannot say how much money the amount sent certainly is very large. It would simply be nonsensical for anyone to send her any more stamps or money."

It was also ascertained that Kanerville is a mere hamlet, with four or five houses, a general store and a windmill, and the "medical institute" in which Edna proposed to have her physical deformities corrected existed wholly in her mind.

Computing modestly, Edna has received nearly $3000 worth of cancelled stamps at the current price for such, and if she received money orders of the average value of 20 cents each, she has received considerably over $1000 a day for at least two days from that source.

It is to be presumed that very many persons, charitably inclined, have gone into this scheme of enriching Edna R. Brown and her accomplices, and they will probably learn the facts in the case with pleasure and profit.

CAN BE HAD CHEAP.

Ornamental Glass Representative of Duluth Can Be Procured.

John R. Sammer, formerly bookkeeper for the Belt Line Elevator company, now with the Phil Semmer Glass company of New York, writes the following to Albert Harrington under date of Feb. 1: Mr. Harrington says that H. B. Moore knows all about this representative of Duluth and that the high school, or any other institution wants to look into the matter. Mr. Harrington, will be of any possible assistance negotiating with the New York firm.

"We have been requested by the New York & Hudson River Railroad company to accept from them for their freight charges a lot of leaded glass, mental glass which has been on exhibition at the World's fair, representing your city and surroundings. The whole affair covers about 103 by 183 feet inclusive and shows a steamboat, the great Elevator 'A' and also a lot of logs on a sleigh drawn by two horses, also an Indian camp and an Indian squaw in the foreground. It has occurred to us that if any of your friends have been to the fair they might have seen it and might be interested as it certainly is a very suitable souvenir of the fair. This entire ornamental glass is built in sections, so as to be easily shipped, and for your information would say that it can be bought at your own price, and if you think that any one in your vicinity would be interested kindly let us know and make us an offer, as almost any kind of one will be accepted."

Have Large Quarters Now.

The local officials of the Eastern Minnesota have moved into their new quarters in the store room in the Spaulding, next to their old quarters. The offices now take up the two corner offices in the Spaulding and are roomy and comfortable.

VOSS AND TEN BROOK

The City Treasurer and Comptroller Were Re-Elected by the Voters Yesterday by Handsome Majorities.

W. D. Edson and J. H. Boyle Elected to the Municipal Court Judgeship Over the Bar Candidates.

All of the Old Aldermen Returned Except — Evens, Who Will Be Succeeded by Krumsig.

Yesterday's election was as quiet as the day was cold. Patriots seemed loth to leave their warm firesides, shops and even irrigation parlors, hence a vote most light was cast. As a result the votes were more quickly counted than usual. The result was pretty well known by midnight as most of the precincts had made returns by that time.

City Clerk Richardson kept the council chamber open and received the returns there, greatly to the satisfaction of those interested in the outcome. On the left side the independents congregated and on the other side the partisans blocked together.

The returns from the beginning indicated the re-election of City Treasurer Voss by a handsome majority and he was cheered and congratulated. He carried every ward in the city but the Eighth, and has a majority of 954. Comptroller Ten Brook was also re-elected by a majority of 344. At the outset Ten Brook led, but the majorities were small. They piled up to a sufficient extent, however, to make him a sure winner. He carried the First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth wards.

The independent candidates for the judgeships were defeated. W. D. Edson won with a majority of 359 while J. H. Boyle had a majority of 350. Charles W. Hoyt was an easy winner for the judgeship of Municipal Court No. 2, having a majority of 1803 over P. O. Noben.

The two-sided nature of the result enables both the independents and partisans, to mingle their disappointment with pleasure. The lawyers worked like heroes all day for Dibel and Hunt and it is only natural that they should be disappointed by the outcome on the judiciary.

The vote for city treasurer, city comptroller and the judgeships was as follows:

The outcome in the aldermanic fight was just about what was expected before the election. Kennedy crowded French quite closely in the Seventh ward and

fourty-four more votes would have again

placed bustling Bob in the council.

Kennedy laid out Evens all right and the three-cornered fight in the Eighth

let Olafson through with a good margin.

Ingalls failed to crowd Christensen

and Harwood was not in the least danger

from Austin all day long. The vote between Goldsmith and Anderson in the

SHIPPERS ARE DOING NOTHING.

Outlook Not Very Bright as Yet for Spring Vessel Business.

The winter marine situation is lifeless.

No bids are being made, and there are practically no rates at present and everything is in a state of suspense.

Shippers are waiting action from the iron men, but they do not seem to be in a hurry to do anything.

The reason for this is that they are holding off for higher prices.

If they succeed, lake freights will start off in the spring livelier than last year.

If not, the outlook is not particularly encouraging.

Some iron men, Rockefeller in particular, have prophesied heavy ore shipments for next summer.

The Temperance Alliance.

The temperance meeting at the Bethel last evening was well attended.

It was the first annual session of the temperance alliance and the secretary and treasurer reported.

Dr. Thorburn made a strong temperance address.

Rev. C. C. Salter also spoke and highly commended Mrs. Thompson, who has charge of the alliance.

Rev. W. W. Dawley also spoke.

The program included a piano and cornet duo by Miss Julia Johnson and Paul Constans and solos by Master Hawkins Jacobson, Miss Jacobson, Miss Ada Hackett, Miss Johnson and Dr. and Mrs. Tooley, of Superior.

A large number of newboys were present.

HER HUSBAND'S WORTH.

Mary Z. Alward Asked the Limit Allowed by Law For His Loss.

Mary Z. Alward, as administratrix of the estate of Thomas Alward, has sued the Northern Pacific for $5000 damages for the death of her husband. She alleges that he was a passenger on the Northern Pacific train from Crookston to Carlton Sept. 30, and that in a collision at Luce station the cars were burned and Alward was cremated.
W. M. Abrahamson has answered the complaint of F. C. Palmer, who sued for false imprisonment. He says in his answer that having missed a case of shoes from his stock he considered he had good grounds for suspicion against Palmer, and in good faith he referred the matter to assistant city attorney, who advised him to cause the arrest.

AMUSEMENTS.

Lillian Lewis.
Miss Lillian Lewis presented at the Temple last evening what she is pleased to call an impersonation of Shakespeare's Cleopatra and a dramatization of the great play "Antony and Cleopatra" arranged by Lawrence Marston. In commenting upon the performance it must be deplored that the beginning of the play was so hurriedly passed over that there is nothing to prevent such an utter burlesque of the great bard's work.

It is impossible to criticize Miss Lewis seriously. If there was a semblance of art or dramatic instinct to be found in her work it might be considered without any thought of the humorous but there is none. The whole thing is a burlesque and if one can get over his disappointment at paying $1 to see Egypt's great queen he can get loads of fun out of it. To begin with, Miss Lewis has not the figure which a Cleopatra should have. It is more suggestive of Maggie Cline and "Down Went McCloskey," or Sadie Connelly of the "Yonson" fame. This drawback might be forgotten if she had art. In not one passage of the whole play does she present the part in a manner which impresses. Take the scene with the messenger when Cleopatra attempts to kill him in her frenzy at hearing of Antony's marriage. With Bernhardt or Davenport in the role the audience almost stops breathing, awed by the awful fury, but last night when Miss Lewis reached the point the audience laughed in her face. The whole thing is farcical.

Some of the support is fair but most of it is poor. William Humphrey as Antony was passable. The old clown who brought in the asp probably came as near fulfilling the author's idea as any. Miss Lewis has chosen to make the play spectacular. To carry this out she introduces some very bad chorus singing. Fifteen choruses are advertised but the full number of singers was only five.

The living pictures at the close were really the most meritorious part of the whole show. Twelve were presented and all were pleasing.
Miss Lewis is thinking of playing a return engagement in May. In Heaven's name, Miss Lewis, please keep away.

And now a word to the Temple management. Please build a fire in the furnace. Not only is it, to say the least, uncomfortable to sit in the theater and shiver but people with strongly sympathetic natures are tortured when they see fair maidens arrayed in lights and trying to look happy while sitting around in the icy blast which sweeps across the stage. Long before Antony's death it was a matter of speculation as to how Mr. Humphrey could lie on the stage in Roman costume until the asp had done its deadly work. Stage ingenuity was brought into play, however, and Antony was laid on a couch with a nice robe over him tucked down real tight at the chin.

Another thing which might be mentioned is that the supply of paper in the Duluth printing offices still holds out and enough programs could therefore be printed to supply the entire audience.

Paupers Could Not Vote.
All the paupers at the poor farm were challenged yesterday on the ground of non-residence, and but two were allowed to vote. A. F. Rockwell and Sam Roman were the only ones who were allowed to vote. A. F. Rockwell, who is a Republican judge, voted for them.

The Municipal Court.
In police court this morning J. W. Kelly, charged with assault and battery on the person of J. J. Musolf, stood trial and was found not guilty. The case of M. ## RECOMMEND CHANGES

Attorneys Ask the Legislature to Change the Time of Holding the Terms of Court.

Their Arrangement Would Allow Three Months Vacation in Summer and None in the Winter.

Call of the Calendar Taken Up and Completed This Morning—Early Trial of Elder Probable.

After the members of the St. Louis county bar had assembled in court room No. 1 this morning and previous to the calling of the calendar, an important resolution in reference to the terms of district court was passed. By it the legislature was requested to change the opening day of court from the first Tuesday to the first Wednesday in the term to avoid collision with election days and to fix the day for calling the petit jury cases, and of these twenty-five were continued and twelve were stricken. The jury will probably not be kept more than a week or two, as there are but fifty-seven cases, none of which promise much resistance to the work of cleaning up the term. The only case which promises to be of any great length or interest is the criminal case against Gen. G. A. Elder for grand larceny in the second degree alleged to have been committed while Elder was an officer of the American Loan and Trust company.

This case will probably take up a good deal of time and interest. J. L. Washburn, Elder's attorney, this morning asked if he could be granted an early trial, as his client was anxious to get through with the matter. County Attorney Arbury consented, as the jury calendar seemed to be light, to move the criminal calendar for trial next week, probably Wednesday or Thursday. The Elder case will probably come early in the term, in the first of the year, to an inquiry Mr. Arbury said that he had not yet decided whether he would proceed on all four indictments or not.

An Unimportant Term.
The February term promises to be an unimportant one. The calendar is not a long one, comprising before this morning, as if he could be granted an early trial, as his client was anxious to get through with the matter. County Attorney Arbury consented, as the jury calendar seemed to be light, to move the criminal calendar for trial next week, probably Wednesday or Thursday. The Elder case will probably come early in the term, in the first of the year, to an inquiry Mr. Arbury said that he had not yet decided whether he would proceed on all four indictments or not.

ARE SOMEWHAT UNEASY.

The Three Commissioners Want a Place Made for Capt. Miller.

The board of county commissioners or rather the three members now known as the "triumvirate," who elected the county employees, evidently are repenting the action taken or at least have some uneasiness. Today in response to the petition of the Associated Charities for an allowance of $100 a month from the county the board voted $85 and recommended that Capt. J. W. Miller be appointed secretary of the Associated Charities.

The commissioners waded through a register of abatements of taxes received, and the usual monthly reports were heard. The clerk's office became a satisfied office in the first of the year, and the first report of the clerk was received, in which he stated that he had turned $655.55 over to the county treasurer. The register of deeds turned over a list of $650.35.

The superintendent of poor reported 1500 applications for aid and 207 cases. For clothing $171 was expended, for fuel $237.30, for clothing $23.35, for paper burial $52.40, for transportation $38.85, and for miscellaneous expenses $16.10. The total cost to the county for care of the poor $3238.52. The poor farm reported fifteen discharged during the month and seven admitted. Fifty-five were on Feb. 1.

No action was taken on the bids for county supplies this morning, but the commissioners expected to make a decision on the bids for the purchase of the new jail building. No action was taken on the G. A. R. petition for the reinstatement of John Russell and R. S. Cowden.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Ex-Speaker Reed, of Maine, Mr. Dingley and other Republican leaders have been in consultation constantly since the house convened with Mr. Springer, of Illinois, and other Democrats. The administration leaders were willing to accept the Reed bill, but Mr. Reed would make the bonds "gold" instead of "coin." Mr. Reed refused to accept the proposed modification.

The attempt to effect a compromise had failed. The administration refused to accept any bill that did not carry authorization for a gold bond.

The more minutely all kinds of work become subdivided, the more sameness and monotony creep into each man's labor.

Day after day, day after day, in the same rut till little interest remains in the work, and the mind and body are gradually robbed of energy and healthy elasticity. Unless something is done the prolonged strain is likely to result in health failure; nervous symptoms appear, cares that were once lightly cast off now stick like burrs, slight physical exertion tires, and the end is complete prostration and breaking down of some vital organ.

Business men feel this, public officials, wage-earners, housekeepers, every man and woman whose work allows of little or no rest and change.
At the first small beginnings of nervousness or when languid feelings do not disappear after a sound night's sleep, the prudent person should know that he or she must check this decline in health by the use of that one genuine nerve food and blood renewer, Paine's celery compound.

The family physician knows its power over diseases of exhaustion and debility when he orders it, as so many careful practitioners are now doing in every city and small town throughout the United States.

As soon as one has fairly begun to use Paine's celery compound, every day will be a firm step toward assured health. Nervous, unhappy, and feeble persons find their flesh becomes more solid, a more healthy color takes the place of the waxy, sallow look, and there comes a clear increase in the volume of the blood and an increased normal appetite because of this rapid feeding of the entire system. Work becomes easier.

This searching tonic goes at once to the very cause of nervous disorder and breakdown. It is invaluable in all wasting diseases, in all cases where unusual demands are made on the system. Especially is it true in the case of mothers and invalids recovering from sickness.

Paine's celery compound has saved thousands from many years of feebleness, from the weariness of pain and from bodily weakness. It means health and happiness.

Would Not Make the Bonds Gold Instead of Coin.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Ex-Speaker Reed, of Maine, Mr. Dingley and other Republican leaders have been in consultation constantly since the house convened with Mr. Springer, of Illinois, and other Democrats. The administration leaders were willing to accept the Reed bill, but Mr. Reed would make the bonds "gold" instead of "coin." Mr. Reed refused to accept the proposed modification.

The attempt to effect a compromise had failed. The administration refused to accept any bill that did not carry authorization for a gold bond.

Five Firemen Were Overcome by Gas But Recovered.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 6.—The Ginter Commission company's establishment at 100 First Avenue north, was damaged to the extent of about $2000 by fire last night. The fire started in the basement, presumably from a coal stove, and ate its way up the elevator shaft to the first and second floors. The flames were confined to the rear portion of the building.
Five firemen were overcome by gas in the basement, but all recovered. It is said that the business recently passed into the hands of a receiver. It is believed that the stock was insured. The stock is believed to be greatly damaged by water.

SEVERE STORM.

The Highlands of Scotland Are Completely Isolated and All the Railroads Blocked With Snow.

An Unknown Vessel Foundered Off the Scotch Coast With the Loss of Seven Lives.

In America the Blizzard Yesterday Covered a Wide Area and It Caused Much Suffering.

The Weather Bureau Predicts Tonight the Severe Cold Wave Ever Known in the South.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The storms which have been so severely impeding traffic recently throughout England are becoming more severe. The highlands of Scotland are completely isolated and all the railroads are blocked with snow. An unknown vessel has foundered off Port Patrick, Scotland, with the loss of seven lives, and a two-masted steamer with a black band around two white smokestacks is ashore on the Isle of Man. The Thames is frozen over at Chelsea and the Scheldt at Antwerp is covered with ice. At Antwerp the thermometer registered 15 degrees below zero, centigrade, the lowest point recorded for twenty years. In Wales thousands of people are out of work on account of the severe weather.

WEATHER BUREAU BULLETIN.

Severe Cold Wave Known Promised for the South.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The weather bureau furnishes the following special bulletin to the press:

During the past twenty-four hours the storm in Louisiana has moved to the South Atlantic coast, increasing in intensity, and the area of high pressure has moved from north of Montana to North Dakota. Between North Dakota and the South Atlantic coast sharp barometric gradients will cause the severest cold wave and lowest temperatures ever recorded during the first weeks in February from Kentucky and Virginia southwards. The temperature in Indian territory and northern portions of Texas and Louisiana has fallen 36 to 38 degrees in the past twenty-four hours and is now 40 degrees below the normal. Emergency warnings for northwest gales and freezing weather have been sent to South Louisiana and Mississippi, South Carolina and Florida. Warning of a decided freeze in Northern Florida was sent last night, and more emphatic this morning. Northwest storm signals were hoisted on the Gulf coast last night and have been hoisted from Jacksonville to New York city today, with warning of a decided fall in temperature and very severe storm conditions.

MODERATED AT PITTSBURGH.

The Coldest Wave of the Season is Expected Tonight.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.—There was a moderation in the weather here this morning, the thermometer registering only 2½ degrees above zero. There was a slight fall of snow last night but not enough to seriously interfere with railroad traffic. The coldest wave of the season is expected here tonight, when the mercury is expected to go below zero by 10 degrees. There is still a great deal of suffering and inconvenience occasioned by the shortage in the natural gas, the supply being entirely inadequate to the domestic needs in blizzard weather.

Very Cold at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—The approach of the cold wave predicted for this immediate vicinity was signaled during the night by heavy winds and zero temperature. For today gales and a 10 to 15 degrees drop is expected. No other evidence of the blizzard is as yet at hand except the delaying of trains.

Blizzard at St. Joe.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 7.—The blizzard which struck this section yesterday increased during the night and at 3 this morning the thermometer registered 18 below zero, the coldest of the winter. Street car traffic was much impeded and on some of the railroads west of here freight service has been abandoned and passenger trains were operated with much difficulty.

Caused Much Suffering.

DENVER, Feb. 7.—Throughout Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico, the temperature ranged from 5 to 10 degrees below zero last night. In the eastern part of Colorado the blizzard caused much suffering among the destitute, and it is feared there will be considerable loss of stock unless the weather moderates very quickly. Ranchmen are short of feed.

Cold at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 7.—The blizzard raged with unabated vigor all night and this morning the government thermometer registered 10½ below. The wind is blowing a gale. The snowfall ceased last evening and the railroads have not been inconvenienced very much from drifts.

Coldest of the Winter.

SIoux CITY, Feb. 7.—The weather today is the coldest of the winter, thermometers recording from 20 to 30 below.

Business Suspended.

JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 7.—Joliet is practically up by the blizzard. The electric street cars have not run since Tuesday night. Business is suspended. The wind and snow make it almost impossible to stay out doors. Mercury 11 below.

The Storm at Chicago.
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The Chicago edition of the blizzard was not of so fierce a dip as predicted, but suburban railroad traffic was seriously delayed. Mail trains were slow in getting in, the various mails being three to six hours late.

Stock Suffering.
MEXICO, Mo., Feb. 7.—The wind has drifted the snow until the roads are almost impassable. Business is seriously interfered with and stock is suffering.

Blizzard in Kentucky.
MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Feb. 7.—A terrible blizzard accompanied by a blinding snow and wind blowing forty-five miles an hour set in at 5 o'clock this morning. Thermometers show 8 above zero and falling 1 degree an hour.

DENISON HOTEL BURNING.

A Serious Fire in Indianapolis Which Caused Heavy Loss.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—A fire broke out on the fifth floor of the Denison hotel in the southeast corner.

entire fire department answered the alarm but, owing to the intensely cold weather, the firemen were handicapped from the start. The Denison is the largest hotel in the city. It is five stories high and occupies the full northwest quarter of a square. The hotel quickly filled with guests, and the guests immediately began quietly to leave and no panic resulted, although the hotel was full of guests. At this hour, 12:45 p. m., the flames were a burning one. Foreman Frank Nutter and Electric Light Man Patrick Ryan were knocked from the building, though the fire is not by any means under control. The hotel is valued at $100,000 and the loss thus far is estimated at close to $100,000.

DEFAULDED RAILROADS.

A Woman and Two Pretty Daughters Worked the Game.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Mary Freeman and two pretty daughters have been arrested charged with attempting to defraud railroads for alleged personal injuries. One of the daughters is represented as having systematically feigned paralysis. Through a hole in the ceiling, detectives watching for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific saw the "paralyzed girl" dance the Highland fling and jump over a number of roads. A number of roads are reported to have been victimized. The readiness of the claimants to compare se for comparatively small damages is what has aroused the suspicions of the Rock Island officials.

THE FORTS BOMBARDED.

Chinese Obstinately Resisted an Attack by Japanese at Wei Hai Wei.

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 7.—An official dispatch dated Feb. 3 says: The flying squadron today bombarded the forts, which are situated by the Chinese warships, resisted obstinately. Admiral Ting (the Chinese naval commander) is determined to hold the forts on Li Kuang Tao island and the ships under his command. Another attack by torpedo boats will be made tonight.

Union Pacific Wreck.

OMAHA, Feb. 7.—A special to the Bee from Chappell, Neb., says: The Atlantic Coast Line Union Pacific was wrecked one mile from here this morning, four cars and the engine being overturned. No one was injured but as the train was carrying a large number of passengers suffered with cold. The accident was caused by the breaking of a frosty rail.

Probably Disabled.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The French line steamer La Gascogne, from Havre, is four days overdue. It is now the general belief among steamship people that some part of her machinery has broken down and that having made temporary repairs she is proceeding slowly towards port.

Desperadoes Killed.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—Special to the Post-Dispatch from Tulsa, I. T., says: Jim French and the "Verdigas Kid," the two remaining members of the original Bill Cook gang, made an attempt last night to rob the store of John Irvine and were both shot and killed by Irvine.

Valued by Schieren.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 7.—Mayor Schieren has vetoed the resolution adopted by the board of alderman on Monday revoking the trolley franchise of the Brooklyn City and Atlantic Avenue Street Railroad companies.

Confirmed by Thurston.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Minister Thurston has received a dispatch from Honolulu which confirms the Associated Press dispatches concerning the trials of the rebels and the abdication of Liliuokalani. He says his dispatch contains nothing about interference on the part of Mr. Willis concerning any of the offenders.

Jury Could Not Agree.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—In the United States court today in the cases of Wash and Lackawanna officials, indicted for violation of the interstate law in allowing rebates, the jury reported, themselves unable to agree and were discharged. The jury stood eight for conviction and four for acquittal.

Ocean Steamships.

New York—Arrived: Circassia from Liverpool.

Browhead—Passed: Cephalonia, from Boston for Liverpool.

Release of Pension.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Special to The Herald.—A release of pension was today granted to Ross Richards, of St. Cloud, Minn.

IN LEGISLATURE

Various Bills Were Killed by the House Judiciary Committee and Others Recommended for Passage.

Measure to Permit Persons Injured by Sale of Intoxicating Liquors to Sue Liquor Sellers.

Chaplain Forbes Has an Innovation Daily and Today He Called on Senators to Pray.

Several Bills Which Affect Interests in St. Louis County Were Introduced by Senator Spencer Today.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—As soon as the house got ready for business this morning a resolution was adopted extending the salary to Representative Hoelkins in death of his mother. Chairman Underwood of the judiciary committee, reported the indefinite postponement of house files 177, 114, 97 and 89 and recommended the passage of H. F. 103, detaching villages from townships; H. F. 46, relating to summons by justices of the peace, while in place of H. F. 80 a substitute was introduced by the committee, amending the law relating to changing the place of trial of civil actions.

The same committee had considered the report of the attorney general on the initiative and referendum and found the report thorough, concurring in his conclusions that such system was not now advisable, recommended that his report be filed and printed without further action at the present session of the legislature.

Mr. Robbins, from the committee on appropriations, reported the Wyman judicial deficiency bill with a favorable recommendation. Senator Sperry's public school appropriation was also favorably reported. Bills were introduced as follows:

Mr. Sampson, relating to banks and banking associations, as to conveying real estate, paid up capital, etc. Banks and banking.

Mr. McGrath, amending general laws relating to chattel mortgage sales. Judiciary.

Mr. Robbins, to establish a state weather service in connection with the federal weather bureau. Appropriations.

E. E. Smith, relating to primary elections. Elections.

Mr. Feig, appropriating $10,000 for drainage in Kandiyohi county. Drainage.

Mr. Johns, reimbursing George Gerlach for contest expenses. Legislative expenses.

Mr. Gunn, appropriating $500 for rebuilding the Dexter bridge across the Crow Wing river. Roads and bridges.

Mr. Gunn, authorizing county commissioners to issue bonds for constructing roads and bridges. Judiciary.

Mr. Schroeder, relating to the duties of township assessors. Judiciary.

Mr. Grondahl, appropriating $10,000 for the support of the state reform school and $500 for extra support. Reform school.

Mr. Lockwood, reimbursing J. M. Burnard for the hawk "Alumbus," exhibited at the World's fair. Claims.

Mr. Lockwood, giving a right of civil action to persons injured through the sale of intoxicating liquors, allowing them to sue the liquor seller or other person connected therewith. Temperance.

Mr. Lockwood, defining the place of payment of real estate mortgages secured by real estate, must be paid in the state and if the money is deposited where specified it shall be considered payment. Judiciary.

Mr. Baria, by request, requiring installment bond investment companies to deposit $100,000 bonds with the treasurer for protection of shareholders. Incorporations.

Mr. Grondahl, appropriating $71,000 for additional buildings at the state reform school. Reform school.

Mr. Shell, codifying the insurance laws of the state, based on the Massachusetts law which was revised last year, and this bill was prepared in the state insurance commissioner's office under the direction of Governor Nelson. Insurance.

The senate joint resolution for a joint commission to confer with a like commission from North Dakota in regard to lower coal rates was taken up and passed under suspension of the rules.

A senate joint resolution extending the courtesy of the legislature to Governor Upham and ex-Governor Fairchild, of Wisconsin, who will be in the city Feb. 13, was passed under suspension of the rules.

In committee of the whole, Mr. Staples presiding, the senate bill appropriating money from collection of seed grain notes to the governor's contingent fund was recommended to pass. The senate bill transferring the $50,000 surplus from the school text book fund to the revenue fund was amended to place the $50,000 to the credit of the internal improvement fund, and as amended was favorably reported. Recess was then taken until 2 o'clock.

THE SENATORS PRAYED.

Dr. Forbes Introduced Another Innovation for the Senate.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—The senate chaplain, Dr. Forbes, has an innovation every day. This morning he invited the senators to do a little praying themselves, and most of them joined with him in repeating the apostles' creed and the Lord's prayer.

etc. Referred to the committee on education. Senator Ringdahl sent up a petition for a reduction in transportation charges.

Senator Reishus introduced a resolution calling on the governor as an ex-officio member of the capitol commission to submit to the senate copies of the reports of M. Wheelwright, of Boston, and Henry Cobb, of Chicago, expert architects employed by the capitol commission. The senator said that they would soon be called to act on a bill relative to the proposed capitol, and it was important that they should have all the light possible. Senator Stevens gave notice of debate, though he did not know as there was any objection to the resolution. The following bills were introduced in the senate:

Mr. Greer, to create a veteran teachers' relief fund. Education.

Mr. Miller, to provide for the incorporation of life, casualty, co-operative or assessment companies. Insurance.

Mr. Spencer, providing the amount of fees to be charged by clerks of district courts in counties having populations between 40,000 and 100,000. Judiciary.

Mr. Spencer, to transfer to the district court the trust relating to town sites. Judiciary.

Mr. Spencer, to authorize probate courts to appoint guardians for minors in certain cases. Judiciary.

Mr. Morgan, to amend section 15, chapter 124, laws of 1894, relating to the protection of game and fish. Game and fish.

Mr. Howard (by request), to raise the age of consent to 18 years. Judiciary. A petition signed by seventy-five people accompanied the bill.

W. E. Johnson (by request), to prohibit the discharge of firearms within 100 feet of an inhabited dwelling. Judiciary.

Mr. Allen, authorizing county commissioners to issue bonds for construction of roads and bridges. Roads and bridges.

Mr. Hanson, to amend section 1, chapter 108, laws of 1889, relating to notice of redemption. Judiciary.

A resolution by Senator Johnson to investigate the report that the steward of the Rochester asylum was buying supplies outside of the state went over until tomorrow, notice of debate being given.

Senator Roverud, from the committee on federal relations reported back S. F. No. 108, Senator Heneman's patriotic memorial to congress, with the recommendation that it pass as amended by the committee. Senator Heneman said he did not know whether congress would pay any attention to the resolution, but he did know that financial legislation was badly needed.

Senator Spencer thought that something should be put in so that Cleveland would know that "Honest" John Sherman was the proper man for secretary of the treasury. The rules were suspended and the resolution passed by a vote of 31 to 4.

After the second reading of the bills, the senate took a recess until 2:30 this afternoon.

Both Houses This Afternoon.
ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—This afternoon both houses are in session considering general orders of the committee of the whole. There is a lively debate in progress on the bill for the distribution of the railroad gross earnings tax, which was the second bill taken up in the house. Gerlach's territorial road vacation having been favorably reported.

The State Offices.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—Labor Commissioner Powers announced that there would be no change for the present in the force in his department. The appointments in the dairy and food department have been made and the force there now stands as follows: Berndt Anderson, commissioner; E. J. Grabham, assistant commissioner; A. H. Bertram, assistant commissioner and secretary; E. B. Williams, inspector; C. B. Davis, inspector; J. E. Getman, inspector; G. G. Sanborn, inspector; C. L. Smith, inspector.

Police Reappointed.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—Governor Clough has reappointed H. W. Foote, of Minneapolis, state oil inspector.

THE DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

The Administration Bond Bill Being Considered by the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—In the house today Mr. Grosvenor (Rep.), Ohio, asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a joint resolution for the appointment of a committee to investigate the validity of the election in Tennessee last November.

"I object to the consideration of that resolution," shouted Mr. Cox (Dem.), Tennessee. "The state of Tennessee can take care of itself."

The house then went into committee of the whole and resumed the consideration of the administration bill to authorize the issue of $500,000,000 of gold bonds. The pending question was the chair ruling the amendment of Mr. Bland out of order. The chair was sustained, 130 to 55.

Mr. Brossius (Rep.), Pennsylvania, offered an amendment providing that such bonds of the denomination of $20, $50 and $100 as could be disposed of should be deposited for sale with national banks selected by the secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Brossius' amendment was agreed to. An amendment by Mr. Wheeler to repeal the state bank tax was lost without division.

Mr. Livingston (Dem.), Georgia, offered the Wheeler amendment with the proviso that the repeal should go into effect July 1, 1896. It was lost.

Mr. Haugen (Rep.), Wisconsin, offered an amendment to strike out the provision excluding from the operation of section 3 (authorizing national banks to take out circulation up to the par value of their bonds) outstanding bonds bearing but a per cent interest. Mr. Haugen's amendment was agreed to without division.

Later—the house has voted down several amendments offered by silver men, declaring that bonds might be redeemed either in silver or gold.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The credentials of Lucien Baker as senator from Kansas for the term beginning March 4 next were presented to the senate today.

HAYWARD TRIAL

Hans Barlow on the Stand Today and Corroborated Blix's Story of Cutting the T Rail.

Says He Heard Hayward Scold Blix for Cutting It Instead of Simply Bending It.

Erwin Sprung a Sensation by Asking Blix Whether He Registered at Arnold Hotel Nov. 2.

Evident Theory of the Defense That the Murder Was Done by Green Goods Men.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—The first witness in the Hayward murder trial this morning was Hans Barlow. Hans had been present in the basement of the Ozark flats when Blix cut the T rail in two for Harry Hayward. He was put on by the state to corroborate Blix's story of that transaction and did so without contradicting Blix in any important detail. He had helped Blix cut the rail in two and heard Hayward scold Blix for cutting it instead of simply bending it. On cross-examination an admission was drawn from him that he had served a term in the workhouse.

Claus Blix was again put on the stand and Mr. Erwin, after long questioning as to details of his story, sprung a sensation. He asked him, if he had not on Nov. 2, gone to the Arnold hotel on Central avenue, with two other men and rented some rooms.

"That's the biggest lie I ever heard," exclaimed Blix.

Mr. Erwin questioned him closely, but Blix professed entire ignorance about the alleged occurrence. The hotel register was introduced in evidence, and Erwin asked Blix if the signature of "Arne W. Teller, Wally City," was not written by him. Blix denied utterly that he had ever seen the register. These questions point to a theory of the defense that the murder was the work of a gang of green goods men, and that Hayward had nothing to do with it.

REFUSED TO MARRY THEM.

A Warning Note to a Priest Prevented a Marriage.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—A Chatfield, Minn., special to the Journal says: Last night a note was left at the residence of Rev. Father Maddock, reading as follows: "You are hereby notified not to marry James O'Hern to Estelle McGrand. His new home is in ashes. He will be a dead body, buried in ten days." The signature was a heart with a dagger piercing it. A messenger was dispatched to where O'Hern lives and found that that man and his wife, who well furnished home was a heap of ashes. The priest refused to marry the couple.

Lumber For Europe.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—A special to the Dispatch from Ashland, Wis., says: A large deal for waney board pine was closed today, 7,000,000 feet being cut. It will be shipped direct to Europe as soon as navigation opens. The price paid is very low for timber of exceptional high grade, but the feature of the deal was, it said, that the pine is to be paid for in English gold. The pine is to be delivered in Liverpool before July.

Almost a Murder.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—August Bussjaeger, a driver for the Twin City Packing company, nearly killed Henry May, a butcher who keeps a shop at the corner of West Seventh and Western avenue, early this morning, pouring him over the head with a meat-block scraper. May's injuries were attended to and he was then taken home. It is believed he will be all right. His assistant has not yet been captured. The men were friends and there is no explanation of the attack.

The Wisconsin Senate.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—A Madison special to the Dispatch says: Senator Mills took the chair in the senate this morning. Senator Austin introduced a bill providing for a uniform rate of steamship and vessel taxation. It provides that boats shall be taxed according to tonnage by a graduating scale, the newly built boats being taxed more than those that have been in service some years.

A Railroad Blockade.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—A Huron, S. D., special to the Journal says: Snow plows and gangs of men were sent south and west this morning to lift the railroad blockade. A Wagner sleeper sidetracked here was wrecked by the explosion of a hot water reservoir. The concussion startled the town but did no serious damage outside the car.

Are Seeking Divorces.

FARGO, N. D., Feb. 7.—Count Gebogosa, a Spanish nobleman from Havana, is here to obtain a divorce under the latest North Dakota law. Senora De Fedro, also of Havana, and an acquaintance of the count, is probably here for the same purpose. The count has a colored servant, also employs a French fencing master who is here with his wife. The count takes fencing exercises daily.

Marriage at La Crosse.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Feb. 7.—Last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Carrell, their oldest daughter, Edna, was united in marriage to John H. McMillan, son of Hon. D. D. McMillan, an old and wealthy resident of the city.

Obituary Notice.

TWINSBURY, Mass., Feb. 7.—Fire broke out this afternoon in the building occupied by the fathers of the United States order as a Novitiate and is now burning fiercely. Aid has been summoned from Lowell.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS

West Duluth Politicians Have Not Had Enough of Election and Are Still Talking It Over.

Charles W. Hoyt is Happy, as is Also Thomas Olafson, and Judge Martin is Consoling Himself.

W. H. Smith Also Thinks He Did Mightily Well—Fireman King is Again on Duty.

West Duluth Republicans feel that the eighth ward went straight Republican. This is the only ward in the city that can boast of a place in the straight Republican column. The friends of Thomas Olafson claim that he could have won in a straight fight between either Martin or Smith, notwithstanding assertions to the contrary.

Judge Hoyt wears his honors easy and a smile of contentment and peace with the whole world overspreads his countenance.

J. M. Martin's consolation from the campaign is said to come from the fact that he at least defeated the Democrats. A Republican justification was held last evening by the voters of the Third and Fourth precincts, on Second street south.

It is considered that W. H. Smith made a marvellous run considering the fact that he was comparatively unknown at the eastern end of the ward.

West Duluth Briefs.

Morrison & McLaughlin have purchased the barber shop formerly run by T. R. Mayo.

Ole Hagensen, proprietor of the Wonder Clothing store, made an assignment this morning to Thomas Olafson.

A. P. Freeberg is holding labor meetings at his house every Wednesday evening in the interests of the unemployed.

The ladies of the Eastern Star will give a social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Luther next Monday evening.

Mrs. A. E. Stevens, of Grand Rapids, who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. E. J. Luther, left today for her home.

William King, the fireman who was so badly injured a short time ago, has recovered and is again on duty.

THE NEW CUP DEFENDER.

She Will Be Built and Sailed by Messrs. Vanderbilt, Morgan and Iselin.

If present plans are carried out, the America's cup will be well defended. William K. Vanderbilt, Commodore E. D. Morgan and C. O. Iselin will expend $100,000 or $150,000 in building a new yacht, and George Gould will enter the vigilante in the cup defense trial races for American yachts. Mr. Iselin, the manager of the Vigilante, is a constant defender of the cup, will also manage the new defender. He has long been an enthusiastic yachtsman, and when it comes to running and sailing a boat there are few men on either side of the Atlantic who can give him points. In 1890, in the 70 footer Titania, he swept before him Mr. Iselin, in addition to being very rich in his own right, inherited quite a fortune from his first wife, who was a Miss Gault, and last June married Miss Hope Goldsmith of Providence, who was said to be worth $2,000,000.

William K. Vanderbilt, while not an enthusiastic sailor, has long been interested in steam yachting, and in his steam yacht Albatross, which was sunk by the Dimock two years ago, and later in his new and magnificent floating palace, the steam yacht Valiant, has cruised all along the American and English coasts. Mr. Vanderbilt was and is now a member of the syndicate which built the Defender.

Edwin D. Morgan is present commodore of the New York Yacht club. He is an enthusiastic yachtsman and in his time has owned, sailed and built more yachts than any other man in the country. Outside the Germania, which swept all before her in 1891, Mr. Morgan has not been very successful as a racing man. Mr. Morgan was also the head of the Vigilante syndicate and was largely responsible for that boat being built. George Gould is the eldest son of Jay Gould and is known among yachtsmen as the man who sailed into English society on the Vigilante at the expense of the great yacht's reputation.

OUR COUGH SYRUP

completely and quickly, and the sooner a cough is cured the less harm it does.

He is right. A cough is one of the worst things in the world to have about you, as it seldom or never leaves of itself, and the final result of a neglected cough is apt to be a coffin. Don't make your cough the be-all and end-all here by letting it alone until it leaves nothing of you, but cure it by the immediate use of our always effective Cough Syrup.

WHEAT SLIGHTLY LOWER.

The Opening Was Firm But the Strength Was Not Held.

The wheat market opened quite firm today. The cables were strong, Northwest receipts were light, the Price Current's crop summary was considered rather bullish, and New York showed an advance. May opened at higher prices. Later it advanced, but was closed below yesterday. Trading in futures was confined entirely to May and was of small volume. Business in cash wheat was light. ## TAKEN BY JAPS

Capture of Wei Hai Wei by the Japanese Forces and Destruction of the Chinese Fleet.

All the Northern Squadron of the Chinese Fleet was Either Captured or Totally Destroyed.

The Capture of Chefoo Is Now Contemplated
and a Determined Fight Is Considered Probable.

The Japanese Troops Are Now Attacking the Forts Defending the East Part of Chefoo.

CHEFOO, Feb. 8, noon.—The Japanese landed a force of troops near here last evening with the intention of capturing this city. The landing was made about ten miles eastward of Chefoo and an immediate advance upon the city was ordered. As this dispatch is sent, the Japanese are attacking the forts defending the east part of Chefoo. Intense excitement prevails here, and it is expected that a severe engagement will occur today.

CHEFOO, Feb. 7, afternoon.—The Japanese ships which appeared this morning near Ning Hai, a town between Wei Hai Wei and Chefoo, are now attacking the forts on the western side of the town, left soon afterwards without doing any damage. This confirms the impression that the attack on Ning Hai was only a feint of the Japanese to cover a landing of their forces at some other place, and people here believe that the capture of Chefoo is contemplated. Every precaution is being taken to defend the city.

Another version of the appearance of the Japanese ships off Ning Hai is that they were pursuing two torpedo boats supposed to contain Admiral Ting, the commander of the Chinese fleet, and Wei Hai Wei, and Capt. McClure, the merchant marine officer who was appointed to be assistant to Admiral Ting.
These two officers were said to be escaping from Wei Hai Wei on the two torpedo boats, and the Japanese are reported to have sunk both vessels at a point northward of Chefoo.

According to the advices which have reached here from Wei Hai Wei, only the Chen Yuen of the Chinese naval squadron at Wei Hai Wei was sunk by the Japanese. The sister ship of the vessel, the Ting Yuen, is said to be ashore. The Chinese inhabitants of this city are leaving the city by thousands.

THREE VESSELS SUNK.

The Official Report from the Japanese Commander.

HIROSHIMA, Feb. 8.—An official dispatch received here from the Japanese commander at Wei Hai Wei announces that the Chinese warships Chen Yuen
and Ting Yuen and the Chinese cruiser Chin Yuen or Lai Yuen were sunk by the Japanese torpedo boats in the attack last made upon the remaining warships of China at Wei Hai Wei.

The official dispatch adds that two steam launches succeeded in escaping
and they were chased by Japanese vessels and were eventually disabled near Chefoo.

WAS A SPECTACULAR VICTORY.

How the Japs Captured or Sunk All the Chinese Vessels.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—A dispatch received from Chefoo this afternoon says that the Japanese have carried all the positions
at Wei Hai Wei and have captured or sunk
the whole of the Chinese northern fleet.
The Japanese, during the night of Monday last, Feb. 4, cleared Wei Hai Wei harbor of all torpedoed and submarine mines by the skillful use of their small torpedo boats and the steam launches
from the warships, which small craft grappled for and cut the wires connecting the submarine mines with the shore.
When these dangerous obstructions were removed, the fleet of the Japanese torpedo boats made a splendid dash for the harbor and succeeded in capturing with such skill that the battleship Ting Yuen was sunk. These tactics were repeated during the night of Feb. 5, and the Chen Yuen, Lai Yuen and other Chinese warships were blown up and the remainder of the Chinese fleet captured.

Following up this splendid success the Japanese completed the capture of Wei Hai Wei yesterday by landing a large force and seizing the island of Liu Kung Tao, which has made a gallant defense against heavy odds, and which was some of the Japanese warships passed Chefoo early this morning and fired a few shots at the forts without doing any damage, and in view of the reports current in regard to the attack upon Ning Hai yesterday the belief grows that the Japanese are going to attack Chefoo.

Change in Train Time.

Next Sunday the St. Paul & Duluth will inaugurate an important change in its mail service. The limited will leave St. Paul at 2:15 arriving in Duluth at 7:15 o'clock. This change makes possible a connection with the fast mail train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, which arrives in St. Paul at 2 o'clock p.m. Thus the Chicago newspapers and mail will arrive on the same day they are mailed.

Taken to the Reformatory.

Marco Matkovich was taken to the reformatory at St. Cloud this afternoon
by Deputy Sheriff Hanson and Magie Matkovich, it will be remembered, is the 18-year-old boy who killed Matt Vivoda with a shovel at Tower last year while the murdered man was fighting with the boy's father. A motion for a new trial was denied by the district and supreme courts.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD DEAL.

Scheme for Forming Another Transcontinental Line.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—A Tribune special from Green Bay, Wis., says: A New York capitalist and railroad official, who is in the city today, gave information of a railroad deal which will be commenced in the next few weeks, if plans do not miscarry.

At the coming sale of the Ann Arbor & North Michigan railroad, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western system will attempt to buy in that section of the road. This purchase will carry with it the Lake Michigan ferry system. By means of the Green Bay & Lackawanna road and the Green Bay & Western a through line would be had from St. Paul and Minneapolis.

While nothing definite of the plans is positively known beyond this, there is a belief that President Hill, of the Great Northern, is interested, and that the two Wisconsin roads and car ferry with the Ann Arbor, Lackawanna and Great Northern roads will form a transcontinental road.

HAYWARD WILL TESTIFY.

Mr. Erwin Intimates That Harry Hayward
Will Take the Stand in His Own Behalf.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 8.—Mr. Erwin was not present when the Hayward murder trial was resumed this morning,
and it was inferred that his long bout with Blitt in the cross examination had exhausted him. The cross examination of the assistant janitor, Charles Anderson, developed upon John Day Smith, who elicited nothing of importance.

Frank Tucker, the elevator boy at the Osark flats, testified in further corroboration of Blitt as to the long talks the janitor was accustomed to have with Harry Hayward in the basement of the Osark, and especially as to the conferences the two had on the day of the murder.

Frank McCormick, a barkeeper, testified to seeing Harry Hayward on the day of the murder, a drink of whiskey like the one Blitt says Harry gave him.
John Kennedy, a flagman, corroborated Blitt's testimony as to his visit to the Osark on the night of the murder. The state called C. E. Hance to further corroborate the whiskey purchase, but Mr.
Erwin said Harry would admit the purchase on the stand, and he was the first intimation that Harry Hayward would himself go on the stand.

CLOUGH'S FIRST PARDON.

Robert Gross Given His Freedom By the Governor.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 8.—Governor Clough has granted his first pardon, and Robert E. Gross is liberated, after having served nearly a year in the reformatory for forgery.

Gross became greatly fascinated with one of the Wilbur opera girls, and after losing his job with the Standard Shoe Company he turned to his attentions to the girl and consequent inattention to business, forged a check to raise money to follow her to Cincinnati.

He was arrested, and then the girl shook him, and being returned here, he was sent to the reformatory. Judge Orr has interested himself in the young man and has secured his pardon.

Fire in St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 8.—The residence of Ansel Oppenheim, on Summit avenue, was destroyed by fire this morning. The fire spread rapidly and the family barely escaped with their lives. The fire occurred at 1:30 a.m. Greave Oppenheim, one of the sons, had just reached the foot of the main stairway when it collapsed.
A second more and he would have been engulfed in the flames. The flames started, it is supposed, from an overheated chimney. Loss $30,000, insured.

A Centenarian Dead.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 8.—Charlotte Latour-clie Mercier, the oldest resident of Minnesota, died late Wednesday night at the home of the Little Sisters of the Poor,
where she has been living for the past few years. She lived to a remarkable old age and has seen the changes of a century can make in the world. On Jan. 1, 1895, she celebrated her 100th birthday in a quiet way at the house where she died.

Reached a Very Old Age.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Feb. 8.—Dispatches received last evening by C. L. Coleman announced the death of his father
at Fond du Lac at the age of 95 years.
Deceased was a Methodist clergyman and came into the West fifty years ago
as a missionary to the Quia Indians.
He had a twin brother who died in New York state three years ago. He was also father of Elisha Coleman, of Fond du Lac and Rev. Henry Coleman, of Milwaukee.

Jailed for Contempt.

EAO CLAIRE, Wis., Feb. 8.—In the case of Benjamin Rosenberg, of Rosenberg Brothers, of Black River Falls, who went to the wall recently, having failed to cause him to account for the assets of the firm, which are being sought for by Receiver Cassin for the benefit of creditors, Judge Bailly has ordered him to jail for contempt until he divulges.

Many Are Destitute.

GRANTSBURG, Wis., Feb. 8.—State Senator C. K. Erwin, of Fomah, arrived here yesterday having been sent by Governor Upham to investigate the real cause for the state aid. He finds fully 200 people in this vicinity in desperate straits, and the reports have not been exaggerated.

A Pastor's Resignation.

EAO CLAIRE, Feb. 8.—Dr. J. F. Dudley, pastor of the First Congregational church, at the annual meeting of the congregation last night, presented his resignation to take effect Aug. 30, at which date he completes his twenty-sixth year in the pulpit of that church. His resignation is final and unconditional.

STRAIGHT TALK

President Cleveland Again Addresses Congress on the Necessity of Legislation for the Country's Relief.

In Default of Better Means, Executive Authority Will Be Exercised to Meet the Emergency.

Arrangements Have Been Completed to Issue Bonds to Restore the Gold Reserve to $100,000,000.

Has Privilege of Substituting Three Per Cent Gold Bonds for the Four Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The president today sent the following message to congress:
To the Congress of the United States:
Since my recent communication to congress calling attention to our financial condition and suggesting legislation which I deemed essential to our national welfare and credit, the anxiety and apprehension then existing in business cir-

As a prevention of further against the failure of timely legislative aid through congressional action, cautious preparations have been pending to employ to the best possible advantage, in default of better means, such executive authority
as may, without additional legislation, be exercised for the purpose of reinforcing and maintaining in your treasury an adequate and safe gold reserve.

In the judgment of those specially charged with the responsibility, the business situation is so critical and the legislative situation is so unpromising, with the omission thus far on the part of the congress to beneficially enlarge the powers of the treasury in the emergency in the premises, as to enjoin immediate action with the facilities now at hand.

Therefore, in pursuance of section 3700 of the revised statutes, the details of an arrangement have this day been concluded with parties abundantly able to fulfill their undertaking whereby bonds of the United States, authorized under the act of July 14, 1875, payable in coin, thirty years after their date, with interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum to the amount of $100,000,000, a little less than $62,400,000 are to be issued for the purchase of gold coin amounting to a sum slightly in excess of $65,000,000, to be delivered to the treasury in the United States, which sum, added to the gold now held in our reserve, will so restore such reserve as to make it amount to something more than $100,000,000.
Such premium is to be allowed to the government upon the bonds as to fix the rate of interest upon the amount of gold realized at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent per annum. At least one-half of the gold to be obtained is to be supplied from abroad, which is a very important and favorable feature of the transaction.

The privilege is especially reserved to the government to substitute at par within ten days from this date in lieu of the 4 per cent bonds, other bonds in terms payable in gold and bearing only 3 per cent if the issue of the same should in the meantime be authorized by the congress.

The arrangement thus completed, which, after careful inquiry, appears in present circumstances and considering all the objects desired to be the best attainable, develops such a difference in the estimation of investors between bonds made payable in coin and those specifically payable in gold, in favor of the latter as is represented by three-fourths of a cent in annual interest on the bonds desired to be the best attainable, the annual saving in interest to the government if 3 per cent coin bonds should be substituted for 4 per cent coin bonds under the privilege reserved, would be $539,150, amounting in thirty years, or at the maturity of the coin bonds, to $16,747,770.

Of course there never should be a doubt in any quarter as to the redemption in gold of the bonds of the government which are payable in coin. Therefore the discrimination in the judgment of investors between our bond obligations payable in coin and those specifically made payable in gold is hardly very significant. It is hardly necessary to suggest that, whatever may be our views on the subject, the sentiments or preferences of those with whom we must negotiate in disposing of our bonds for gold are not subject to our dictation. I have only to add that in my opinion the transaction here intimated
for the formation of the congress promises better results than the efforts previously made in the direction of effectively adding to our gold reserve through the sale of bonds, and I believe it will tend, as far as such action can in present circumstances, to meet the determination expressed in the law repealing the silver purchasing clause of the act of July 14, 1890, for in the language of such repealing act, the arrangement made will aid
our efforts to "insure the maintenance of the parity in value of the coins of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and the payment of debts."

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

A Battle Creek Man Charged With Killing His Son.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Feb. 8.—A series of sensational developments in the case of George H. Arnold, who disappeared from home Dec. 16 and whose body was found in the river last Friday, curtailed last night when his father, Adam C. Arnold, a pioneer of this city and worth about $100,000, was arrested charged with the murder.

It is said that the father and son had frequent quarrels, and on the night the son disappeared they had a personal encounter.

GOSSIP OF CONGRESS

New Rules for Vessels Navigating Inland Waters Except the Great Lakes and Contiguous Waters.

Next Move of the Members Who Desire the Government to Seize the Pacific Railroads.

An Effort to be Made to Appoint a Commission to Settle the War Claims.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The senate has, on motion of Mr. Fry, passed the house bill adopting special rules for vessels navigating the harbors, rivers and inland waters of the United States. An important amendment recommended by the senate is that requiring customs officers to compel all sailing vessels to be furnished with proper signal lights. Vessels navigating without compliance with the regulations prescribed by law are to be liable to a penalty of $200, half of which goes to the informer. The inland waters of the United States are not to be held to include the great lakes and contiguous and tributary waters as far east as Montreal. The bill now goes back to the house on the senate amendments.

The next move of the Western members who desire the government to take possession of the bond-aided Pacific railroads for default in payment of their obligations will be to try to prevent them from disposing of their granted lands under their financial relations with the government have been settled.

Representative Camanetti, of California, has a bill which will be passed upon by the public lands committee at its next meeting, to forfeit all the lands unpatented when the companies default in payment of their bonds, and to suspend proceedings on application for patents in the case of companies that are bankrupt or in the hands of receivers.

The Pacific railroad acts provided for forfeiture of these lands to the government in case the aided companies default. Mr. Camanetti estimates that 20,000,000 acres of grant lands to the Pacific railroads remain unpatented, and argues that the government will be losing valuable assets to slip away from it by permitting the title to any of this land to pass from the companies before the question of foreclosure has been settled.

In a report recently submitted to the house by the claims committee the statement is made that the total number of congressional and other claims against the government, old and new, which no department has authority to audit and settle, is $1,000,000,000, aggregating about $1,000,000,000 in amount.

The commission considering a remedy for this state of affairs, suggests that the settlement of the claims which "after much study and discussion, is thought to be adequate and comprehensive."

This remedy for the apportionment by the president of a non-partisan commission of three good and experienced lawyers clothed with full jurisdiction to hear and finally determine on both law and facts, all claims against the government now pending, which, under existing laws, no department is authorized to settle, and which the right of appeal in all cases where the amount involved is over $500.

The attorney general is to make the defense in each case, and decisions are to be certified to congress for appropriation and all claims of which the commission is given jurisdiction are to be barred unless filed in this method are set out in the report as follows:

Such a commission could carefully examine every claim that would be brought before it in four years' time and furnish congress with a skillful, accurate and honest statement of the law, facts and equities in each case, and it would be prepared to deal justly and honestly with our creditors, rendering to every man his due. Under such a system there could be no doubt of payment; if frauds existed, they would be unearthed and exposed.

Storm at New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The waters of the upper and lower bays are this morning completely enveloped in vapor. No vessels have been sighted from Sandy Hook inward bound. No word has been received from the French liner La Gasconne, which was due in port Sunday.

Exorbitant Bills.

DENVER, Feb. 8.—Testimony has been given before the senate investigating committee showing that the means of legal and exorbitant bills, Sheriff Burdick's office has received about $75,000 annually more than the amount which it was entitled to. The revelation has created a sensation in the city.

Quarantine Against Sheep.

DENVER, Feb. 8.—Governor McIntyre has issued a proclamation continuing the quarantine against sheep from Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico and Oklahoma, supposed to be afflicted with scabs.

SENATION IN VANCOUVER.

A Man Arrested for Trying to Bribe an Alderman.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 8.—Citizens were astonished by the arrest of J. W. F. McFarlane, manager of the British Columbia Iron works of this city, on the charge of attempting to bribe Alderman McCrory.

Tenders were recently called for by the city for the construction of an electric light plant and the contract was awarded to the British Columbia Iron works. Their tender was not the lowest, and at the time the council announced that they had awarded it to them on account of its being a home industry. Now it is charged that booting existed, similar to that recently exposed at Toronto.

The information on which McFarlane was arrested was sworn out by W. L. Leonard, agent for the Royal Electric Company, Montreal, who alleges that McFarlane had offered him $500,000 gold bonds. The bill was beaten before it reached its last parliamentary stage. This result was reached after three days of spirited and at times heated debate at the end of a 7-hour session.

BIG GUNS TO BE EMPLOYED.

Steps Have Been Taken to Protect the Golden Gate.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8.—The Golden Gate is to be protected by three of the biggest guns in the United States. They will be pointed seaward from vantage positions on either side of the gate, and are calculated to furnish a complete defense against any craft that might escape the shells which the new mortar batteries will send out to sea for a distance of six miles. These guns are as long as seven average-sized guns, and two men might easily crawl into the bore of one.

Lieut. J. C. Lee, deputy quartermaster general, has received information that the guns are now on their way to this city, and he is entertaining bids for the towing and transportation of the guns from Fort and Townsend streets to Fort and Lime Point fortifications.

The magnitude of this task is suggested by a description of the guns and a statement of the conditions governing their transportation to the points named. The guns weigh approximately fifty-seven tons, 17,400 pounds in all. Each gun has a length of 40 feet, a diameter of 46.4 inches and a circumference of 12 feet 2 inches at the greatest point. Two of the guns are to be transported by the upper batteries of the fortifications on top of the Lime Point.

BLIZZARD AT PITTSBURG.

The Mercury on the Downward Path and Rapidly Descending.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 8.—The blizzard is on in full force here. The mercury got down to 3½ below zero last night and is still going down with the prospect of reaching 5 degrees below tonight. The local observer announces some snow in the mountains.

The rivers are frozen to a depth of fourteen inches in some places, and rivermen predict great damage to steamers and other craft when the break-up comes.

Must Prove Its Use.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 8.—Judge Glasgow of the municipal court has decided that in order to condemn the roulette wheel and table the city must prove its use for gambling, holding that despite its use in the city it is not an innocent amusement. This decision was given in the case of Charles Shaw, manager of the Union club, who had been accused of running a gambling house, although he admitted to Chief Roberts that gambling was carried on.

An Unfounded Report.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The World this morning prints the following cable dated Ching Kiang, China, Feb. 7: "There is no truth whatever in the report of officers of the U. S. S. Concord having been captured or arrested by the Chinese here. Moreover there has been no capture of any sort in which the Concord's officers or any other Americans are involved."

Claim is Made That the Crew of the Rescued Boat Did Not Act Improperly.

THE ELBE DISASTER

Hoffman and Vevera Called Sensational Turners Whose Heads Have Been Mangled by Public Attention.

Vevera's Story That He Alone Pulled the Woman Into the Boat is Pronounced Untrue.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The North German Lloyd Steamship company has received the following cable from Messrs. Keller, Wallis & Co., the London agents of the North German Lloyd company: Rescued passengers of the Elbe arriving on the Umbria may repeat sensational statements made to the English press. Please note they made no statements or complaints when before the American consul general, and the following is extracted from the Liverpool Shipping Telegraph:

"Our London correspondent, in reference to the allegations against the Elbe's crew, telegraphed last night after reading the reports: 'The crew of the Elbe has been charged with the murder of a woman. From knowledge of the Elbe's deck I am prepared to risk the assertion that the official inquiry will show that the crew of the rescued boat did not behave improperly, the newspapers forgetting that the port and starboard sides and also forgetting the relative positions of the boat and deck during a heavy list. The boat probably required men hands to pull her into the charge very likely belonged to that particular boat. I should say that the boat when in the water was nearly level with the water level, and the crew was off to avoid being swamped by the sinking ship.'

"Hearing in mind that the rescued boat was on the listed side and that the other side seemed safer, I should say that at the time of pushing off there was no one else at hand to take into her. Hoffman and Vevera, I fancy, will turn out to be sensationalists, and their statements are exaggerated. (It is shown to be untrue by the fact now elicited that the third officer, purser's assistant and Steward Kohle drew the woman into the boat.)"

The following verbatim extracts from leading articles in Liverpool speak for themselves. "Passengers' stories must always be received with even more than the proverbial grain of salt and the stories going the rounds of the press with respect to the behavior of the crew on the Elbe in the terrible moment do not seem worthy of credence."

"The North German Lloyd has been practically blasted by the stories given by irresponsible people laboring under the excitement naturally born of a great disaster and which are on the face of them conflicting."

One paper publishes a letter signed by British ship owners strongly urging suspension of judgment in the face of conflicting statements, pointing out that mouths of crew, owners and agents are closed pending official inquiry.

FIRE IN A CHICAGO HOTEL.

Eleven Persons Had a Narrow Escape and All Injured.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Eleven persons were driven from their beds by fire in the Royal hotel in Adams street at 4 o'clock this morning. All of them narrowly escaped death, and all suffered intensely from the cold.

The Royal hotel is a story brick. Only one narrow stairway led from the hotel to the street. Escape by that route was cut off by the fire. The only egress left was by a back door, which was closed by the fire. In getting from the building all were more or less injured.

Mrs. J. Wilson fell part way down the fire escape and was badly cut and bruised. Maggie Bryan and Maggie Daniels were on the top floor and all their hair was by their fighting their way through windows.

B. Martin of New York, was one of the worst sufferers. His feet were frozen while he was standing on the fire escape. He was taken to the Great Northern, where he is under a doctor's care. None of the guests had time to dress and all lost all their belongings.

A PYTHIAN SANITARIUM.

Plan for Raising the Funds to Erect It Has Been Perfected.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 8.—The executive committee of the Knights of Pythias, having in charge the matter of building a national Pythian sanitarium at Hot Springs, had a meeting here and have closed preliminary details. An assessment of $1 upon each Pythian of the United States will be levied, which will yield a fund of $500,000, out of which the sanitarium will be built. The Pythians will be exclusively for Pythians.

The expenses of each person going thither will be borne by the lodge nearest the member, but in cases where indigent members of the order are to be cared for, no charge will be made. The institution will be constructed upon a scene of magnificence and commensurate with the humane objects of the great order to which it will be a monument.

Jack Rabbit Slughtered.

LAS ANIMAS, Cal., Feb. 8.—The Bent county annual jack rabbit hunt, last two days, resulted in the slaughter of 6000 rabbits. The rabbits will be shipped to Parson Russell, at Denver, to be given to the poor.

Murderer Escaped.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Feb. 8.—Frank Jeffrey, who was to be tried next week on the charge of murder, has escaped from his cell in jail here. It is extremely difficult to find him, as today is the coldest in years, and he is still at liberty.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
Feb. 8.—The depression in Virginia has moved north to the lower lakes. It has increased in energy, causing steep barometric gradients in connection with a ridge of high pressure which extends from Manitoba to the Gulf of Mexico.
It is decidedly colder than yesterday in the Ohio and Middle West, and much warmer in the Atlantic states, and the Canadian Northwest.
The Rocky Mountain plateau regions, with fair weather in all reporting districts, except light snowfall in the lower regions and Montana.
The temperature is below zero in all sections from Colorado east to the Atlantic states and half states. It is 2 degrees below zero at Knoxville and 12 below at Kansas City, St. Louis and Cincinnati.
The coldest at 7 a. m. was 31 degrees below zero at Bismarck.
Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 12 degrees below zero; maximum yesterday, 4 degrees below zero; minimum yesterday, 3 degrees below zero.
Duluth, Feb. 8.—Forecast for Duluth and vicinity till 7 p. m. tomorrow: Continued fair and cold; brisk northwesterly winds.
Local Forecast Official.

Local Forecast Official.
CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair and rising temperature; westerly winds. For Minnesota:
Fair and slightly warmer tonight; Saturday fair, variable winds.

Newfoundland's Troubles.
The British colony of Newfoundland is in a very serious condition. The country is burdened by a heavy debt, the fishery business turned out disastrously for several seasons causing the failure of many firms and great suffering among the people, while the government has been shown to be corrupt. Political affairs have long been in a perturbed state. One ministry has followed another, and now Sir William Whiteway is again premier and trying to form a cabinet but so far with little success.

The principal feature of the Whiteway program is annexation to Canada.
This is regarded as the only salvation of the island. Years ago the Canadians were inclined to look longingly towards Newfoundland and made strong hints that the idea of annexation would be acceptable. But the movement is not regarded with so much favor in Canada
now, although it is gaining strength in Newfoundland. The question is raised whether Canada would not pay too dearly for the new acquisition, and a good many Canadians seem to be answering that question in the affirmative.

In taking Newfoundland, Canada must take the debt of that colony, which is about $15,000,000, and would more than offset the income which Canada would receive from the colony for many years to come. Newfoundland would also expect something in the way of an additional subsidy in return for the surrender of a part of its autonomy.

Canada has been liberal with subsidies to the colonies it has annexed, and much of the Dominion indebtedness has been incurred in that way. About all Canada would gain by the union would be free admission to Newfoundland markets,
such as they are, and a somewhat larger share than at present of Newfoundland trade, and $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 is a pretty large price to pay for these gains.
The French shore dispute is another serious objection to union. Canada is not now directly involved in this dispute, but would be Newfoundland one of its provinces. It is urged, therefore, that the admission of Newfoundland to the Dominion be at least postponed until the British government shall have settled this dispute with France. In view of these facts it is hardly likely that annexation will result.

An Extra Session Probable.
The defeat of the second administration currency bill in the house of representatives yesterday ends any hope of financial legislation by the present congress. Even if the bill had been passed by the house, it is extremely unlikely that it would have traveled safely through the senate. The silver men have undoubtedly a majority in the senate and they would probably have attached to the measure provisions favoring silver that would have made it unacceptable to the administration and all believers in a sound currency.

The only thing now left to do is to issue more bonds under the existing laws granting authority to the secretary of the treasury to maintain the gold reserve. It was expected at noon that the announcement of another bond issue
would be made this afternoon, the issue amounting to $100,000,000 thirty-year 4 per cent bonds, with the price fixed at a figure that will reduce the rate of interest to about 3 1/2 per cent. Of course this is but a temporary expedient. There is must be financial legislation which will provide a remedy for the state of affairs that results in the reserve being steadily depleted. The earlier such legislation can be obtained, the better it will be for the country, and it is therefore altogether probable that President Cleveland will call the next congress in extra session early in March. An extra session appears to be a necessity.

Ex-Minister Stevens' Death.
Hon. John L. Stevens, who was minister to Hawaii under the Harrison administration, died at his home in Portland, Me., this morning. Mr. Stevens was the official representative of this country at Honolulu at the time of the uprising which resulted in the overthrow of the monarchy and the formation of the provisional government, which has since been succeeded by a regularly constituted republic.

Mr. Stevens was accused by Democratic papers, influenced by statements of supporters of the ex-queen, of having aided in the success of the revolution by landing American marines from the warship then in the port of Honolulu and also by letting it be understood that the influence of this country would be exerted towards the maintenance of the new government.

An unprejudiced reading of all the reports and statements in regard to the affair will show that these accusations against Minister Stevens were not well founded. The revolution was not aided by any act of his, and there is no direct evidence that he gave it any encouragement. He landed the marines to protect the lives and property of American citizens and to guard the consulate.

When the monarchy was overthrown
and the provisional republic was an accomplished fact, he promptly recognized the new government on behalf of the United States. This was a wise move and the succeeding events have demonstrated its wisdom. Mr. Stevens was placed in a position of great delicacy and responsibility and he discharged his duties in a commendable manner. His name will ever be connected with the history of the transition of Hawaii from a monarchy to a republic.

The Anti-Toxin Treatment.
There is in the January Popular Science Monthly an interesting article on the new treatment for diphtheria written by Dr. S. T. Armstrong, of the New York hospital for contagious diseases. He states that reports from nearly 1500 cases of diphtheria treated with anti-toxin serum show an average mortality of 22.99 per cent, while the maximum was 44.9 and the minimum 5.5.
This is in itself significant, as the usual mortality is over 50 per cent.

From Feb. 1 to July 24, 1894, the serum was used in 448 cases in the Pans Hospital for Children's Diseases, with a mortality of 23.33 per cent. During the same period 500 cases were treated without the serum in another hospital in the same city, and the mortality was 63.2 per cent.

At the Berlin Urban hospital 121 cases were treated with the serum between Jan. 20 and Oct. 27 of last year, with a mortality of 33.1 per cent. During a part of this time 100 cases were treated without the serum and 53.8 per cent died.
The cost of the serum at present prevents its general use. It is the experience of the British Institute for Preventive Medicine that it costs from 15 to 25 cents to produce the serum for a single case.

Ships and Locomotives.
It is estimated by Mr. Mulhall in a recent article in the Contemporary Review that the shipping of all nations is of the approximate value of $1,100,000,000, while the 110,000 locomotives of the world represent a value of $1,000,000,000.
The railways give employment to 2,394,000 people, while shipping employs only 705,000.

The life of a locomotive is fifteen years. It will run 270,000 miles, carry 600,000 tons, or 1,000,000 passengers, and earn $300,000. Its first cost is $10,000 and its general average is 300 horsepower. The average life of a ship and its earning capacity, compared with its cost, is not given, and is perhaps not yet computed, but it is not likely to equal or approach that of the locomotive, which may fairly rank as the most potent instrument of civilization ever devised by man.

"The National Board of Trade," says the Omaha Bee, "was hypnotized into voting an endorsement for the railroad pooling bill, which is represented as very satisfactory to the commercial interests of the country. In its hypnotic state the board went further than a mere general endorsement of a bill that places
the entire commerce of the country at the mercy of the $11,000,000,000 octopus.
It actually declared that the bill as passed by the house is perfection within itself and should not be marred by any amendment. This goes to show what an influence the annual pass and secret rebate experts upon merchants who under ordinary conditions would spurn a bribe and resent as an insult the imputation
that they would stoop so low as to commend a rank imposture or a downright lie, no matter who its promoters might be."

Mayor Schieren, of Brooklyn, yesterday vetoed the resolutions passed by the board of aldermen revoking the permission heretofore granted to the Brooklyn
City and the Atlantic Avenue companies to operate their railroads in the streets.
Even if the resolutions had been approved by the mayor they would have been of no effect, because any action looking to the annulment of the companies' charters and privileges must be brought in the courts, City councils have no power to amend charters.

An experimental investigation of the effective temperature of the sun, undertaken by Wilson and Gray, of England, results in the conclusion that it is about 6,000 degrees centigrade. If allowance be made for absorption by carbonic acid gas, according to Angstrom's estimate
the temperature would be 7,400 centi-grade. If a further allowance be made for loss of heat in the sun's own atmosphere, the temperature of the central body would seem to be about 8700 centi-grade, or about double that of the electric arc.

The weather bureau promises slightly warmer weather tonight. It will be an agreeable change. And yet the people of Duluth have little reason to complain when they read of the suffering in the South from intense cold.

The most obnoxious union on record has been found in St. Louis. He is only 17 years old, but he voted five times at the last general election "because he was asked to do it."

Whenever one news fakir leaves Duluth another comes to town. In this way Duluth is getting an unenviable reputation as a center for bogus news.

Governor Hogg, of Texas, denies that he will engage in journalism. Certainly there is no mourning in journalistic circles over this announcement.

Jerry Simpson says that 90 per cent of the coming generation will be criminals.
Defeat has increased Jerry's pessimism.

Yearning for a Railroad. D. W.
Hines is still at work on his railroad from Drayton to Walhalla, and if he succeeds
many who are obliged to haul their farm produce thirty and forty miles will be greatly benefited. There is a large tract of valuable country through which a road should extend into Cavalier county, and instead of our thrifty farmers exposing themselves for two days to the cold, piercing winds of North Dakota, they will enjoy the usual benefits of civilization. Go ahead, Mr. Hines, and may your efforts be successful.

Great State for Bishops. Minneapolis Journal: Minnesota has been called upon to give the Episcopal church another bishop. Rev. John H.
White, formerly of St. Paul, and dean of the divinity school at Fairbault, has been chosen to succeed the late Bishop Knickerhacker in the diocese of Indiana.
The choice is well made. Minnesota has furnished Bishops Whipple, Knickerhacker, Barker, Graves, Thomas, Gilbert and White and no doubt has several more future bishops among the presbyters of the Episcopal church in the state.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, ss
County of St. Louis, ss
In Probate Court, Special Term, February 20, 1895.

In the matter of the estate of Edward R.
Murphy, Deceased.
On receiving and filing the petition of Daniel
R. Murphy, of the county of St. Louis, representing, among other things, that Edward R.
Murphy, late of the county of St. Louis, in the county of St. Louis, died in December, 1894, testate, and being an inhabitant of this county
at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels
and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the lawful and sole executor, and praying that administration of said estate be to him granted.

It is ordered that said petition be heard before the court on the 2nd day of March, A. D.
1895, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the probate office in Duluth, in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, by publishing in the Duluth Evening Herald, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Duluth, in said county, dated at Duluth, Minn., the 25th day of February, A. D. 1895.

VOICES OF THE STREET.
John Condon Says the Temple Company is Responsible for the Cold House.

"The Herald touched me up pretty hard the other day because the Temple was cold Tuesday night," said John Condon today. "That would give the idea that I am responsible, but it is not so. I pay the Temple Opera House association to have the theater heated. My lease calls for it and when they do not furnish it I cannot help it at the time. I can only go up afterward and kick. I carried a copy of The Herald up to the officers and laid it down in front of them and made a grand roar. Whether it will have the desired effect or not I do not know."

"Why on earth a man lives up here in this cold country is more than I can tell,"
said a frozen-up individual today. Well, if he was taken up and thrown down in Tennessee or Georgia today his teeth would chatter. This morning at Knoxville, Tenn., it was 6 degrees below, and 6 degrees below in Tennessee means something. All over the central and gulf states the weather is the coldest it has been in years.

Continued Cold Weather.
"Is this cold weather ever going to let up" is the universal question today. No, there is no hope for the present. Continued cold weather is the prophecy which comes from the weather office today. It was 72 degrees below last night.
Out in Dakota it is 38 degrees below.

REPORTER ASSAULTED

John L. Morrison, The Herald's City Hall Reporter, Attacked today by Assistant City Attorney Benham.

Policeman's Rubber Billy Which Benham Procured This Morning From Headquarters Was Used.

Fred Voss and J. P. Dodge Say the Assault Was Unexcused for Benham Was Wrong.

John L. Morrison, the city hall reporter of The Herald, was outrageously assaulted this morning by Assistant City Attorney Benham when in the course of making the rounds at the city hall he dropped into the city attorney's office and asked for news. Mr. Benham claimed that he was acting under the orders of Page Morris, city attorney, to keep The Herald reporter out of his office and give him no news. Mr. Benham's assault was entirely unexcused for according to Mr. Morrison's statement and from all the information The Herald has been able to obtain. In fact Mr. Benham's own admissions are sufficient to prove this, although in his own mind he claims to be able to find a justification. Mr. Morrison dropped into the city attorney's office this morning and walking up to Mr. Benham's desk said: "Hello Benham. Anything new today?" "No sir, we have no news to give you. Is there any public business which you wish to transact with this office?" was the reply. "Why, no, except to get the news," was Morrison's surprised answer. "Well then you can get out of here," said Mr. Benham. Mr. Morrison wanted to know what he meant and Benham answered: "You are not wanted here and if you don't get out I'll put you out. Those are my instructions from Page Morris." "Well, now, let me ask you quietly and politely what is the cause of this?" said Morrison. "I don't have to answer that. Get out of here or I'll put you out," was the reply.

He Drew a Billy. Mr. Morrison endeavored further to find out why he was treated thus when suddenly Mr. Benham drew a policeman's rubber "billy" out of his desk and made an angry spring at Morrison. The club came down on Morrison's head, but fortunately he dodged and it was only a glancing blow.

Mr. Morrison, strange to say, made no effort to retaliate but retreated to the door. Mr. Benham followed him up and struck at him again with the billy. Morrison threw up his arm and caught the blow on the wrist. By that time he was at the door. He called for Fred Voss and the latter came across the hall and Morrison said:

"This man is assaulting me and I want you to witness his actions."

At that moment Benham came on again with the billy and Mr. Voss stepped between them saying:

"Hold on now, Benham, don't do anything you will be sorry for."

"I'm acting under instructions from Page Morris," returned Benham.

"Has Mr. Morris ordered you to club me?" demanded Morrison.

He made no answer. Mr. Voss left after he thought Benham had cooled down. Morrison then stepped forward and said:

"Mr. Benham, I'll ask you again if there is any news in this office?"

At that Mr. Benham made another dash at Morrison with the billy. Miss Stokely, the stenographer, rushed out of the other room and cried, "Don't, Mr. Benham, don't!" She came near receiving the blow on her head. Others came forward and the trouble was stopped.

Witnesses Corroborate It. The city editor of The Herald called at the city hall today to investigate. Mr. Voss corroborates all the above with Stokely, the stenographer, rushed out of the other room and cried, "Don't, Mr. Benham, don't!" She came near receiving the blow on her head. Others came forward and the trouble was stopped.

He Prepared For It. He said that he and Page Morris talked the matter over and decided to keep Morrison out.

"That was some days ago," said Mr. Benham. "This morning I decided to put it into effect. Without saying anything to anybody I went into police headquarters and got this billy (producing a rubber billy about ten inches long from his desk). It cannot hurt anyone seriously and is made for just such uses. Mr. Morrison is a large man and perhaps stronger than I and I meant to be prepared."

He was asked why he had not complained at The Herald office if Mr. Morrison had not conducted himself in a proper manner. He had no reason to give for it, except that he had not considered that.

Inquiry was made among the city offices and in not one could it be learned that Mr. Morrison had ever conducted himself in anything but a gentlemanly manner.

Whatever may be the causes bringing it about the assault was inexcusable. The city assistant prosecuting officer deliberately prepared for an assault. It was premeditated—not committed simply upon the spur of the moment.

Crowd at the Hayward Trial Anxious to See the Buggy Which Kitty Ging Drove.

Erwin Objected to Adry Hayward Testifying Until He Could Have Insanity Experts Hear Him.

It is Believed to Indicate That the Defense Will Claim Adry Has Hereditary Insanity.

Ex-Mayor Eustis on the Stand and Produced Letters and Telegrams Taken From Harry Hayward.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 9.—The buggy in which Kate Ging took her fatal ride and the lap robe stained dark with her life's blood were on exhibition in the court room when the Hayward trial opened this morning.

The curious crowd pressed forward to get a nearer view of the gruesome souvenirs of the tragedy, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that the deputies succeeded in protecting the precincts sacred to the press and the bar.

Emil Ferrant, who occupies a flat in the Ozark flats, was the first witness. His testimony was descriptive of the occurrences in the flats after the news of her money. The first two announce winnings of $300 and $800, and the third said: "We have lost all." The statement reads:

"This is to certify that I have given Harry T. Hayward $375 to gamble with, win or lose. KATE GING. Then the mayor said he went after Adry Hayward and they drove to the trust company where out of Adry's box were secured the notes Miss Ging had signed. Harry did not want to give them up, but the mayor insisted, and finally took them away with him. The party next went to the Haywards' office and secured the life insurance policies and other documents. While at the Ozark, Hayward had pointed out that it was loaded all around and was very clean. The court then adjourned until Monday morning.

HEAVY SUITS FOR DAMAGES.

The Great Northern and the Northern Pacific Jointly Sued.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Feb. 9.—Attorneys Bruckhart and Brower will today file complaints for damages in the district court for two men injured in a collision between a Great Northern freight and a Northern Pacific passenger train at this point Nov. 24.

The plaintiffs are William Sumner and Conrad Schaefer, and both are still inmates of a hospital here. The third man seriously injured will also sue for damages. These men will bring suit against the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, making them joint defendants for $10,000 each.

While the cases will be brought in the district court, it is more than probable that they will be taken to the federal courts for trial. Attorneys for the plaintiffs do not fear much difficulty in obtaining a verdict against the Northern Pacific, for their clients were passengers on the train of this company, but the two

The Contest Over the Senatorship in the St. Cloud District Decided in Favor of Chisholm.

Dr. Forbes Invited to Lecture in the House Next Tuesday Evening on Abraham Lincoln.

The Bill to Settle the Onetoa and West Duluth Indebtedness Passed by the Senate.

An Attempt Made to Exclude Lake Superior From Bill Regulating Fishing in International Waters.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 9.—The judiciary committee of the house today reported a substitute for the bill relating to storage of unclaimed baggage, giving the right to sell the same after one year and three weeks' advertising. A substitute for the John firemen's relief bill was also presented by the same committee. The claims committee reported adversely the Indian war claim of A. LeBonte for $1150; also the claim of Mary J. Blaisdell for services as nurse during the rebellion. The claim of Virtue Smith for $100, whose husband was injured during the Indian wars, was favorably reported and in each congressional district to license pilots and masters on inland waters. Judiciary.

Mr. Feig, amend general laws 1873, relating to public roads authorizing roads along section lines. Roads and bridges. J. D. Jones, to amend laws of 1876 and 1893, relating to county commissioners, limiting their compensation. Judiciary.

Mr. Dahl, furnishing published opinions of the attorneys to state and judicial officials of the state. Judiciary.

Mr. Jacobson, prohibit railroads from charging excess for overloading cars. Grain and warehouse.

Mr. Brevig, relating to exclusive franchise, being a woman's suffrage act. Judiciary.

The senate bill prohibiting saloons or poolrooms within one mile of the state university was read and an attempt to pass it under suspension of the rules failed, and it went to the university committee. After minor routine business a recess was taken until 2 o'clock, when general orders will be taken up.

Mr. Cant's bill to adjust the indebtedness of annexed or partially annexed portions of towns will be the first bill taken up in committee of the whole and will undoubtedly be favorably recommended. Senator Spencer's bill—identical with the Cant bill—passed the senate without opposition this morning and will be substituted for the latter when reported to the house.

The World's fair jury after exacting tests found Dr. Price's baking powder absolutely pure.

DOINGS OF THE SENATE.

Primary Election Bills Made a Special Order for Thursday.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 9.—In the senate this morning the various primary election bills were made a special order for Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Senator Stevens stated that when the

TO THE BOTTOM.

No Word Yet of the French Line Steamer La Gasconne, Which Has Probably Foundered.

If This Has Not Been Her Fate, Her Machinery May Have Been Badly Disabled.

Steamer Teutonic, From Liverpool, Reached Her Docks at New York After a Rough Passage.

The Anchoria, Bound for Glasgow, and For Which There Was Anxiety, Sighted This Morning.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The French line steamer La Gasconne from Havre Jan. 26, has not been sighted up to 4 o'clock this afternoon. As she was due to arrive here on Sunday last she is now six days overdue. The hope entertained that she was in company with the White Star steamer Teutonic was dispelled by the arrival last night of the latter steamer, which reported that she had seen nothing of the Gasconne, her own delay having been occasioned by head winds and high seas.

The cause of the Gasconne's non-appearance can only be conjectured, but there can be little doubt now that her machinery is in some way disabled and she is working for port under reduced steam. The severe weather reported by the Teutonic is no doubt being encountered by La Gasconne, but her long passage can hardly be attributed to bad weather alone.

The Red Star line steamer Rhyndland from Antwerp is still out. It is now fourteen days since she left Antwerp. No anxiety is felt, however, for her safety and she will probably be reported during the day.

The Bolivia, sixteen days out from Gibraltar, the Llandaff City, eighteen days out from Swansea, the Manitoba, fifteen days out from London, the Witt-kind, thirteen days out from Bremen, and the Taromina, sixteen days out from Hamburg, are still to be heard from. The Cunard liner Umbria from Liverpool and Queenstown is due to arrive today, but under the existing weather conditions she is not likely to reach port until tomorrow.

The steamer Teutonic from Liverpool reached her docks today after having been delayed outside over twelve hours owing to the heavy snow storm and blizzard. Time of passage 7 days, 11 h. and 1 m. Day's runs 477, 481, 478, 488, 336, 228, 240 and 136 to Sandy Hook. Distance, 2864 knots. The Teutonic was within three miles of Sandy Hook at 5:30 p. m. yesterday, but owing to the hurricane from east northeast and thick snow storm, was obliged to stand off and steam for twenty miles to the southeast waiting for the storm to moderate.

At 2 p. m. the Teutonic sighted the steamer Josie Reeves, of New York, flying signals of distress. A lifeboat with five men was lowered, but returned after one hour's unsuccessful effort. At 5:30 p. m. the Teutonic sailed alongside the Reeves for the schooner's dories and nine men were hauled on board.

The Teutonic passed Daunt's rock light at 10:30 p. m. Jan. 31, during the first day the vessel encountered a fresh gale from southeast with a high swell. Feb. 2 the same gale prevailed. Feb. 3 the gale moderated somewhat, a high sea was still running and there was a heavy northerly swell. Feb. 4 the wind moderated, yet there was a confused swell on and the wind changed from southwest to northwest. Feb. 5, a northeasterly gale that changed to a westerly hurricane was encountered. The vessel labored hard against heavy head seas and a head swell. Feb. 6 the vessel struggled with heavy snow and hail squalls and high head seas. The wind was from west northwest. Feb. 7 the wind was still from west northwest and blew a fresh gale. There was a heavy head sea running.

There are two passengers on board the overdue French line steamer La Gasconne who live in Philadelphia, Mrs. Almon F. Rockwell and S. Crozier, Jr. Mrs. Rockwell is the wife of Col. Rockwell, U. S. A., who has charge of the quartermaster's office in this city and Mr. Crozier belongs to the well known family of that name. Mr. Crozier is brother-in-law of Col. Rockwell and in company with Mrs. Crozier went to Europe on a pleasure trip last July. They were joined in Europe by Mrs. Rockwell. Mrs. Crozier decided to remain somewhat longer in Europe than her companions and is at present in Brussels.

Edward W. Mix, Paris representative of the Thomson-Houston Electric company, who is returning on the La Gasconne, is a Columbus, O., young man. He received his education at the Ohio state university from which he graduated in 1887. About a year ago while traveling in Austria, Mr. Mix was arrested for taking snapshots at some of the fortifications and was held for several days.

No Sign of La Gasconne. QUEENSTOWN, Feb. 9.—The Cunard line steamship Etruria from New York for this port and Liverpool, has arrived and reports that she saw no sign of the French line steamer La Gasconne. The Etruria sighted the Norwegian bark Hebe, which signalled that she had exhausted her stock of provisions and requested to be supplied with enough food to enable her to reach port. One of the Etruria's boats was loaded with a good supply of provisions and sent to the Hebe. The Etruria then resumed her voyage.

The Anchoria Sighted. GLASGOW, Feb. 9.—The Anchor line steamship p. Anchoria, Capt. Young from New York Jan. 26 for this port, concerning whose safety some anxiety was felt as she was several days overdue, was sighted off Tory island, north of Ireland, at 8:10 o'clock this morning.

Miss Ging's violent death had been received and of Harry Hayward's behavior at that time.

During Ferrant's testimony there was a significant colloquy between counsel County Attorney Nye said that he had expected to put Adry Hayward, the confessing brother, on the stand today, but that Adry was not present as yet. Mr. Erwin said that he should object to Adry testifying today, as he wanted to have insanity experts present when the brother gave his testimony.

This statement is believed to indicate not only a purpose on the part of the defense to claim that Adry has hereditary insanity, but also possibly a purpose on the part of Adry to give his testimony in such manner as shall lead to that conclusion. In this way he can tell his story as he has already told it to the state and yet give his brother a chance to escape the gallows.

Ex-Mayor William H. Eustis was then called to the stand and testified to having obtained from Harry Hayward while the latter was under police surveillance, some letters, telegrams and a statement from Miss Ging to Harry, statement as to some business relations between the two.

Mr. Erwin at once asked if he might cross examine the witness to ascertain whether these papers were obtained under duress and, in spite of the state's objection, was permitted to do so by the court.

Mr. Eustis said that with the police officials he had subjected Hayward to an examination lasting some fourteen hours. Then Harry was released, but the detectives kept track of his whereabouts. The next morning after his release, Harry Hayward had come into the mayor's voluntarily and talked over the crime. He told of Miss Ging's gambling propensities, and said he had some letters and telegrams showing it. The mayor drove with him to his apartments, where Harry voluntarily handed over the documents. These were then offered in evidence. The telegrams were those passing between Harry and Miss Ging, when the former was gambling in Chicago with companies will probably have a fight of big dimensions between themselves, as each company claims the other to be liable.

A New Wisconsin County. MARSHFIELD, Wis., Feb. 9.—The question of reviving the new county scheme during the present session of the legislature at Madison is being strongly talked of. The plan is originally advocated was to take portions of Clark, Marathon and Wood counties and form a new county therefrom, making Marshfield the county seat. According to later reports it is now proposed to name the new county Upham in honor of Governor Upham.

Two Fatalities. BIRD ISLAND, Minn., Feb. 9.—John Carr, an old settler, died yesterday morning in his eighty-sixth year. News is received that J. N. Reuter, a former proprietor of the Western hotel, was accidentally killed in the mines Thursday.

Many Need Aid. GRANTSBURG, Wis., Feb. 9.—Senator Erwin, sent here by Governor Upham to investigate the condition of the people in destitute circumstances, concluded his work last night. He finds in the neighborhood of 300 people suffering from want of food and clothing, and the state will give aid.

The Delaware Deadlock. DOVER, Del., Feb. 9.—The thirty-eighth ballot in the United States senatorial contest was taken today without change.

the claim of W. J. Witfield for war services was allowed for $150.

The elections committee reported in favor of Alexander Chisholm, the sitting member, in the contest brought by August Haines, from the St. Cloud senatorial district, and the report was adopted by a unanimous vote. Chairman J. D. Jones expressed the thanks of the committee and of the house for the gentlemanly manner in which the contest had been carried on. Both sides agreed to abide by the decision, whatever the decision might be. Rev. Dr. Robert Forbes was formally invited to deliver his lecture on "Abraham Lincoln" on Tuesday evening in the hall of the house.

The senate having passed a bill for the repeal of the Lincoln birthday legal holiday, the house took it up under suspension of the rules and passed it, 67 to 23. The bill is not strictly a repeal, but rather the postponement of the taking effect of the law until next year. The following house bills were introduced:

Mr. Sievright, to amend public school library law. Judiciary.

Mr. Littleton, liability for injuries, being a sweeping act, making employers liable for all injuries through their own or their employees' negligence or fault, instructing courts to construe the act liberally. Judiciary.

Mr. Julius, amend general laws 1879 relating to highways, allowing growing of grass along roadways. Towns and counties.

Mr. Lovejoy, amend law 1889, for inspection of steam boilers, one inspector resolution was introduced he had given notice of debate, not knowing what its object was, but now he knew the capitol commission would be very glad to give the senate the information, and he withdrew all opposition. The resolution was adopted.

The new Lincoln's birthday bill was passed under suspension of the rules. It repeals the former bill and provides that the law shall not go into effect until 1896. There was only one negative vote.

Senator Fuller from the committee on roads and bridges reported S. F. No. 70 and S. F. No. 73 to pass. The judiciary committee reported S. F. No. 4 to be amended and pass. The bill proposes a constitutional amendment for the taxation of sleeping cars.

The calendar was taken up and the following bills passed: Amending section 1, chapter 68, laws of 1885, appropriating money for salaries of judges, etc., being a deficiency bill introduced by Senator Wynnan, appropriating money to pay revenue building bonds issued by the state in 1889; authorizing the state treasurer to draw his warrant to redeem wolf bounty orders; and the bill to annul the Rand (Minneapolis) ordinance, which amends section 5, chapter 16, general statutes of 1878.

S. F. No. 200, to amend chapter 68, of the general laws of 1871, is a bill increasing the rate of interest on judgments in justice courts to 10 per cent, when stay of execution is ordered. On roll call there were 10 ayes and 23 nays and the

This statement is believed to indicate not only a purpose on the part of the defense to claim that Adry has hereditary insanity, but also possibly a purpose on the part of Adry to give his testimony in such manner as shall lead to that conclusion. In this way he can tell his story as he has already told it to the state and yet give his brother a chance to escape the gallows.

Ex-Mayor William H. Eustis was then called to the stand and testified to having obtained from Harry Hayward, while the latter was under police surveillance, some letters, telegrams and a statement from Miss Ging to Harry, statement as to some business relations between the two.

Mr. Erwin at once asked if he might cross examine the witness to ascertain whether these papers were obtained under duress and, in spite of the state's objection, was permitted to do so by the court.

Mr. Eustis said that with the police officials he had subjected Hayward to an examination lasting some fourteen hours. Then Harry was released, but the detectives kept track of his whereabouts. The next morning after his release, Harry Hayward had come into the mayor's voluntarily and talked over the crime. He told of Miss Ging's gambling propensities, and said he had some letters and telegrams showing it. The mayor drove with him to his apartments, there he voluntarily handed over the documents. These were then offered in evidence. The telegrams were those passing between Harry and Miss Ging, when the former was gambling in Chicago with

A New Wisconsin County.

MARSHFIELD, Wis., Feb. 9.—The question of reviving the new county scheme during the present session of the legislature at Madison is being strongly talked of. The plan as originally adopted was to take portions of Clark, Marathon and Wood counties and form a new county therefrom, making Marshfield the county seat. According to later reports it is now proposed to name the new county Upham in honor of Governor Upham.

Two Fatalities.

THIRD ISLAND, Minn., Feb. 9.—John Carr, an old settler, died yesterday morning in his eighty-sixth year. News is received that J. N. Reuter, a former proprietor of the Western hotel, was accidentally killed in the pinceries Thursday.

Many Need Aid.

GRANTSBURG, Wis., Feb. 9.—Senator Erwin, sent here by Governor Upham to investigate the condition of the people in destitute circumstances, concluded his work last night. He finds in the neighborhood of 300 people suffering from want of food and clothing, and the state will give aid.

The Delaware Deadlock.

DOVER, Del., Feb. 9.—The thirty-eight ballot in the United States senatorial contest was taken today without change.

the claim of W. J. Witfield for war services was allowed for $150.

The elections committee reported in favor of Alexander Chisholm, the sitting member, in the contest brought by August Haines, from the St. Cloud senatorial district, and the report was adopted by a unanimous vote. Chairman J. D. Jones expressed the thanks of the committee and of the house for the gentlemanly manner in which the contest had been carried on. Both sides agreed to abide by the decision, whatever the decision might be. Rev. Dr. Robert Forbes was formally invited to deliver his lecture on "Abraham Lincoln" on Tuesday evening in the hall of the house.

The senate having passed a bill for the repeal of the Lincoln birthday legal holiday, the house took it up under suspension of the rules and passed it, 67 to 23. The bill is not strictly a repeal, but rather the postponement of the taking effect of the law until next year. The following house bills were introduced:

Mr. Stevring, to amend public school library law. Judiciary.

Mr. Littleton, liability for injuries, being a sweeping act, making employers liable for all injuries through their own or their employees' negligence or fault, instructing courts to construe the act liberally. Judiciary.

Mr. Julius, amend general laws 1879 relating to highways, allowing growing of grass along roadways. Towns and counties.

Mr. Lovejoy, amend law 1889, for inspection of steam boilers, one inspector resolution was introduced he had given notice of debate, not knowing what his object was, but now he knew the capitol commission would be very glad to give the senate the information, and he withdrew all opposition. The resolution was adopted.

The new Lincoln's birthday bill was passed under suspension of the rules. It repeals the former bill and provides that the law shall not go into effect until 1896. There was only one negative vote.

Senator Fuller from the committee on roads and bridges reported S. F. No. 70 and S. F. No. 73 to pass. The judiciary committee reported S. F. No. 4 to be amended and pass. The bill proposes a constitutional amendment for the taxation of sleeping cars.

The calendar was taken up and the following bills passed: Amending section 1, chapter 68, laws of 1885, appropriating money for salaries of judges, etc., being a deficiency bill introduced by Senator Wynnan; appropriating money to pay revenue building bonds issued by the state in 1889; authorizing the state treasurer to draw his warrant to redeem wolf bounty orders; and the bill to annul the Rand (Minneapolis) ordinance, which amends section 5, chapter 16, general statutes of 1878.

S. F. 200, to amend chapter 68, of the general laws of 1871, is a bill increasing the rate of interest on judgments in justice courts to ten per cent. when stay of execution is ordered. On roll call there were 19 ayes and 23 nays and the

THE WORLD OF LABOR.

Plans Are Being Forwarded For Observing the Second Anniversary of the Workingmen's Club.

Proposal to Organize a Strike Fund in Order To Be Prepared For Any Strike.

Action of the County Commissioners in Giving a Contract to a St. Louis Firm Condemned.

The Federated Trades assembly held its regular meeting last evening. A good attendance, enthusiasm and a business-like disposition of matters in hand were features of the occasion. Delegate McDowell, on behalf of the special committee appointed to make necessary arrangements for observing the second anniversary of the Workingmen's club, submitted a report. He stated that Professor Muhlbauer has composed a march entitled "The Federated Trades Assembly" to be used on the occasion. One of the printers will sing an original song and the electrical workers will make a special electrical display. An elaborate program will be presented and the assembly is taking much interest in the matter. It takes place Feb. 18, one week from next Monday evening.

It was proposed last evening to organize a strike fund, with rules to govern its disposition. There is not the slightest prospect of trouble between any of the unions and employers. "But some believe that in times of peace preparations should be made for possible war. It was pointed out that many strikes have been lost solely from lack of funds. A committee of five was appointed to ascertain the sentiment in regard to the matter among the various unions at the head of the lakes.

The action of the county commissioners in letting a contract for about $500 worth of printing to a St. Louis firm when a Duluth firm bid only $20 higher, was strongly condemned. A committee of three was appointed to wait upon the commissioners and let them know in no uncertain words that their action meets with disapproval.

The committee appointed at the previous meeting, reported that the council, if it saw fit, could let any part of the proposed water main extensions on the day labor plan, if a petition to that effect were submitted.

The special committee appointed for that purpose, reported that the grand jury will be called upon to indict the Superior Street Car company for running unvested cars into Minnesota.

LEARNING LESSONS.

Gaining Knowledge in the School of Strikes.

"Lessons of the strike" are once more in order. This time it was the Brooklyn strike that taught us. The first thing clearly proved by the trolley strike was that Carroll D. Wright, Congressman McGinnis and some other prophesying gentlemen made a mistake when they assumed that "the era of labor strikes is past." The labor commissioner's prophecy had already been knocked over by the A. R. U. strike and a hundred lesser strikes. It was after the A. R. U. strike and partially because of it that the congressman made his prediction. The A. R. U. strike was the most extensive ever had in this country, and the trolley strike in Brooklyn taught first rank among labor struggles confined to one industry or a limited territory. As I told Mr. Wright 18 months ago, that he was in error in his prophecy, I want to tell him now that the big strike is yet in the future, how far in the future will depend upon circumstances.

The next lesson learned from the Brooklyn strike relates to that widely sang, tenderly nurtured, vacillating, empty nothing known as "public sentiment." In times of trouble between capitalists and laborers a certain class of newspapers ring the changes on "the force of public sentiment," and sleek plutocrats and luncheons who don't know anything about the points at issue go about mouthing "public sentiment," "public sentiment." How was a case where everybody realized that the "public sentiment" of not only the community affected, but of the whole country, was overwhelmingly favorable to the demands of the strikers. The officials of the trolley companies of Brooklyn were aware that the citizens generally looked upon them as in the wrong, as cruel taskmasters who were not willing to concede the reasonable requests of their "tenants" known, too, through the newspapers, from pulp and platform and upon the corners. Municipal officials were outspoken, officially and otherwise, in sympathy for the strikers. What did all this amount to?

Ten thousand times I have read or heard it said that "workingmen cannot win in their contests unless they have public sentiment with them," and understood from that, as it was intended was with them, that if public sentiment was with them they could and would win, their demands, of course, being reasonable. Twelve times have I swallowed come and gone since I know some folks who believed in it up to a few weeks ago. I haven't heard from them since the Brooklyn strike took place. I don't want to be understood as advocating a course that will put the public down on "the public sentiment" at any cost is controlled by fools. When it gets out, it would do well to burn its character, hang up some suitable mottoes and start a kindergarten. A strike is war, and "sentiment" wins no battles. It is pleasant to know that the thousands of noncombatants are wishing you would win, but one active "sympathizer" is worth all this wish.

On the twelfth day of the strike the New York World, which was in a measure fair during the trouble, said, "If the Brooklyn strike—founded on a just demand—is lost, the lesson of it will be that strikes can be won, but riots cannot." What riot? The rioting was occasioned by the interference of strike sympathizers with the companies' efforts to run cars. It was at no time serious, and the greatest damage was caused by the fool militiamen who shot down innocent citizens and rode through the streets firing into windows like a band of drunken cowboys in a border town. But, admitting that the lawlessness had its inception in the obstruction of railway traffic practiced by the mobs of sympathizers, does any one doubt that the companies would have beaten the strikers in two days, with hands down, if it had not been for the obstructions and limitations? I am not defending and justifying, but it disgusts me to read stuff about "peaceable strikes." Peace? There is no peace, nor can there be in the irrepressible conflict. Labor organizations must not be deceived into believing that they can win their strikes by simply leaving their places and going home to romp with the children. They must stick to the field and hold up their end. If this was fully understood, there would be fewer strikes, and many labor would get sense enough to go to the ballot box with its grievances.

There's an old lesson, one we thought we had thoroughly learned away back in 1877 and several times since, brought out for a new coming by the Brooklyn strike. It is that workingmen should not join the militia. Notwithstanding the experiences of the past 17 years, there were among the soldiers called out to do duty in Brooklyn many members of labor organizations. When called to take their muskets and go to the support of brutal trolley barons who were trying to crush organized workingmen for protesting against inhuman conditions? I know they had to go when called, but they were fools for becoming subject to such orders. A young man may believe that his interests lie with the class that the militia is organized to serve. In such a case it must be a real pleasure to don a uniform and march out to shoot down a man who has a man who was expected to be a wage worker or whose father was or is a workingman could during the last ten years become a millionaires. It shows that the tool killer has been neglecting his business.

It may be very pleasant to strut around with brass buttons all over you, a peaked cap resting on your curly locks and a musket on your shoulder, but if you had heard what I heard a gentleman call some militia men during the Brooklyn strike in 1890, you wouldn't be so struck on yourself, my lovely soldier boy. Your bosom may swell with pride when you read in the newspapers about "the bravery of the" men regiment during the strike, but if you'll stop and think (are you ever guilty of such a thing?) the matter over your coat will not fit so tight over your chest. There's more real courage in one of the poor devils who faced your guns with nothing but a pocketful of rocks to fight with than in your whole regiment. It took more of a staff of heroes to make of to quit work in support of a principle or to refuse to take a strike's place, though wife and children were hungry, than to lay down your arms and go to work.

It may be very pleasant to strut around with brass buttons all over you, a peaked cap resting on your curly locks and a musket on your shoulder, but if you had heard what I heard a gentleman call some militia men during the Brooklyn strike in 1890, you wouldn't be so struck on yourself, my lovely soldier boy. Your bosom may swell with pride when you read in the newspapers about "the bravery of the" men regiment during the strike, but if you'll stop and think (are you ever guilty of such a thing?) the matter over your coat will not fit so tight over your chest. It took more of a staff of heroes to make of to quit work in support of a principle or to refuse to take a strike's place, though wife and children were hungry, than to lay down your arms and go to work.

And now we come to the most important of all the lessons of the strike—the need of more complete organization and the use of the power thus secured to curb the barons. If labor was organized as it should be, it would be impossible to secure within a reasonable time of 6,000 trolley car employees. Then there would be no need of persuasion—moral or of other kind—to keep out nonunion men, and no "protection" could be asked for, because nothing would be stronger than the "public sentiment" would kick for its service, and the courts would have to compel a settlement or forfeiture of charter. There's no sense in going behind the bush. We all know that if it had not been for the "persuasion" of the Brooklyn companies could have named every one of their cars within 48 hours. I don't care whether the strikers took any part in the rioting or not, though I know of them had anything to do with it. The organization had to empty its treasury and besides expended thousands of dollars donated during the trouble.

I am not finding fault with D. A. 75 because I take their strike as an occasion to say some things. On the contrary, I do not believe the annals of labor in this country contain the record of a better strike than that of the Brooklyn trolley men. The officials and the men deserve the highest praise for their courage and generalship. No man familiar with such affairs would have been surprised to witness a complete defeat of the organization in the first week of the fight. Whether labor is sure to feel encouraged by such examples as that given by the men of D. A. 75, and again I say that the Brooklyn trolley strike takes first place among what may be called the great battles of organized labor.

Transp. on Public Farms.

A bill is in preparation for introduction into the present legislature granting authority to any county in the state to acquire property for a farm to be used for the education of homeless waifs, professional mendicants and the vicious and shiftless poor of all degrees. It will provide that such persons be there taught farming and industrial arts; that they be compelled to work, and that they be kept there—for years, if necessary—until such time as they develop a capacity and a real desire to labor for an honest living.

This bill is the result of a series of conferences on the part of 16 or 18 prominent charitable societies of New York, and it will be so framed as to make it practically obligatory upon this city to acquire such a farm. The special object which these societies hope to accomplish thereby is to clear the city as much as possible of many thousands of unworthy poor, idle and vice ridden professionals, who will not work, and who only serve to divert from the great masses of worthy poor a large proportion of the relief given by the best intentioned by the charitable residents of the city.

It is the culmination of a broad scheme of charity which has been decided upon after years of experience in relieving the unfortunate and after many consultations. The plan adopted seeks not so much to reform the vicious beggar, though that is the aim, as to clear the way for a wiser and more efficient charity than this or any other large city has ever seen.

Already the plan is in partial operation, having been quietly inaugurated a month or two ago, but in the opinion of the great majority of the societies uniting in it the best results cannot be attained until such a measure as the bill provides becomes a law.—New York Telegram.

Working Girls in Scotland.

A recent report shows that Scotch girls and women of mature experience receive from $1 or $1.25 to $3 a week. Hairdressers, milliners and tobacconists may get $2.75. Housekeepers begin with $3. One young woman in sole charge of a shop received $8 a week. Her hours were 12½ on one day of the week, 7½ on one and 14½ on one. Her meals were brought to her. There were no sanitary conveniences, these being rare in Glasgow shops. Another worked from 9:30 a. m. till 10 p. m., and on Saturdays till 11 for $1.75 a week, and was not allowed to go for her meals.

THE UNEMPLOYED.

Scotch Agitated Over the Problem That Confronts Every State in the Union.

What shall we do with the tramps and the unemployed? The question has risen to high importance in California. The troubles in Sacramento, the anxiety in the towns and cities that are receiving the men driven out of the capital and the calls for relief that come from the men who are out of work testify to the urgency of the question. Mayor Sutro in his inaugural address calls attention to the need of relief and regulatory measures to be done.

But what? The rough and ready methods of the Sacramento vigilance committee offer no solution. The problem is not settled by arresting a few tramps and driving the others into the next county. "What are we to do when we get there?" plaintively ask the men who are being ordered to other cities. "We are not wanted there any more than here."

The only good effect that this course can have is to discourage the eastern vagrant from seeking an easy winter in California. But the main effect will be to turn the tramps and beggars into criminals. If they are driven into the country or into the smaller towns, they will not go hungry without raiding the houses in their way, and crimes from petty stealing to murder may be expected to follow.

The way to deal with the idle man is to set him to work. Any other way must prove a failure. But this remedy is much more easily suggested than applied. The highest wisdom is required in devising a plan that will meet the various conditions of the problem. The first requisite after providing for the kind of work that is to be done is to arrange for separating the idle men into three classes that make up their minds to do the work. The first class is the man who is not only idle, but who is also a vagrant. He is not only idle, but he is also a vagrant. The second class is the man who is idle, but who is not a vagrant. The third class is the man who is idle, but who is not a vagrant.

Any scheme of relief should include all classes and vary the treatment according to the class. It should be the first principle of relief that support must be paid for in work. This is essential to maintain the self respect of those who receive aid and to follow the correct economical policy that every man should produce as much as he consumes. The first class will give work willingly, the second will work as long as it is watched, and the third will have to be driven to it by harsh treatment.

The great difficulty in the way of handling these elements by the methods suggested will be found in providing industries in which they can work and in carrying them out economically.—San Francisco Examiner.

New York Strikes.

According to the annual report of the state board of mediation and arbitration, that body received information of about 425 strikes and lockouts occurring in the state of New York during the year ending Oct. 31, 1894. This is an increase of 25 per cent over the record of the preceding year. The majority of these strikes were not of long duration and lasted only a few days at most, having been adjusted by mutual concessions. The principal seat of labor disturbance has been in the clothing trade in New York city and Brooklyn. The manufacture of clothing has become financially one of the most important industries in this country. The business done in the metropolitan district alone annually amounts to $50,000,000, while an additional sum of $10,000,000 represents the nearly equally important industry of making cloaks and suits for women.

Hunger's Revolt in Montreal.

A few days ago 3,000 unemployed gathered outside the city hall in Montreal and demanded relief of the mayor. William Darrington, a prominent labor leader, said to the mayor that thousands of workmen of Montreal were in a desperate frame of mind because of their impoverished condition. Many cases of death by actual starvation had been brought to his own personal knowledge. As a representative of the Knights of Labor he would tell the mayor that the men were not going to lie down peaceably to die of starvation in a country where there was plenty of food and where others were living in luxury. He hoped no violence would be indulged in if the men were driven to the use of guns and dynamite labor organizations would not be to blame, for they were losing their influence over the men on account of their starving condition.

Against the Blacklist.

In his message to the state legislature Governor Upham of Wisconsin says: "It is for the public interest that, so far as may be, every individual, sober and competent man be employed. I can not regard an arrangement among a large number of employers not to employ or permit to be employed, if they can prevent it, competent and faithful men, simply because they quit the service of some other employer, as a conspiracy which should not be tolerated by the law. The employer has no right to be protected by the law against a conspiracy on the part of employees that employees have to be protected by law against a conspiracy on the part of employers. This exemption of employers or laboring men from persecution by employers for quitting is peculiarly important in this day of commercial distress."

THE DISTRICT COURT

Indictment Against a Person Not Yet Arrested Found by the Grand Jury—Several Prisoners Discharged.

Criminal Calendar Will Probably be Called For Trial by Wednesday Next—Setting of Cases.

A. G. Highton Has Entered a Demurrer to the Indictment Against Him Which Will be Argued on Monday.

The grand jury yesterday returned an indictment for a person who is yet at large and a bench warrant was issued for him. William Hall, accused of arson at Mountain Iron, and William Harper, of Tower, accused of a crime against nature, were ordered discharged. The jury was in session all the morning and adjourned at 1 o'clock until Monday morning.

Several indictments were found but they will not be presented until Monday morning.

Yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Marcus W. Bates against the B. B. Richards Lumber company took the case under consideration. They were out all night, and this morning they reported that they had been unable to agree upon a verdict. They were discharged. This is the third trial of the case. The jury in the case of Timothy Vaughn against John McCarthy returned a sealed verdict, which will be opened Monday morning.

The following call of jury cases for next week exhausts the jury calendar, except the criminal cases:

Monday—105, 108, 110, 117, 118, 120, 121, 124, 125, 128, 130, 133.

Tuesday—144, 145, 147, 154, 161, 163, 165, 167, 170.

Wednesday—182, 184, 185, 186, 190, 20, 65, 71, 73.

Thursday—82, 90, 92, 133, 146, 173, 80.

The criminal cases will probably be taken up about Wednesday.

Highton Entered a Demurrer.

The prisoners indicted by the grand jury were arraigned to plead at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When A. G. Highton appeared M. H. Crocker, his attorney, entered a demurrer to the indictment on the ground that the charges set forth in the indictment did not conform to the law and that the facts stated did not constitute a public offense. A similar demurrer was sustained last term. The demurrer will be argued Monday.

Nils Hanson pleaded not guilty of grand larceny in the second degree, and J. L. Shelton pleaded not guilty of uttering a forged time check. John Dewar and Samuel Cody pleaded not guilty to charges of uttering forged checks.

In the false imprisonment case of F. C. Palmer against William Abrahamson, Judge Moer yesterday afternoon instructed the jury to find for the defendant.

The Special Term.

There were thirty-six cases in the special term calendar and although the morning session did not begin to reach the end of them, none were of especial interest. In the matter of the assignment of H. H. Bertrand, Judge Lewis made an order allowing the final account of D. W. Scott, the assignee, and providing for his discharge and the release of his bondsmen.

In the divorce case of J. A. Dalgleish against Annie Dalgleish the plaintiff was ordered to pay to the defendant $30 additional for attorney's fees and expenses.

In B. F. Nelson against Nugent & Brown the demurrer was ordered stricken out by Judge Moer. Judgments were ordered set aside in the cases of S. W. Carmichael and J. T. Lowery against the city.

MUST WORK TO KEEP UP

Few Physicians Try to Cover the Wide Field of Science.

TENDENCY OF THE TIME

One All-Important Branch of Medicine Strangely Neglected Until Independent Discovery Made Great Strides—Millions Have Been Rescued.

"My physician goes hand in hand with my pastor."

This remark was made by the late J. G. Holland, himself a doctor, and it was true. The work done by the medical profession of America is vast and valuable. So vast indeed that few physicians are able to cover the entire field of practice, but select special departments in which to become proficient. It is perhaps strange that so few doctors have made a specialty of studying or treating the most important organs of the body, which are the kidneys, but such nevertheless is a fact. It is probably because these organs are so wonderfully delicate and uncertain, have so few recognizable symptoms when they are deranged, and, in fact, assume the symptoms that are also the cause of most other diseases. It was to independent discovery to produce a remedy especially adapted for the kidneys, liver and other organs, and so efficient has this discovery been during the past twenty years that it is unhesitatingly acknowledged by the medical profession and scientists generally, as a sovereign remedy for these troubles. It is need less to say that it is Warner's Safe Cure.

While millions of people have been rescued from sickness and are kept in health by the use of this great remedy, comparatively few realize how great is its purity and power. It soothes all inflammation, fevers, irregularity or similar troubles of these and adjacent organs and leads the sufferer back to health and away from misery. If you, therefore, are a sufferer from any of these troubles, while you may have your regular physician, it is not necessary that you should call upon him, for you have a means of restoring your health within easy reach. Every intelligent man or woman who stops to reflect realizes this, and in time of trouble should act upon it.

THE NEW BILLS TODAY.

St. Paul, Feb. 9.—Senator Cronkite introduced a bill requiring that all natural stone used in the construction of public buildings or other structures, for which funds are appropriated by the state shall be quarried, cut and dressed within the boundaries of the state, except where the cost is less for outside than native stone. The bill in no way prohibits the use of slate, marble or other stone for interior decorations.

Senator Knutson's latest bill amends the law relating to common carriers. It provides that railroad companies can be compelled to put in side tracks where the stations are but eight miles apart.

Senator A. G. Johnson introduced a bill changing the name of the Minnesota reform school to the Minnesota state training school for boys and girls.

Senator Hodge put in a bill intending to assist the paper at Hinckley to become a legal newspaper.

Senator Hodge also introduced a bill relative to mineral leases. It re-enacts the law of 1889 relating to the taking out of leases, except that it provides that no timber rights go with the lease, the state reserving the right to sell the timber on mineral land.

Senator Morgan introduced a corrupt practice act. It is drawn on the same plan as the act in California in the summer of 1891.

Senator Vilas is Firm.

A private letter has been received from Senator Vilas, of Wisconsin, in which he says that he will continue his objections until he is convinced that the timber rights go with the lease, the state reserving the right to sell the timber on mineral land.

Will Pay Their Clerks.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The house by a vote of 124 to 50 today voted to pay members' individual clerks $300 per month during the recess of congress.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of William J. Bettingen and Miss Mary C. McFerran is announced. Miss McFerran is a daughter of Robert McFerran, the well known mining man. Mr. Bettingen is a member of the firm of Ryan, McKewen & Co., grain dealers and is a board of trade member. He has lived at the head of the lakes for five years and has a large circle of friends on both sides of the bay.

Grumbling.

Remember the lecture on "Grumbling" by Rev. W. W. Dawley at the First Baptist church, Wednesday evening, Feb. 13. Tickets 25 cents. The Fairbault Democrat says: "It is seldom that the rare combination of entertainment and profit is so thoroughly effected."

I. O. O. F.

Odd Fellows are specially invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. John Douglas, wife of John Douglas, tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the hall at 200 p. m. to accompany the remains from the hall, where services will be conducted by Rev. Robert Forbes. The Sisters of the Rebecca degree are cordially invited to attend.

Cuticura Remedies.

A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, will afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy, economical, and permanent cure of the most distressing of itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, and crusted skin and scalp diseases, after physicians, hospitals, and all other methods fail. CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS, and its cures of torturing, disfiguring, humiliating humors are the most wonderful ever recorded in this or any age.

Cuticura Remedies.

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the skin. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running, sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give $100 reward for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure. Send for circular, free.

bill was lost. It was the first bill killed in the senate.

S. F. 9, to provide for the indebtedness of municipal corporations, introduced by Senator Spencer, was passed. It is what is known as the Duluth bill, and is to settle the Oneota and West Duluth indebtedness.

President Day resigned his place on the committee on claims in favor of Senator Heelan, and his place on the existing committee in favor of Senator McArthur.

The senate went into committee of the whole, with Senator Collette in the chair. S. F. 113, to amend section 6, chapter 151, general laws of 1881, introduced by Senator Wyman, was recommended to pass.

S. F. 55 was referred to the judiciary committee. It is the bill regulating fishing in international waters. An attempt was made to have Lake Superior excluded. A recess was taken until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

This Afternoon's Doings.

St. Paul, Feb. 9.—Both houses are in committee of the whole on general orders. Minor bills are at the head of the list in the senate.

In the house, the Cant indebtedness bill was favorably acted upon, as also was the Robillard bill forbidding the transfer of liquor licenses.

It seems probable the new capitol bill may be reached this afternoon in the house as it is near the top. The house has recommended to pass the Wyman bill for an increased judiciary appropriation, being one of the bills recommended in the governor's message.

THE NEW BILLS TODAY.

St. Paul, Feb. 9.—Senator Cronkite introduced a bill requiring that all natural stone used in the construction of public buildings or other structures, for which funds are appropriated by the state shall be quarried, cut and dressed within the boundaries of the state, except where the cost is less for outside than native stone. The bill in no way prohibits the use of slate, marble or other stone for interior decorations.

Senator Knutson's latest bill amends the law relating to common carriers. It provides that railroad companies can be compelled to put in side tracks where the stations are but eight miles apart.

Senator A. G. Johnson introduced a bill changing the name of the Minnesota reform school to the Minnesota state training school for boys and girls.

Senator Hodge put in a bill intending to assist the paper at Hinckley to become a legal newspaper.

Senator Hodge also introduced a bill relative to mineral leases. It re-enacts the law of 1889 relating to the taking out of leases, except that it provides that no timber rights go with the lease, the state reserving the right to sell the timber on mineral land.

Senator Morgan introduced a corrupt practice act. It is drawn on the same plan as the act in California in the summer of 1891.

Senator Vilas is Firm.

A private letter has been received from Senator Vilas, of Wisconsin, in which he says that he will continue his objections until he is convinced that the timber rights go with the lease, the state reserving the right to sell the timber on mineral land.

Will Pay Their Clerks.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The house by a vote of 124 to 50 today voted to pay members' individual clerks $300 per month during the recess of congress.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of William J. Bettingen and Miss Mary C. McFerran is announced. Miss McFerran is a daughter of Robert McFerran, the well known mining man. Mr. Bettingen is a member of the firm of Ryan, McKewen & Co., grain dealers and is a board of trade member. He has lived at the head of the lakes for five years and has a large circle of friends on both sides of the bay.

Grumbling.

Remember the lecture on "Grumbling" by Rev. W. W. Dawley at the First Baptist church, Wednesday evening, Feb. 13. Tickets 25 cents. The Fairbault Democrat says: "It is seldom that the rare combination of entertainment and profit is so thoroughly effected."

I. O. O. F.

Odd Fellows are specially invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. John Douglas, wife of John Douglas, tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the hall at 200 p. m. to accompany the remains from the hall, where services will be conducted by Rev. Robert Forbes. The Sisters of the Rebecca degree are cordially invited to attend.

NO LIVES WERE LOST.

The Storm on the Cape Breton Coast Was Severe.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 9.—The latest information from Cape Breton indicates that the recent storm has been the most destructive experienced there in thirty years. Great damage was done at South Ingonish, and for thirty miles along the Gulf shore.

The nineteen houses and three stores washed away were built on a narrow rocky peninsula, called "The Beach," which divides the beach from the harbor. Less than 100 people live in the hamlet. No lives were lost.

AN ABSCONDER PERISHED.

One of the Victims of the Elbe Disaster Was an Absconder.

LOWESTOWN, Feb. 11.—A man who attended the inquest on the body of one of the passengers of the Elbe, supposed to be that of Edward Muszkowitz, declared himself to be the real Edward Muszkowitz and said that the body was that of a man named Guttman, his brother-in-law, who had absconded from Budapest, taking the witness' passport, cards, etc., and securing a second cabin passage to New York.

Guttman, who was accompanied by his brother Adolph and his sister, lost 300,000 gulden in bank speculation and made good his losses with the funds of a company of which he was a director.

Guttman's sister had booked as Estelle Golder and she had 16,000 gulden when drowned. The coroner's jury expressed themselves as satisfied with Muszkowitz's evidence.

STRANDED ON A REEF.

The Steamer Cienfuegos Struck a Reef and All on Board Saved.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The Ward line steamer Santiago, Capt. Leighton, arrived from Nassau today, bringing First Assistant Engineer Underwood and thirty-nine members of the crew of the steamer Cienfuegos, stranded at Pierre island, off Harbor island. The officers of the steamer Cienfuegos and a few members of the crew are standing by the vessel's cargo. From one of the crew of the steamer it was learned that on Monday, Feb. 4, at 1:30 a. m., during fresh northwest wind and high sea, the weather being somewhat hazy, the steamer stranded on a reef about five miles north of Harbor island and some forty-five miles north of Nassau. In fifteen minutes after the vessel struck the reef, the fires were put out and within twenty minutes she became full of water.

Preached Over the Telephone.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 11.—The Rev. J. H. He did not attack Col. R. G. Ingersoll, as had been expected, he would, and his auditors were disappointed.

One Body Found.

EASTPORT, N. J., Feb. 11.—The body of an unknown man was found in the surf near the shore at this place last night by one of the crew of the Forge river life saving station. It is supposed to be that of one of the sailors who was lost from the schooner Louise, of this place. The schooner is going to pieces.

STORY OF ADRY.

The Brother of the Man Accused of Murdering Klittie Ging Told His Story Today.

Declares That Harry Wanted Him to Kill Miss Ging and Offered $2000 for the Job.

After the Murder Had Been Committed He Told Adry It Was Like Finding Money.

Dramatic Scene in the Court Room Caused by the Weeping Mother of the Haywards.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 11.—Adry Hayward, the brother of the man accused of murdering Catherine Ging, was in the court room this morning fifteen minutes before the trial began. His wife sat beside him with traces of recent tears upon her cheeks, but Adry maintained a mask of smiles and joviality. When Harry was brought in by the deputies the eyes of the two brothers met, but there was no sign of recognition other than a smile of commiseration on the face of Harry.

Dr. Thaddeus T. Hayward, the third brother, was present, and was visibly more cordial to Harry than to Adry. It is understood that he will go on the stand and swear that his brother Adry is mentally incapable and in fact insane. When asked this morning whether he would be a witness he refused to either affirm or deny it, and when further questioned as to whether Adry is insane he replied: "If he isn't, he's been very near it several times in the past."

The direct examination of ex-Mayor Eustis was resumed at the opening of the court with the story of his interview in the Oneida block with Harry Hayward about the loans he had made Miss Ging. Mr. Eustis interposed an objection that the information given was tainted under duress, but this was overruled and the ex-mayor repeated the now familiar story.

The cross-examination developed nothing but objections from the state, which were sustained and exceptions noted by the defense.

Adrian Hayward was then called to the stand and a buzz of subdued interest went around the court room. He stated that he was 33 and Harry was 29 years of age. He had never seen Harry until twenty-five years ago from Macoupin county, Illinois, where he was born. He was married and had two children. He was employed in his father's office where he transacted most of the loan and rental business. Harry was not employed there but often came there. Harry had told him that last summer that he had been engaged in loaning money on diamonds.

Harry had also told him that he gambled some. He had told him of having loaned money for Miss Ging and having gambled with her money. At this point Mr. Eustis arose and impressively said: "I wish to enter an objection here. This is a delusion as to the subject and is in fact insane."

"I don't see," said the court, "that he is any more insane than some of the attorneys in this case."

"I take an exception to the court's ruling," retorted Eustis, "and to the court's remark before this jury."

With that remark he sat down and the examination proceeded.

"He told me," continued Adry, "that she held some notes secured by a mortgage on a four mill at Hamel, and asked me to go out with him to Hamel and see about it. We drove out, and though I advised him against the loan, he made it. Three weeks later he came in and said he had been very lucky, as the mill had burned and he would probably get the money to handle."

"About the middle of September he asked me if I wanted to make good money, I said yes, and he said I could get about $2000 if I wasn't busy. He asked me if I was willing to kill a woman for $2000. I said I wasn't willing to kill anybody. He said it was easy to do it and nobody would be suspicious of me, as they only looked up a set of criminals who had been convicted of crime before. After that he said he knew a backman who would do anything for him. He said it would be easy to kill her in a back and if necessary the backman could be killed too. I asked him if the backman had a family, and he said he did."

"Then said it would be an awful thing to kill a woman, let alone a backman. After that he suggested getting her drowned in a lake but that looked too much like suicide and he gave it up. Then he wondered how she would fall if he took her buggy riding and they should strike a boulder, whether she would fall in or out. After that he talked about getting her tangled up in the lines and having the horse run away."

Adry then told how on the morning of Nov. 6, Harry had come to his flat. "He took out a package of money," continued Adry, "and asked me if my vault was open. I said no, it was election day. I went with him to breakfast and he said to say nothing of the money, as he was supposed to be busted. He also showed me a pawn ticket and three diamond rings. Then he said he was through with me and that I had better get out. He had found a man, however, who had nerve, an ex-policeman named C. A. Bixt."

"Then he showed me the bills again and I made a play to grab them. He said then he looked like a $100 bill. All the rest looked like $1 bills. Later in the day he told Albert Johnson in our office that he was going to be the millinery and dressmaking business with a little woman who was smart and knew all about it. Johnson advised him not to, as soon as he later the woman would do him up."

Turning to the question of life insurance, the witness said: "He said the dressmaker had been up in the New York Life and had passed the examination all right, but there was some mistake about the papers and they had to be sent back. She had made a mistake in getting a $5000 instead of a $7000 policy. He was quite angry and said: 'Damn her!—he'll ever swear—the fool! I'll kill her now anyhow, if I don't ever get a cent. I'll make more out of it now than she's made such a damn bull out of her money.'

"Then he went into father's office and made out three notes on blank forms. These were signed on a Saturday. Harry told me the dressmaker was coming and said: 'I guess I'll have you sign them as a witness.' I said 'I guess not. I won't have anything to do with it.' Then Harry said: 'I'll get Jack for one then, and Bixt for the other. If you don't want to sign them you'd better get out of here.' I then left to do some collecting and went home to luncheon. He told me on Monday that the notes were signed."

"On Tuesday he wanted me to give a large bill for some $1 bills. I gave him a $20 and a $5 bill. The next day he wanted me to take fifty $1 bills to the bank, get a draft and then change my mind and get other money in its place. He offered me a dollar to do it but I refused. He was quite angry and finally took money myself and used it from time to time. The next time was Friday, Harry came into the office and asked me if it wasn't time to sacrifice the dressmaker."

"I said: 'Harry, you're not going to kill the dressmaker, are you?' He said: 'Yes, we are. She'll have to be the victim this time.' I said: 'Harry you must not do it; it's awful.' He replied: 'She's got to go this time.' I said: 'Harry, you mustn't do this. If you don't quit this idea, I'll report you.' His hands were clutching as I said that and he looked wild. I am not naturally afraid of anybody, but I was afraid of him then. I moved slowly to where my coat and hat were hanging and was just making for the door when Harry came after me quick. He told him to go out and walk until he cooled off. I went out to my room and got my revolver and finally went back to the office. Harry said he would wait for me. I repeated to Harry that he mustn't think of such a thing. He said it was nothing to kill people. He had caused the death of three persons."

"We move to have that struck out," put in Erwin.

"Dead," said the court promptly. "He said," went on the witness, "that he had killed two persons in the East and he had killed a third, but he stopped there. He said he would not do anything more. He also said he had caused a fire in the East where the loss was $150,000. He said he got $25 for doing it. He said he was a very good man. He said he had told him that if he killed her she would haunt him. He said: 'People may dream of such things but if you had the money you would go out and kill somebody. It don't make any difference who, so you kill somebody. Kill a cripple. It's better for them to be dead than to live in misery. Get out and kill someone and I will give you $100.' I asked him how he would know that I had done it, and he said he would see it in the papers. I said I would not do that. That was the last conversation I had with him. I did not want to say anything about it, as it was a family affair, but I went and told Elder Stewart."

"Hold on there," said Erwin, "we object as immaterial."

The objection was sustained, but Adry was allowed to state that he made a communication to Mr. Stewart.

"On Saturday following Harry walked along with me as I was making some collection. He said: 'You'd better be a little careful where you are for the next three or four days. Something may happen to me. I could and I would not do it. He must get me to think of such a thing. That evening he came to my flat and said I had better take my wife and go to the theater. I said I would do so. I was damned pleased. He said something might happen and that my wife's evidence as to my whereabouts would be no good. I stayed alone all the evening. The next morning Harry saw me out looking for a paper. He smiled and asked me if I thought something had happened."

"Shortly after 7:30 on the night of the murder Harry came to my flat and asked me for $5. I gave it to him and then he said: 'I better go to the theater to see the night. Take your wife and go. Something is going to happen.' He seemed a little excited; it is one of the few times I saw him so excited. I took him by the arm and tried to detain him. He shook himself loose and said: 'I've no time to fool now. I'm in a hurry.' My wife sat there rocking the baby."

"Then he asked me to go into his room about 9:30 and see if his revolver was under his pillow. I refused and he then asked me to raise the curtain in my room so that he could see the light about 10 o'clock. I refused to do that too. Then he went away. I asked my wife if she didn't want to go up and make a visit to her father. At first she said she was too tired, but we finally went. When we got home, or shortly afterwards, I heard a quick step in the hallway and then saw a light in Harry's room."

"I heard nothing until 3 in the morning when Harry came to the door and said: 'Something has happened. Miss Ging has been murdered. She was found stone dead in the road near Lake Calhoun. He asked me to come into his flat and I did so. He got out his Colt's revolver and cleaned it. There was very little dirt on it. As he was doing this, he said: 'It's just like picking up money.' Then he lay down on the lounge with his overcoat over him. I went back to my flat. We got up early the next morning to get a paper."

"At this point court took a recess for dinner. There was a dramatic scene after court had adjourned. The mother of the two boys, omitted accused, and the other accused was in the court room and had heard the story that fell from the lips of her eldest brother. She was torn by conflicting emotion, apparently not knowing to which of her two sons to turn."

Finally she put an arm about the neck of each and attempted to draw them together, the tears streaming down her seamed face. But Adry would not be so reconciled. He tore himself away from the mother's embrace with a gasping sob and went out of the court room, while the deputy put the handcuffs on Harry and led him back to the jail.

PANTON & WATSON

DULUTH, MINN.

PATRONS! Have you ever stopped to think what we have done for the residents at the Head of the Lakes? What the prices of Merchandise were when we came here? What poor, incomplete stocks you had to make your selections from? What enormous profits you had to pay, or send away for what you wanted, making extra expense for express or freight. TODAY IT IS DIFFERENT! You can find anything and everything you want in Duluth's Big Store, with variety greater and prices lower than in any other city in America the same size as Duluth.

We now start in a New Year (our ninth) and the beginning of each year has been devoted to details, to the location of departments and the management of our business, in order that our patrons may do their shopping with more ease and comfort. This year has been no exception, and in a few days every department will be ready with largely increased stocks for a big business in 1895.

MILLIONS IN IT

Large Fortunes Which Are Being Made Out of the Natural Resources of St. Louis County.

Pine Land Owners in the Mesaba Range Suddenly Discover Enormous Riches Under Their Feet.

One Firm That Will Have an Income of $2,000,000 From One Piece of Property.

The Great Revenue That Will Be Derived by the State From Its Mineral Leases.

Few people in Duluth have any adequate idea of the immense mineral wealth of St. Louis county and of the great fortunes that have been made and are now being made here. A correspondent of the Chicago Herald has written an article on the subject that will astonish many people who have given this subject but a passing thought. The enormous profit, he says, that is to come to the lumbermen of the state who were fortunate enough to buy pine lands in what is now the greatest mineral region of the United States is almost beyond belief. Who can realize that the owners of pine land in the Mesaba range, living in the cities of Duluth and Minneapolis, and in Chicago, Detroit and Saginaw, will derive an income in the next twenty years that will foot up to the tremendous average of $5,000,000 a year? And these lumbermen are not many. Scarcely a dozen in all the cities outside Saginaw are interested in these lands to such an extent as to derive any considerable income therefrom.

Years ago when the Mesaba country, as it is now known, was valuable only for its pine, there was a buying movement in pine stumps in which the pine land men of the Michigan district, who had been made rich by the increase in the value of their holdings there, saw the same future for the pine of Northern Minnesota as had come to the timber of the Michigan woods. They bought heavily, and as they were the first who saw the drift of things, they bought cheaply, getting a large share of their best holdings for about $1 per acre foot. At that time, they were the first who saw the future of the pine in the market, and besides the Saginaw people, Chicago and Detroit lumbermen, who had interests in the Saginaw country, also bought. The minds of very few were then any glimmering suspicion that the lands they were getting so cheaply were good for anything besides lumber. The vast wealth that lay a few feet underground was hidden and was not dreamed of.

The timber estimators and loggers tramped over the country for years, looking up into the trees, and not at the ground where the vaster fortunes lay, satisfied with what they were getting for the pine. And they made well, for the most of that pine bought by these speculators and loggers has since been sold at from $3 to $4 a thousand, or can be converted into lumber in a way that will bring that same $3 to $4 a thousand. The three or four fold profit was generally made by the time the pine was cut, and three years ago an explorer, more or less of an upstart pine wad who knew to be true, though it was different from ore from any he had seen before. And then began the development of the Mesaba.

Leased Their Properties. In the early days of the range some of the lumbering companies and timber owners sold their lands outright, reserving only the pine, but the majority kept title, leasing to mining corporations at a specified rate per ton and at a certain minimum tonnage per annum. One Minnesota concern, the Croquet Lumber company, sold in the first winter of the mining craze a vast quantity of land, getting for it sums variously estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000, and as much of the land has proved valueless for mineral the company has no cause for regret.

If you must draw the line at lard

and have, like thousands of other people, to avoid all food prepared with it, this is to remind you that there is a clean, delicate and healthful vegetable shortening, which can be used in its place. If you will instead of lard, you can eat pie, pastry and the other "good things" which other folks enjoy, without fear of dyspeptic consequences. De-liverance from lard has come. Buy a pail, try it in your own kitchen, and be convinced. Beware of imitations.

Sold in 5 and 6 pound pails, by all grocers.

Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

Great regret, though leases would have probably ultimately brought it many times the larger sum. A. M. Miller, a Duluth lumberman, who had large holdings in the region, sold $750,000 worth of lands, not one acre of which has so far proved to be worth a cent for mineral. It contains, it is all north of Duluth. The new notorious A. J. Whigmore, wanted in Chicago and New York for bank and race track forgeries, who was then a pine land owner, sold for a few thousands what is now the Lone Jack mine, one of the best of the Rockefeller group, and from which the owners are sure of an annual income of $250,000. The O. T. Higgins estate, the largest individual owner of pine lands in America, sold what have since turned out extremely rich mineral lands to the Rockwell-Roy Iron company, of Duluth, while John S. Pillsbury and others, of Minneapolis, sold interests in what are now some of the finest mines in the region, to men who agreed to develop them, and for little more than the cost of development. Aside from these all the lands in the region, except a few mines, are the district owned by the commonwealth of Minnesota, are the absolute property of a few pine men. Of these, Wright & Davis, of Saginaw, are leased a very large number of tracts on 10,000 acres on the west part of the range, and it is on their lands that the Mahoning mines, where over 100,000,000 tons of iron have been already shown, are to be developed. The Higgins and Longyear, Hibbing & Trimble and other operations.

It is expected that the Mahoning company will mine from 400,000 to 750,000 tons annually for the next twenty years, and they pay a royalty of 30 cents on the value of the iron. The Higgins company, from the total of $3,000,000 that Wright & Davis and their heirs will get from this one mine, the lands of the same firm have already shown, and are not less than 25,000,000 tons, on which the royalty will be the same per ton, and explorations are far from ended. The sale to say that $250,000 as an annual average for the next twenty years is none too much to figure for this fortunate firm. The Lake Superior Iron company has leased a very large number of tracts on the west part of the Mesaba, all from lumbermen, Boeing, Hull & Orman, and Detroit, W. K. Burt, of Saginaw, and Burrows, Kist & Rolf, of Saginaw, being the larger lessors. This company has from these men iron showings nearly as great as those of the Mahoning company, and they are immediately returned to the mines, and showing Toppings the likelihood, induced him to abandon his attempt to jump the mine.

As showing the value to the owners of these lands may be instanced, a single 60-acre tract bought by the Burt company, which test borings and careful explorations have shown 15,000,000 tons of excellent ore. This is leased to the Lake Superior Iron company. In other words, Mr. Burt will get $1,500,000 from these sixty acres, for, if the present leases fall to him, or if, some day, the twenty years' lease in twenty years is specified. And the same individual nearly 1800 acres, all as well located as the least he could have explored. The probabilities are that a good share of this will have ore in it. The various small tracts of land owned by the Lake Superior company are reasonably sure of an income before their lands are exhausted of not less than $200,000, and it is likely that twenty years will not exhaust the ore taken. The John D. Rockefeller syndicate has an operative lease of these lands from the Lake Superior company.

The lands of the great Adams mine are owned by George O. Robinson and Eliza Flynn, of Detroit; S. J. Murphy and T. D. Davis, of Saginaw; and J. M. Fisher, of Chicago. The company will pay a royalty of 35 cents after the first two years, and their total payment in the first year is estimated at $500,000. The Biwabik, with 20,000,000 tons of ore, is owned by Chicago lumbermen, represented by John M. Williams, and the 50 cents per ton. There are from this lease runs about eighteen years from this date. The same owners hold the McKinley and enough other properties on the east part of the range to make another 20,000,000 tons, and a total royalty of not less than $5,000,000. Hill & Bliss, of Saginaw, have mines on the range, for which they have taken $100,000 as a bonus, retaining the fee, and securing a 25-cent royalty. This will net them several millions in the life of the leases, which are for twenty years. The Higgins and Longyear, Hibbing & Trimble, and other mines, being opened by A. E. Humphreys and others, for which he receives royalties of 30 cents a ton. There are not less than 25,000,000 tons on his lands, and though none of them are being operated now, they will be.

Will Receive a Big Income. The C. N. Nelson Lumber company, of St. Paul, has sold to a Duluth syndicate the lease on a large tract of Mesaba lands, reserving the pine, for $250,000, at a royalty of 30 cents a ton. The Duluth men afterward sold their lease to the Minnesota Iron company for $425,000. This company will mine from these lands from 70,000 to 150,000 tons a year and will pay about 25 cents a ton royalty for the term of the lease. The lumber company can figure safely on an income from the east part of the range of about $250,000 a year. The Higgins and Longyear, Hibbing & Trimble, and other mines, being opened by A. E. Humphreys and others, for which he receives royalties of 30 cents a ton. There are not less than 25,000,000 tons on his lands, and though none of them are being operated now, they will be.

Heart Disease. Fluttering, No Appetite, Could not Sleep, Wind on Stomach. "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I could not sweep a room without resting. My husband induced me to try

GOSSIP OF CONGRESS.

A Minority Report Against Bill Giving Federal Judges Jurisdiction in Regard to Election Contests.

Called a Dangerous Assault Upon One of the Most Precious Safeguards of Popular Liberties.

Effort to Break Down the Barriers Between What Were Intended to be Separate Parts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Representatives Breckner, Lockwood, Brown and Jones, members of the elections committee, have united in a minority report against the bill reported by the majority giving to the United States district judges the jurisdiction to determine the prima facie right of a member-elect to his seat pending a final decision by the house itself. The argument of the minority, the majority asserts, is really directed against the wisdom of that provision of the constitution which makes each house of congress the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its members. It is in the opinion of the minority a dangerous assault upon what we consider one of the most precious safeguards of the rights and liberties of the people, placed by the fathers, in order that it might be secure, in the organic law of the land. It is a serious impingement of our system of popular government. Attempt to Jump a Mine.

A Bartender Tried to Jump a Rich Mine in British Columbia.

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 11.—A story has just leaked out that a man named Toppings, a bartender, made an attempt to jump the famous War Eagle mine, a gold and copper mine in Trail creek, British Columbia, valued at $1,000,000. Patsy Clark, the millionaire miner, who is president of the War Eagle company, was wired at Spokane of the situation and danger of the mine being jumped. He, with D. C. Corbin, president of the Spokane & Northern railroad, and also a stockholder in the mine, ordered out a special engine and coach, and a mile a minute gat was struck for Nelson, B. C., 200 miles north of here, where a new license was secured, the old one having expired.

Under the Canadian mining laws it is necessary to take out a license in order to work or hold any mining property. Clark then immediately returned to the mines, and showing Toppings the likelihood, induced him to abandon his attempt to jump the mine.

Declared a Protectorate.

Report That Admiral Beardsley Has Seized Pearl Island.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The Examiner prints a story from its correspondent at Honolulu to the effect that Admiral Beardsley has taken possession of Pearl Island and declared a protectorate over the Hawaiian islands. The news came to Victoria by the steamer Warwico.

Both Fatally Shot.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 11.—Shortly after midnight last night twenty men, armed with revolvers, shot and killed two Mexican laborers, quarreled over local politics. They both began shooting at each other and the duel resulted in the death of both. The bodies were shot through the body, while Maldonado was shot four times. Both are fatally wounded.

Chicago's Building Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The senate amendments to the Chicago building bill were agreed to by the house today without discussion. The bill will be taken at once to the president for his signature.

Lewon Wants to be Governor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The World this morning says: Senator Lewon has set the stakes of his ambition. He wants to be the next Republican candidate for governor. He announced himself to a party of friends at the Hotel Metropole recently, and one of the gentlemen present is authority for the statement that the Nyack statesman pounded the table and declared "the people of this state are with me and will be with me, Parkhurst or no Parkhurst."

Tourists Rehearsed in Mexico.

OAXACA, Mex., Feb. 11.—Three American tourists, who were rehearsed in the state of Chiapas, to make explorations of the ancient Aztec cities of that section, were brought to a halt by a band of robbers who were attacking them in the village of San Javier by a band of Guatemala robbers and robbed of all the money and valuables they carried.

The Missouri Frozen.

KANSAS, Feb. 11.—For miles through Kansas the Missouri river has been frozen solid for fifteen years.

STILL MISSING

No News Has Yet Been Received as to the Overdue French Liner La Gasconne.

Three Steamships Arrived at New York This Morning, But Had Not Sighted the Vessel.

The Hope Has Not Been Abandoned Yet That She Will Soon Be Heard From.

May Have Been Disabled and Carried by Winds to the Azores or to Bermuda.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The French liner La Gasconne is eight days overdue today, and all steamers which reached port today report having seen nothing of the missing vessel. La Normandie, a sister ship of La Gasconne, anchored outside Sandy Hook lightship at 1:40 this morning and in response to signals announced that she had not sighted La Gasconne during her voyage. La Normandie passed in at Sandy Hook at 7:45 this morning and reached quarantine about an hour later.

The Maandam, from Rotterdam and the Dania, from Hamburg, both have the same story to tell, "nothing of La Gasconne and the fact that she has not been sighted in the regular track of steamers, both westward and eastward bound, seems to be conclusive proof that her progress is hampered by damage to her machinery and that she is drifting or has been blown far out of her course."

As the winds which have prevailed recently have been mostly from the northwest the probability is that her course would be toward the Azores, although there is a possibility that she may be heard from at Bermuda. Notwithstanding that she is so long overdue, the hope has not been abandoned that La Gasconne will soon be heard from.

Agent Forget now hopes that one of the steamships due from Gibraltar may bring news of La Gasconne, which is the Atlantic, Valencia, St. Oswald, Bolivia and Letimso. All are due today.

SUICIDE BY STYRECHINE.

A Prominent Business Man of Arkansas Took His Own Life.

FAVETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 11.—A sensation has been created here by J. L. Dickson, a prominent young business man of this city, committing suicide by taking styrene. He had been cashier of the McElroy Banking company up to Jan. 1, and since that an investigation of his books showed a shortage of $10,000. His bondsmen were so notified, and they went to his residence to get a statement from him. While they were there he went out, took the poison and died in fifteen minutes.

Married at Ninety-Three.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 11.—Margaret Taylor, aged 52, colored, walked into the probate judge's court on the arm of Mitchell Jones, also colored, aged 93 years, and they were married. When the groom gave his bride the traditional "I do," it was not possible that he was mistaken about his age. "Wal, I guess I'm right," said the old man. "I was a slave when Jefferson was president of the United States." The judge took him at his word and recorded him as 93 years.

Threatens to Sue Them.

PARIS, Ill., Feb. 11.—Curtis Hunter who married Maggie Bradshaw, of Fairchild, in this city last week, threatens to seek legal redress from Litchfield, Paige and others who had Deputy Sheriff Edmunds come here from Taylorville to arrest him. He was reported to be a Free Methodist preacher, with three wives; also a dead beat. It is said to be a case of mistaken identity. The bigamist is wanted in Vermont.

Died From Old Age.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 11.—Gen. Montgomery Corse died here today at his residence on North Washington street from old age and general debility. He was born in Alexandria in 1816 and served all through the Mexican war as captain of an Alexandria company. When the civil war broke out he was made colonel of a Virginia regiment.

Having a Hard Time.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 11.—Rev. C. S. Snyder, of the Nazarene agency at Fort Defiance who in this city says the Indians are having a hard time to exist this winter. Their wool crop was hardly worth shipping and they raised no grain last year.

Worst on Record.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The big storm which has been raging for a week past shows no signs of abatement. For prolonged severity it is the worst experienced here in twenty years. The thermometer has averaged to degrees below zero with the wind blowing thirty or forty miles an hour for several days.

Snow in Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 11.—The sunny South woke up this morning to find itself covered with a heavy blanket of snow. Snow began falling at 12:30 and it continued at intervals until daylight. It is now three and a half inches deep on the level. Street car traffic is practically abandoned for the time.

Charges Sustained.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The civil service commission has completed its investigation of the San Francisco customs house. The report has not been made public, but it is understood that the charges of partisan removals and other violations of the civil service laws.

FUTURE OF THE IMPENITENT.

Dr. Thoburn Talks on Future Punishment to a Large Congregation.

Every available seat was taken at the First Methodist church last night. The hymns for the service were printed on slips of paper, so that all could participate in the singing. The Gounod choir sang an anthem and the ladies of the choir alone sang a most beautiful selection. Below is a brief epitome of the sermon, the subject of which was "Future Punishment."

"If they had often these cut off, it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two hands to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched—where the worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched—Mark ix, 43, 44.

The matchless sermon on the mount is as full of warnings and denunciations as it is of beatitudes. The strongest expressions ever formulated concerning the future of the impenitent were the two edged words of Him who spoke as never man spoke.

No one ever answered so many human questions about the future as Jesus. He found vague and indefinite theories cherished by men concerning future rewards and punishments as the consistent sequel of this life. Mythology had its Tartarus as well as its paradise. Forbidding of wrath to come belonged to natural religion; it seems to have been in accordance with human conscience. Jesus gathered up the fragments of human thinking about the future and restated it in language that could be understood. As a rule we are glad to hear Him when heaven is His theme. Let us not turn away when He speaks of hell. He taught very clearly the future state of both the good and bad. According to Him, there is to be a complete and final separation between the good and the bad at the end of the world. There is to be a fixity of character and condition with respect to both the good and bad in the world to come. The good are to be rewarded and those who do wickedly are to be punished in a future state of existence. Hell is a necessity of sin. Sin is a crime against the Ruler of the universe. God is not spiteful against sinners. He does all in His power to save them. But when they will not He simply allows cause to operate. There is nothing strange about eternal punishment, it is the inevitable end of such a career of sin.

The imagery which Jesus used to teach this doctrine has often been misinterpreted. He spoke of the valley of Gehenna, where the dead bodies of criminals were cast. Fire was used to illustrate where the fire was never quenched. The awful image of fire was used to illustrate it, but it was evident that the valley was something far worse. The worm and the fire are not in God's hand but in the sinner's heart.

The thralldom of hell is the thralldom of character. This world with all its goods taken out of it would be a terrible hell. Dr. Thoburn makes everything of God's love and nothing of His holiness as one of the many ways men have of avoiding the eternity of punishment. He next took up restorationism, and showed its folly in the fact that men are less able to change as they grow older. The man who rejects God's plan of salvation to-night will not feel any more like doing so 100 years hence. If God's love can save a man, His chastisements cannot. The doctrine of annihilation was next discussed. Its unscriptural and illogical claims briefly shown.

In closing Dr. Thoburn spoke of the numbers of the lost as being few in comparison with the saved. There are no children in hell, never was, never will be. All men out of every nation who live up to all the light God gives them, who choose light rather than darkness will be saved. Hell will be the lot of the minority. God has ever tried to keep everyone from such a destiny. That is His mightiest effort now. But when a man strikes defiant love in the face and sets his defiant heel on the bleeding body of Calvary's victim, God cannot do anything with him. No one decides that man's destiny unless the flames of the future burn him.

At the conclusion of the sermon Mr. Baker sang very effectively, a gospel hymn entitled "I Have a Savior."

HE FAVORS CORBETT.

Billy Edwards Thinks the Champion Will Whip Fitzsimmons.

THE EX-LIGHTWEIGHT ON BOXING.

He Does Not Believe That Public Sentiment and Laws Will Kill Sport in the Squared Circle—Why Champion Corbett Should Defeat the Clevelander.

When James J. Corbett and Robert Fitzsimmons met within the squared circle, the event will mark an epoch in the history of the sport. That they will meet I have not the slightest doubt. For the future of the sport, in deference to the sentimentality which at times sweeps over a community, must have that will give a temporary reprieve to the grand old game which had its beginning long before the Christian era, and which will continue to be a part of the life of the world as long as there is a man who will take up a prize of money for a fight.

I speak this frankly. I am a firm upholder of law and order, but I candidly believe that many unwise laws are yearly added to the statute books. Enactment against boxing is one of these.

But to return to the subject. Corbett and Fitzsimmons will meet. Where they will meet is always a way. They may meet in New Orleans or Jacksonville, as they now propose, but they will come together in some point, more likely Miami.

In this position I am supported by a real "reformer," the Hon. Thomas Hughes, author of "Tom Brown's School Days," "The Manliness of Christ" and other famous works. Thomas Hughes has been a member of parliament since 1880, and is now a wealthy philanthropic gentleman of deep religious convictions and beloved of all classes in the world.

None of you will be the worse, but very much the better for learning to box well. Should you never have to use it in earnest, it will be a most useful thing for the temper and for the muscles of the back and legs.

As to fighting, keep out of it if you can. By all means, when the time comes, if it ever should, that you have to say "Yes" or "No" to a challenge to fight, say "No" if you can only take care to make it clear. It is a proof of the highest courage if done from true Christian motives. It is quite right and justifiable if done from a sense of duty to ourselves, and a sense of duty to others. But don't say "No" because you fear a licking and say or think it is because you fear God. That is neither Christian nor manly.

Thomas Hughes has this ably discussed boxing from a moral standpoint. Its physical and moral aspects, as described by the London Lancet, the greatest medical authority in the world. "A knowledge of the human frame and of its uses as a means of self defense, has the additional recommendation of being one of the most healthful exercises by which the vigor of the human frame may be improved. The whole body partakes of its beneficial consequences, the muscular conformation is brought into beneficial action, and the nervous energies of the system gradually but not effectually developed. As the health of the mind is influenced by the health of the body, additional stimulus to the pursuit of athletic exercise more to be commended or which ought to be more universally encouraged."

I trust these two pithy extracts will catch the eye of some well meaning "reformers" even if my own philosophizing does not.

John S. Johnson's new Ice Wheel. The new Johnson's famous bicyclist and skater, has built what he calls a skacycle, a machine part bicycle and part sled, for fast work on the ice. Tom Kok Johnson's manager, believes that the young wheelman can fly over the ice on the skacycle at the rate of 100 miles an hour. So called skacycles and other non-descripts of the skate and cycle combination.

Johnson and his skacycle. Johnson kind have seldom used the theory of the skacycle, but he is very confident of success in this instance.

Johnson is also to have a tandem machine for the ice, upon which he is skating now. This machine will attempt to do a little flying for records, and O'Connor will ride a single arrangement with nothing as predecessor to Johnson. In this machine will be fitted with a long, steel roller in front and a claw attachment to the rear, for fast work on the ice. It will be 100 inches and the single machine to about 80 inches as against the 68 or 70 to the machine which is now on the market.

In Corbett, however, we have an extraordinary man. He is by far the cleverest and quickest big man, both with hands and feet, in the ring today. He can carry himself with all the ease and lightness of a feather in the wind. He will probably weigh 30 pounds more than Fitzsimmons when they cross arms, and the extra weight will be no detriment. It is in my opinion to Corbett's benefit. What I think will be a main factor in Corbett's favor is the slight advantage he has in the way of height and reach. This, with the slightly greater speed of hand and feet, will be a main factor in Corbett's favor. He is a clever, strong, enduring, in the last named quality he is Corbett's equal. He is, too, probably just as strong. Some people indeed say he can hit a harder blow than the Clevelander. If he lands his terrible right on Corbett's jaw as he did on Jim Hall's, it will be all day with "Gentleman Jim." I do not think he can do it. Corbett will be very good on the constant lookout for what he calls "freak" blows. He will, in my opinion, fight a cautious, skillful battle, and it will not be until he sees Bob going that he will take any chances at free play. I expect to see a great contest of skill and endurance, with Corbett the victor.

Should Corbett win, he would undoubtedly announce his retirement from the ring, and the rest of the boys could battle among themselves for the pennant. Should Fitzsimmons win, he would probably have Peter Maher, Jim Hall, Joe Chynski and a lot of rising, ambitious fellows hot on his trail. In either event the good old game would be kept alive. I earnestly trust that the boys who are called "reformers" cannot kill boxing any more than they can kill baseball, cricket, football, golf, tennis, and other sports. It will last to the end of time. How foolish, too, it is to decry the grand old sport, which our fathers and grandfathers practiced before us! Show me a people who practices boxing, and I will show you a brave, noble, chivalrous, and self-reliant race of men.

By all means, when the time comes, if it ever should, that you have to say "Yes" or "No" to a challenge to fight, say "No" if you can only take care to make it clear. It is a proof of the highest courage if done from true Christian motives. It is quite right and justifiable if done from a sense of duty to ourselves, and a sense of duty to others. Should Corbett win, he would undoubtedly announce his retirement from the ring, and the rest of the boys could battle among themselves for the pennant. Should Fitzsimmons win, he would probably have Peter Maher, Jim Hall, Joe Chynski and a lot of rising, ambitious fellows hot on his trail. In either event the good old game would be kept alive. I earnestly trust that the boys who are called "reformers" cannot kill boxing any more than they can kill baseball, cricket, football, golf, tennis, and other sports. It will last to the end of time. How foolish, too, it is to decry the grand old sport, which our fathers and grandfathers practiced before us! Show me a people who practices boxing, and I will show you a brave, noble, chivalrous, and self-reliant race of men.

By all means, when the time comes, if it ever should, that you have to say "Yes" or "No" to a challenge to fight, say "No" if you can only take care to make it clear. It is a proof of the highest courage if done from true Christian motives. It is quite right and justifiable if done from a sense of duty to ourselves, and a sense of duty to others. But don't say "No" because you fear a licking and say or think it is because you fear God. That is neither Christian nor manly.

Thomas Hughes has this ably discussed boxing from a moral standpoint. Its physical and moral aspects, as described by the London Lancet, the greatest medical authority in the world. "A knowledge of the human frame and of its uses as a means of self defense, has the additional recommendation of being one of the most healthful exercises by which the vigor of the human frame may be improved. The whole body partakes of its beneficial consequences, the muscular conformation is brought into beneficial action, and the nervous energies of the system gradually but not effectually developed. As the health of the mind is influenced by the health of the body, additional stimulus to the pursuit of athletic exercise more to be commended or which ought to be more universally encouraged."

I trust these two pithy extracts will catch the eye of some well meaning "reformers" even if my own philosophizing does not.

John S. Johnson's new Ice Wheel. The new Johnson's famous bicyclist and skater, has built what he calls a skacycle, a machine part bicycle and part sled, for fast work on the ice. Tom Kok Johnson's manager, believes that the young wheelman can fly over the ice on the skacycle at the rate of 100 miles an hour. So called skacycles and other non-descripts of the skate and cycle combination.

Johnson and his skacycle. Johnson kind have seldom used the theory of the skacycle, but he is very confident of success in this instance.

Johnson is also to have a tandem machine for the ice, upon which he is skating now. This machine will attempt to do a little flying for records, and O'Connor will ride a single arrangement with nothing as predecessor to Johnson. In this machine will be fitted with a long, steel roller in front and a claw attachment to the rear, for fast work on the ice. It will be 100 inches and the single machine to about 80 inches as against the 68 or 70 to the machine which is now on the market.

In Corbett, however, we have an extraordinary man. He is by far the cleverest and quickest big man, both with hands and feet, in the ring today. He can carry himself with all the ease and lightness of a feather in the wind. He will probably weigh 30 pounds more than Fitzsimmons when they cross arms, and the extra weight will be no detriment. It is in my opinion to Corbett's benefit. What I think will be a main factor in Corbett's favor is the slight advantage he has in the way of height and reach. This, with the slightly greater speed of hand and feet, will be a main factor in Corbett's favor. He is a clever, strong, enduring, in the last named quality he is Corbett's equal. He is, too, probably just as strong. Some people indeed say he can hit a harder blow than the Clevelander. If he lands his terrible right on Corbett's jaw as he did on Jim Hall's, it will be all day with "Gentleman Jim." I do not think he can do it. Corbett will be very good on the constant lookout for what he calls "freak" blows. He will, in my opinion, fight a cautious, skillful battle, and it will not be until he sees Bob going that he will take any chances at free play. I expect to see a great contest of skill and endurance, with Corbett the victor.

Should Corbett win, he would undoubtedly announce his retirement from the ring, and the rest of the boys could battle among themselves for the pennant. ## NYE ON SYMPOSIUMS.

He Gives an Account of How These Affairs Are Now Being Conducted at Washington.

A National Pest that Bids Fair to Take Up the Entire Time of Congressmen.

The Power of Imagination, Which Bill Pronounces a Great Thing, Illustrated by a Story.

[Copyright, 1895, by Edgar W. Nye.]
WASHINGTON, D. C.

Since locating here for the winter I have received a number of letters from people who are getting up what they call symposiums on various questions of national interest, like "What woman would you select for a second wife?" and such vital subjects as that.

The writer generally says, for instance: "I am preparing a symposium on the question, 'Do you think that literary work done between meals is likely to endure?'"

"I shall have the opinions of Dr. Talman, Steve Brodie, Mrs. Frank Leslie, Marshall P. Wilder, John L. Sullivan, Rev. Thomas Dixon, Rudyard Kipling,

THE HOTEL COOKROOM.

Mrs. Cleveland, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, General R. Ford Grubb, Li Hung Chang and a diversified opinion also from Millicent Christine, the two-headed nightingale.

"By giving me an answer of 600 to 800 words for publication over your signature you will do me a great favor and aid us in settling this long vexed question regarding literary methods and as to what character of literature and at what time executed must be the literary work to outlive the corroding efforts of creative centuries."

A dozen people reply to this letter. Some are literary, some are pugilists, some are bridge jumpers, some are nobody at all, and you find, after you write your own opinion and see it published, that Mrs. Cleveland did not reply. Only you and Steve Brodie wrote, with the exception of Mr. Seely of the National Shoe and Leather bank, perhaps, or some other person who has risen to prominence at Sing Sing in a purely ephemeral way by means of his pen.

The symposium turns out to be an article of merchandise, not prepared especially for a great magazine, as represented or implied, but to be worked over into soap advertisements and quick cures and heave-ho, know what else. In a clockroom the other day this subject came up, and several senators expressed themselves. They suffer a good deal from miscellaneous pests, because anything addressed to them in care of the United States senate will reach them.

I watched a hotel cookroom of this class yesterday at Willard's. He came into the reading room, with molasses on his whiskers, and I was about to say that he carried strip-teases, but we will let that pass. He watched his chance and slipped a morning paper while the owner was looking the other way. He then gradually worked his way into the most comfortable chair, and after he had read the paper up one side and down the other he espied a spare sheet of hotel writing paper on one table and an envelope on another.

Quick as thought he acquired them and very likely became the head of a "symposium." Such a man like it in his power to annoy a good many industrious people. He can write to congress inside of a week on smelted stationery and ask several hundred other people to please state what their views are on the question, "Did Joan of Arc die right in wearing pants?"

Grave senatorial grandfathers are expected to slum themselves up in the congressional library with a tin bucket of lard and stay there until they settle this question. Fastest people all over the Union are asked to lay aside their various jobs that they may assist in getting together an opinion on a subject which interests nobody but the two-legged "sympietists" with the lillygate beard and the buttonhole bouquet of soft boiled eggs.

Speaking of aesthetic decorations brings to mind a parlor ornament which I saw in a country house last summer. It consisted of a bunch of lily colored hair under a glass receiver which stood on a marble top table in the sitting room. I learned afterward that when little Ambrose was a lad he had fried cake tresses, with a damp welt of this gingery dough in a roll on the top of his head.

Had little Ambrose been called away to his celestial abode we could have stood this perhaps, but he is past 45 now and is his own hostler, I judged, by his general air.

Little Ambrose sells sewing machines and wears an umbrageous beard, thus saving enough necktie money to buy a side bar buggy. His neck has dashes of olive green freckle work on the back and wrinkles across it like small tracks on the beach. He still regards himself as strangely beautiful and rides with one foot outside the buggy, thus exposing to view a tight boot with immoral heels, such boots as those generally worn by the lost and undone.

Looking at little Ambrose at the age of 45, with a self hat, formerly plum colored, but now faded to the color of the Bad Lands, and with that droop and sag of the stomach which tell of salacious biscuits and blue mass, one would think that to burn these old tresses and sell the glasses would be no sin.

He is living with his second wife now and trying to draw her husband's pension, but a hated rival wrote to congress about it, and now little Ambrose has changed his name to Pantaloon.

In Hagenbeck's justly celebrated congress of animals there were at one time 17 ferocious carnivorous animals of different species mixed up together in a big steel cage. They sat around there for half an hour, half of them on the Republican side and half on the Democratic side of the cage, looking fierce for the purpose of earning their salaries, but, in fact, perfectly at peace with each other. There was also a Peckian heronhead that seemed equally at home on both sides.

Seeing the senator from South Carolina continually lingering about Don Cameron's desk the other day reminded me of the peace that seemed to hover around Hagenbeck's.

When Senator Vance was ill in the mountains of his own state and dying not far from his boyhood home, one day Senator Edmunds climbed up from the Black Mountain station and carried with him a basket of Vermont apples.

"I've been thinking of you a good deal of late, Vance," he said, "and trying to think of an excuse for coming down here. I remember that at the Centennial North Carolina took the world's highest award for apples. I had some in my orchard that I thought you might like, so I have brought down a basketful that I picked myself."

The stricken senator was a good deal affected by this, and then there were the two senatorial warriors stacked arms to eat apples and tenderly talk of their peaceful boyhood in widely separated states.

Senator Proctor sheds maple syrup every spring in the senate. He calls it "scattering sweetness on the desert air." By doing this he has convinced the senate that most of our "genuine Vermont maple syrup" is made in Louisiana.

One morning in the house several years ago every member found on his desk a little jar of the finest and most fragrant of Lorrillard's snuff.

Curiosity got the better of discretion, and before the prayer was half completed 27 states had voted on the Lorrillard matter, while tears were flowing down the furrowed cheeks of as many more representatives.

Congressman Humphrey of Wisconsin arose at the conclusion of the prayer and moved that the little jars be taken away from the house, as they were there in violation of unbiased legislation, for they were evidently placed there for the purpose of influencing unduly the eyes and noses.

The motion prevailed. Life in congress is not so uniformly sad as The Congressional Record would make it appear.

Last summer a mysterious crime occurred in K street, northwest, which was never given to the public. On a sultry midsummer day a man might have been seen, glancing furtively about in these neighborhoods as if to see if any one might be observing him, while under his arm and partially concealed he carried an inanimate, cold and pulseless body.

The servant who saw him from the window of an upper story near by thought it looked like the body of a deceased dog. While he watched him from behind a closed shutter he dexterously concealed his burden beneath the shrubbery in the adjoining grounds and fled swift plumes, so to speak, being soon lost to view.

In a couple of days the neighboring servants began to complain of the odor, and as the owner of the grounds whereon the body had been deposited was away temporarily it was suggested that the boys who played on the adjoining grounds every day should get over the hedge and secure the remains, so that they might be entombed.

The boys crept up toward the shrubbery with patent chalks and on their noses, but could not approach nearer than 25 feet, though they could see the still, calm features of the little pet.

HAVING A WINDOW.

through the green leaves of the current bushes. Evidently in life it had been in watching, and even in death it succeeded in keeping the boys away from the fruit. It was kind of touching to see the little dumb brute lie there so still in death, yet so eloquent withal, that even his voiceless clay made people pay attention.

The boys came back to report that the dog seemed to agree that part of Washington, mostly for himself, and that he was not only contented with his lot, but desired most of it for his own use.

By and by the neighbors got uneasy about the dog's health. Washington gets pretty hot in summer, and even a moderate sized dog under the genial rays of an August sun will attract more adverse criticism sometimes than the administration.

This one did. So a lady on the corner, whose house and grounds are next door to where the dog seemed to be taking place, sent word to the police department asking that a cart and a good offhand memorial orator be sent up to K street.

Meantime the owner returned to his residence, and the lady who lives next door went over to speak to him about how his animal was violating a city ordinance on those grounds. Before she could get at the subject, however, the owner's son came along from the garden with a life sized china dog.

"There," said the father, "I thought I had concluded that china dog in the current bushes where it wouldn't be found any more, but he's gone and discovered it."

"Is that the dog that has been there in the bushes the past two weeks?"

"Yes."

"Well the police will be here after it in a few minutes."

"Why?"

"Well, we thought we could smell it a good deal lately, and people threatened to move away if the police didn't do something with it. Some of my friends said that the odor kept them awake nights. One family whose house is at Constable's Hook, N. J., and who are used to the clearest scented air of Elizabeth and the Standard Oil works, moved away yesterday on account of it."

And soon afterward the police did come along to relieve the neighborhood of the poisonous and pestilential odor of a china dog. This is a true story told me by one of the victims.

Imagination is a great thing. I have seen a fresh air crank, after hours of restlessness in a Pullman car at night, raise a window and sleep sweetly all night, forgetting that it was a double window.

Thirty years ago I wrote a composition upon "The Powers of Imagination," and I then said, "The powers of imagination are certainly many and wonderful." Pungent and radical as this statement seemed to me at the time, I can say now truly, even after the flight of years, that I see no reason for changing my mind.

A Change of Season.

When the two girls met on Woodward avenue the other morning, there was a look of recognition flashed back and forth, which would convey to any but the most obtuse the knowledge that there was something of interest between them. It was too public right there to go into details, so they hurried along to a quieter place on a side street. Then the younger one gave way to her curiosity.

"Did Frank come up last night?" she asked excitedly.

"Of course. Hasn't he been every night for two weeks?"

"Did he propose?"

"The other girl blushed.

"Yes," she answered.

"And did you accept him?"

"Certainly."

The first one showed her disappointment.

"Oh," she exclaimed, "what did you do that for?"

"What should I have done?" asked the other in astonishment.

"Why, make him wait a week and ask again, of course."

The other one actually whistled her surprise.

"Well, I guess not," she said. "This isn't a summer time for that."

Then they both laughed and came back on to Woodward avenue and went chattering along volubly. —Detroit Free Press.

A Perverted Philosopher.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, ain't it?" said Meandering Mike.

"Of course it is," replied Plodding Pete.

"Well, dat's de reason I don't accept no job from nobody. Ef I was working, I might be tempted ter go on a strike. And den see de trouble I'd be in!" —Washington Star.

Disillusioned.

Lady (widow)—Do you know that my daughter has set her eyes upon you, Herr Muller?

Gent (flattered)—Has she really?

Lady—Certainly. Only today she was saying, "That's the sort of gentleman I should like for my papa." —Tagliche Rundschau.

Her Way.

"Sometimes I am so near, love, And then I am so far; For when you smile at me, love, Then dear to me you are."

"Sometimes when I have kissed you You seem to think it tame. I wonder when I've missed you If you have felt the same."

"Sometimes when I have written You, dear, with trembling hand, Although you say you're written, You did not understand."

"Sometimes I wonder, sweetest, What I am blind to see. If now it is I love you less, You really feel for me."

Her face lights up with feeling. Her brown eyes softly glow. A sudden light awakes. "Oh, what I don't know you— You wouldn't love me then."

Edison's
Latest Wonder,

Kine-toscope!

Reproducing
Living Motion.

The Kinetoscope bears the same relation to the eye that the Phonograph does to the ear. Its invention that is so perfect in its every detail that it not only produces the very living likeness of its subjects, but their every act, and even facial expression, are accurately and truthfully shown. We have secured, at an enormous expense, five of the latest and most modernly improved Kinetoscopes that are in existence today, producing five distinct scenes and operated by a staff of experts from Edison's Laboratory, Orange, N. J. The first exhibition of these wonderful machines will take place at our store.

This Morning.

The subjects for this week will be as follows:

- 1--BUCKING BRONCHOS.
From Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. A lively, rattling subject, true to nature on the Western plains. Plenty of action.
- 2--A scene from the first act of HOYT'S "MILK WHITE FLAG."
The entire company vividly portrayed as on the stage.
- 3--ENGLISH TAVERN SCENE.
Ludicrously comical, true to life.
- 4--THE BARBER SHOP.
Interior of barber shop. Man comes in, takes off his coat, sits down, smokes, a handkerchief is passed, who polishes out a joke, both laugh. Meaning the man in the chair is shaved and has his hair cut. Very funny.
- 5--CARMENCITA.
The noted dancer, who goes through her graceful act, exactly as she does in the leading New York theaters.

The Kinetoscopes now on exhibition in our store have been shown, only in a very few of the larger cities and the price to see the exhibit was 25 and 50 cents. But we have entered into a contract with the management to exhibit all five scenes to our patrons for the small fee of

FINALLY LEAKED OUT

Three Months Ago Henry Reno Killed Christ Lundby at Industrial Township in This County.

The Murder Was Hushed Up and No Action Was Taken Until a Few Days Ago.

Reno Was Arrested on Saturday and Will Now Be Brought Before the Grand Jury.

Henry Reno was arrested at Industrial last Saturday for the murder of Christ Lundby last November. He was brought to Duluth and placed in the county jail to await the action of the grand jury. The twenty-four hours in which a prisoner can be held was up to-day, and in order to secure him so as to have him on hand when the grand jury can hear his case, he was arraigned at 2 o'clock in the municipal court, and his examination was set for Friday morning at 10 a. m. Before that time, however, he will be brought before the grand jury. Reno and Lundby were two Scandinavian residents of the town of Industrial. On the night of Nov. 3, the became involved in a quarrel, and before it was over Reno is said to have struck Lundby over the head with a stone or slungshot. This made a case of assault in the second degree, but in a few days Lundby made it more serious by dying, which may prove unfortunate for Reno if the facts which are learned so far may be substantiated by good testimony. During all the period from the time of the fight until within a few days ago not a breath of the affair got outside the town of Industrial. Lundby was attended while he was ill and when he was dead was quietly buried, and not a word of the matter was spoken abroad. A few days ago the matter leaked out and on complaint of John Erickson a warrant was issued for Reno's arrest. Saturday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Klippen made the arrest. Industrial and brought Reno to Duluth.

Little is known about the matter, even now. The officials all profess to know nothing whatever except that the arrest was made. Whether the charges may be substantiated or not is not known, as the extent or nature of the testimony against Reno cannot be learned. The witnesses are subpoenaed for this afternoon, but the case may not be reached by the grand jury until tomorrow.

EDISON'S LATEST WONDER.

Kinetograph and Kinetoscope on Exhibition at M. S. Burrows & Co's.

The kinetograph, Edison's latest invention, with its accompanying interpreter, the kinetoscope, has reached the city. The kinetograph bears the same relation to the kinetoscope as the record-reproducing diaphragm. Five of these wonderful machines are now on exhibition at the store of M. S. Burrows & Co., and may be seen for the small sum of 10 cents.

The kinetograph is, in part, a photographic camera, so constructed with its attachments and devices that it records forty-six distinct and separate views of moving objects in a second. These photographs are recorded on a film and are ready for the kinetoscope. This machine is in the shape of a handsome hardwood cabinet, with a "slot" photograph cabinet. This cabinet contains a mechanical device operated by electricity, which is so constructed as to run the films (containing the views photographed by the kinetograph) past a given point at a speed of about forty-six each second of the time. The films pass over a series of rollers which hold them steady and secure accurate results.

In the top of the cabinet of the Kinetoscope is a small window covered with clear glass. The person who desires to witness the reproduction of the views, looks down through this window and the film passes before his eyes with such rapidity that he beholds one continuous view.

There are five different subjects shown. "The bucking broncho," "A barber shop scene," five scenes in the first act of Hoyt's play "The Milk White Flag," and a scene in an English inn. The scenes are most realistic and life like and more than well worth taking much pains to see.

Sewer Bids Opened.

The bids of public work this morning opened bids for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Fifth street from Second avenue west to Fifth avenue west. The bids were as follows: Hogan & Eberling, $3008.95; E. Engel, $3175.60; A. and D. Sang, $3176.55; L. C. Meining, $307.71; E. J. Armony, $2749.50; M. Fitzgerald, $2978.95; Frank Campbell, $2966.77; C. J. Frederickson, $2470.51; Peter Thompson, $2760.51.

C. J. Frederickson probably will be awarded the contract, he being the lowest bidder.

THE CURLING CONTEST.

Several Games Saturday Afternoon For the Cup—On For Winnipeg.

Saturday afternoon and evening Glen Avon rink was the scene of a lively series of curling games in the contest for the Big Duluth cup and four curling buttons presented by the president. In the afternoon Harry Hurdon's rink forfeited to C. B. Woodruff's, and John MacLeod defeated George Mackenzie by a score of 10 to 8 and Ron Smith defeated E. S. Palmer by a score of 13 to 8.

In the evening Ron Smith defeated Sam Fullerton 10 to 8, R. R. Macfarlane defeated John MacLeod 14 to 12, and Dr. Harris defeated John MacLeod 11 to 5. There is yet one more game in the semi final round between R. R. Macfarlane and C. B. Woodruff, the winner of which will play Ron Smith for the trophy.

Yesterday at 3:45 thirteen Duluth curlers left for the bonspiel at Winnipeg in J. J. Gresting's private car. They were joined at Staples by the crowd from the Twin Cities. Those leaving yesterday were Capt. LaSalle, K. A. Eva, Charles McMillan, Dr. Harris, William Collins, William Craig, John Stevenson, J. Chaple, G. C. Howe, E. L. Fischer, H. B. Earhart, W. N. Draper and F. A. Palmer.

Wednesday Harry Hurdon, W. N. Anderson, S. F. Fullerton and perhaps several others will leave.

BUSINESS PICKING UP.

More Offenders Than Usual Brought Before Judge Powell Today.

There was quite a little grist in police court this morning. John Johnson appeared in answer to a charge of drunkenness. He pleaded not guilty and his hearing was set for the afternoon session. James Mohr, up for a similar offense, was sent to the top of the hill for ten days.

Harvey Johnson and William Wilber answered to complaints charging disorderly conduct. The former pleaded not guilty and the latter guilty. Both were set for the afternoon for disposition.

Joseph Cook, not from Boston, and Charles Scharlett pleaded guilty to vagrancy and received suspended sentence.

The charges of uttering forged instruments standing against Samuel Cody and John De War were formally dismissed, as the grand jury has their cases in hand.

The case of George Spencer, the cook, charged with bastardy, was continued to 10 a. m. Feb. 16. It is reported that the matter will be settled and the criminal procedure against him dismissed. In fact, the case has been decided upon and the approval of the county attorney awaited.

John Morgan, charged by Florence Morgan with threatening to kill her and himself was arraigned. He will endeavor to give bail until the time of his examination.

Election Returns Will Be Canvassed—Other Business Which is Coming Up.

The council holds its regular meeting this evening. The election returns will be canvassed and the special police pay rolls in the sum of $190 will be passed, together with some city bills. The long ordinance regulating the health department was read and passed. The Ladies' Relief association will also ask the city fathers for an appropriation. The city engineer will make a preliminary report on the Fond du Lac bridge and will ask for discretionary powers to change the location, as it is not certain that the proposed site is the best. Mr. Reed, will also report on the feasibility of doing rock work on the proposed water main extension.

ZENITH TRANSIT COMPANY.

Capt. A. B. Wolvin and Others Interested in a New Transportation Company.

Capt. A. B. Wolvin, for some time the Duluth representative of the Western Transit company, has announced the formation of a Duluth ship line to be known as the Zenith Transit company, of which Capt. Wolvin is president and F. E. Searle, treasurer, and in which other Duluth men are interested. This is the first Duluth boat line of great importance. The first boat to be used by this company is now in construction in South Chicago, is to be called the Zenith, and is a monster.

She is 405 feet over all, 48 feet beam and 28 feet depth, and represents the most modern ideas in shipbuilding. She will have triple expansion boilers with 22, 38 and 63-inch cylinders, to carry 200 pounds of pressure. She will be wholly lighted by electricity. When the dreams of a deep waterway are realized the boat will carry 6000 tons, but in the meantime she will not carry to her fullest capacity.

Capt. Wolvin is also interested in several of the boats now running in the Western Transit company's line, among them the W. H. Gilbert, of which he is managing owner.

BROTHERS' HATE

The Cross-Examination of Adry Hayward Showed That the Brothers Violently Hated Each Other.

Adry Today Answered All Questions With a Cynic Smile and an Air of Gratification.

Purpose of Defense to Claim It Was Adry, Not Harry, Who Conspired With Blixt.

Were the Pointed Shoe Tracks at the Scene of the Murder Made by Adry?

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 12.—The cross-examination of Adry Hayward in the murder trial this morning brought out a fearful condition of affairs in the Hayward family in their domestic relations. Adry is evidently indignant at the course being pursued by the defense. He answered all questions with a cynic smile and an air of gratification. The brothers are evidently possessed of a violent hatred for each other of long standing. The scene in court yesterday between the mother and her two boys had evidently had a great effect on Adry and had made his night sleepless. His eyes were dull and heavy this morning.

Erwin began his questioning roughly and asked Adry about the trouble there was between him and his father and Harry.

"Were you not crazy on Oct. 7?" he asked.

"Well, as to that," replied Adry, "I'm not in a position to answer." And he laughed as the court ruled the question out.

With regard to the charge that he had embezzled money from his father, Adry admitted that he had been charged with doing so by both Harry and his father, but he had charged at the time that the money had been stolen from his flat by Harry for the purpose of fomenting trouble. On Oct. 7, he had been requested by his mother to go to her apartments and talk the matter over. The interview was a stormy one. Harry had continually said: "Why don't you give father back the money?"

Adry claimed that the books were straight and that Harry had the missing money. Mrs. Hayward became incensed at her elder son, and he turned to her with the retort: "Mother if you think I'm dishonest, why did you raise such a litter of pups?" Then came threats from Harry that if Adry did not go out at once he would knife him. Later Harry had told the witness that his father was carrying a revolver and would shoot him on sight.

"That was all that ever made trouble between my mother and myself," said Adry. "Don't shake your head, mother," he added, looking straight at Mrs. Hayward, who was sitting next him. "I'm telling the truth."

"Tell it, tell it all," cried the mother, "leave out nothing."

Mr. Erwin asked a number of questions which were ruled out by the court. Among these were the following: "Did you tell your father and mother that you were being shot at?"

"Did you tell them that folks were peering into the windows constantly and the next one who did it would get the contents of your revolver?"

"Did you tell your father that you met a man on your fishing trip who told you that you had had trouble and would have more, and that you were so impressed with it that you had your life insured?"

"Did you often threaten to rob street cars?"

needed to take them off," said Erwin. Adry held the shoe up with outstretched foot for the jury to look at.

"Did you have a friend named Frank who knew Blixt?"

Erwin then asked Adry if he had gone out to Kenwood boulevard with Blixt, if he had gone out with Blixt to a place beyond Lake Calhoun and selected the place where Miss Gine was to be murdered and whether he had not said to Blixt, "Frank will protect you if there is any trouble." Adry denied ever knowing Blixt to any extent and had not walked a block on the street with him.

These questions on the part of the defense indicate a possible purpose in setting up that it was Adry and not Harry who conspired to commit the murder with Blixt, and that the much-talked of pointed shoe tracks at the scene of the murder were made by Adry.

The cross-examination of Adry Hayward was concluded a little later in the morning. He declared that he had received no promise of protection from the state and that he had told his story upon the advice of Elder Stewart, who was his friend and attorney. He had elected to stay in jail most of the time since the arrest of Harry upon Stewart's advice, and to save himself annoyance from reporters and others.

He had not been under arrest, but could come and go freely if he wanted to. He had no feeling against his brother. He picked Harry and would do anything to get him out of his trouble. This last answer was stricken out.

John Patton and F. E. Dodge, insurance agents, testified to conversations they had had with Harry about insurance on a lady's life, and how such poliand the officer reaches Menominee. About three weeks ago a man giving his name as C. H. Freeman made himself known to two employees of the Western Union Telegraph company in this city, who finally agreed to endorse a check for $175, which was presented at the German American bank, where it was cashed.

From there the check was forwarded to New York. As soon as the check arrived in New York, Cashier Lockey received a dispatch to the effect that the check was spurious and that the signature was forged. Steps were at once taken to secure the arrest of Freeman, but he had disappeared. Finally he was traced to Menominee and instructions were sent there to have him arrested.

A special telegram from Menominee stated that Freeman was arrested there yesterday afternoon while attempting to pass a check at Taylor & Son's bank. The check, it is said, he attempted to pass here was signed with the name of N. Nadon, and it is claimed that the signature of Mr. Nadon had been very well imitated. The check passed in St. Paul was signed with the name of Charles Wydel and payable to C. H. Freeman. Extradition papers will be taken out at once.

VERY DRAMATIC

When the Debs Conspiracy Case Was Adjourned Today, a Very Dramatic Scene Took Place.

The Discharged Jurors Crowded Around Debs and Expressed Their Anxiety To See Him Free.

Evident That the Case Would Have Resulted in Acquittal, But for the Mistrial.

The Attorneys for the Defense Were Crestfallen at the Sudden Ending of the Case.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Judge Grosscup has postponed the Debs trial until the first Monday in May. He discharged the jury today on account of the serious illness of Juror Coe, and a new jury will be summoned when the case is again put on trial.

A dramatic scene followed the decision of Judge Grosscup, discharging the jury. The jurymen left their seats and while some stopped to shake Judge Grosscup's hand, the majority of them hurried to where the prisoner was sitting and surrounded Debs. They slapped him on the back, shook hands with him again and again and expressed profound admiration for his bearing during the trial.

"Debs," said Juror Barrett, "when this trial was opened I was in favor of giving you a five years' sentence, but now I am anxious to see you free."

Similar expressions were heard from the other jurors and it is evident that the case would have resulted in an acquittal had it not ended in a mistrial. The attorneys for the defense were crestfallen at the sudden ending of the case, all expressing the opinion that victory was in sight for the defendants when Juror Coe's illness stopped the proceedings.

The defendants were equally sorry that the trial could not proceed. Debs expressed himself as confident that he and his associates would have been acquitted. The continuance of the case leaves the American Railway union directors free temporarily, but under two bail bonds each.

The appeal from the contempt sentences is still pending in the supreme court, where each defendant is under bonds, and the bail for the conspiracy case will stand until the trial is resumed next May.

Bill to Authorize it Introduced by Senator Washburn.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—[Special to The Herald.]—Senator Washburn today introduced a similar bill to the one introduced in the house by Representative Baldwin to authorize the Wisconsin and New Duluth Bridge company to construct a bridge over the St. Louis river at New Duluth.

A patent was today granted to Harrison D. Stone, of Duluth, assignor to the Duluth Dress Stay company, for a dress stay.

One good thing about Dr. Price's baking powder is that contents of the cans are always full weight. It stands the test of the scales as well as every other.

Gross Earnings Taxes.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 12.—Reports of gross earnings were filed with the state auditor yesterday by various roads for the six months ending Dec. 31, 1894: Grantsburg, Rush City & St. Cloud, earnings, $1,276.16, tax 41.28; Taylors Falls & Lake Superior, earnings, $8,600.93, tax $268.83; Minneapolis & Duluth, earnings, $38,708.19, tax $1,193.94; St. Paul & Duluth, earnings, $75,649.12, tax $2,364.08. This is a decrease compared with the preceding six months of $60,344.76 in earnings and $2,064.50 in the tax.

Receiver Asked.

MANKATO, Minn., Feb. 12.—Yesterday a receiver was asked for the Mankato Mercantile company, carrying an assorted stock of merchandise and doing an extensive business. The Powers Dry Goods company, of Minneapolis, is the plaintiff in the action.

Alienation of Affections.

WINONA, Minn., Feb. 12.—The summons and complaint in a $25,000 damage case brought by George E. Clement against Seymour W. Brown were filed yesterday. The ground of the claim for damages is alienation of his wife's affections, and is the outcome of the notorious breach of promise suit for $25,000 brought one year ago by Lilla J. Clement. Brown is now in Mexico on a pleasure trip.

A Pioneer Dead.

KENYON, Minn., Feb. 12.—Mrs. Marie Naeseth, aged 63, one of Goodhue's pioneers, died at the home of her son, Hon. O. K. Naeseth yesterday. Her husband, aged 87, survives.

Assignment at Red Wing.

RED WING, Minn., Feb. 12.—H. D. Seastrand, jeweler, of this city, has made an assignment. This is the first failure here for more than five years.

McMillan, of Duluth, won by default this morning and McCleod, of Duluth, went down before Shaw, of the Granites, by a score of 18 to 10. There are eighty-three rinks entered for the grand challenge prize.

PASSED FORGED CHECKS.

C. H. Freeman, Arrested at Menominee, is Badly Wanted at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 12.—C. H. Freeman, who was arrested at Menominee, Wis., on the charge of passing a forged check in this city, and attempting to do the same there, is wanted very badly here, and will be brought to St. Paul as soon as the requisition papers can be issued.

Against Mrs. Dunham.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—The appellate court today affirmed the decision of the lower court granting a decree of divorce to ex-Congressman R. W. Dunham. The decision of the lower court, annulling the divorce which Mrs. Dunham secured in South Dakota after her husband's bill was filed here, was also sustained.

SAFE IN PORT AGAIN.

Steamer La Gasconne, Whose Safety Was Reported Last Evening, Has Reached Her New York Dock.

A Break in the Piston Rod of the Intermediate Cylinder Caused Her Long Voyage.

It Was Necessary to Proceed Slowly, But the Passengers Did Not Suffer Any Discomforts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The French line steamer La Gasconne, whose arrival off Fire Island was announced in a dispatch to The Herald yesterday afternoon, reached her dock shortly after noon today. Edgar Weiss, a representative of the Thomson-Houston Electric company, who was a first cabin passenger on the La Gasconne, told a reporter a graphic story of the voyage. "When we sailed out of the bay at Havre on Jan. 26 last," he said, "the weather was very pleasant, and so during the first twenty-four hours we went 450 miles toward home. The second day was so very fine that few people were seasick. It looked as if the trip would be a lucky one. That day we sailed 500 miles. On the third day, Jan. 29, the first trouble came. It was about 10 o'clock in the morning and there were lots of passengers besides myself on deck. We were feeling comfortable after a good breakfast, when suddenly came a most violent shock which was followed by a series of smaller ones. The ship trembled, and the first impression was that we had struck an iceberg or some great object lying low in the water.

"A great many of the passengers became much alarmed and the running of officers to and fro, coupled with the clanging of bells in the engine room, made the men, to say the least, feel a trifle uneasy.

"Most of us made a rush for the office to ask for information. In a short time we were informed that the accident which had occurred was not a serious one; that there was a break in the piston rod of the intermediate cylinder and that it could be very easily repaired. We were assured that there was no danger and that the vessel could keep aloft under any circumstances. So there we lay without a movement of the engines for sixteen hours while the engine and his assistant were at work on the break. After the first shock there was very little alarm felt by those on board. The machinery did not finally stop. The ship proceeded very slowly and up to noon of the next day she only covered sixty-six miles.

"After another run of 215 miles, the ship stopped again. Again we were frightened until we learned that the engines had been stopped to examine the broken piston rod and to allow the overheated journals to cool off. The time hung heavily while we lay rolling in the trough of the sea and when we again started we went very slowly. We covered 215 miles on Jan. 31, 255 miles on Feb. 1, 280 miles on Feb. 2, and on Feb. 4, 180 miles.

"This brought us to a point off Sable Island about 100 miles from the coast of Newfoundland. Everybody on board knew just where the ship was, for we had charts and spent much time studying out our position. We were getting along easily but slowly when we felt another shock, somewhat like the first, although not quite so severe and not followed by a series of convulsions which accompanied the first. The vessel came to a dead stop and an officer told us the piston rod was broken and it could not be repaired.

"Then when we were still, lying under no headway we were struck by this terrific storm which was more of a cyclone than anything else. Snow and hail accompanied the storm, and the passengers were ordered below by the captain, the hatches were battened down and everything was made as tight as possible. We in the saloons, experienced no discomfort except that caused by the extreme pitching and tossing of the vessel. But it was awfully lonesome.

"During the storm, which lasted twenty-four hours, a lifeboat was broken to splinters and all other railing around the smoking room was torn from its stanchions. We did not know this until afterwards. There was absolutely no panic, but the women were very nervous, as was very natural under the circumstances. We had the greatest confidence in Capt. Boidelon and his officers and felt that we were in the hands of good sailors.

"One incident which tended more than anything else to allay the fears of some of those on board is worthy of mention. Half a dozen of the men passengers gathered in the smoking room every night and made up a poker party. They played cards in the most unconcerned manner in the world, just though nothing out of the ordinary had happened. I think it was the sight of those men calmly playing cards that had more of a reassuring effect than anything else. The ship pitched and tossed, the wind outside howled and screamed and the storm of hail beat on the decks with a fearful clatter. We below did not know just what was going on, but those men played on, never missing a chance.

"On Monday the storm let up; 500 tons of the broken machinery was moved and the engines were again started very slowly, and we steamed for 103 miles. Then we stopped, because the journals had become overheated again, and besides it was necessary to inspect the machinery.

"From that time on we proceeded under easy headway, although the weather was still very stormy. On Friday we made 165 miles; on Saturday we put 131 miles behind us; Sunday we covered only seventy-nine miles, and yesterday, the last day of our long voyage, we made 150 miles.

"All this time we had seen no other vessel until Sunday about 10 o'clock we passed an Inman line steamship coming from Philadelphia and it was announced that we would try and signal her. We all gathered on deck and watched the proceedings. At first it looked as though she would pass us without seeing our signals, but finally we saw her answer back. The captain signalled her that better than that, the ship proceeded very slowly and up to noon of the next day she only covered sixty-six miles.

DANCING IN THE PULPIT.
An Oakland Clergyman with Some Decidedly Bizarre Ideas.

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 12.—The spectacle presented in his pulpit to illustrate the innocence of the waltz is such an anomalous one that it has given rise to considerable comment in religious circles in this city. The Rev. Edward Davis, pastor of the Christian church, who danced through his sermon Sunday night to exemplify the harmlessness of the amusement, is a young man who has some striking, original and bizarre ideas on the best methods of proclaiming the gospel.

Rev. Davis says he is not at all heterodox and disclaims the view that he is a mere notoriety seeker, employing sensational methods to draw crowds and win dubious popularity. His purpose, he said, first of all, to preach the simple gospel of Christianity. But he dislikes the effort and questions the efficacy of preaching to empty seats as he did the last Sunday he preached in Oakland.

Sunday night he gave a representation of the waltz and other descriptive dances. His representations created much amusement among the more ungodly of the flock. Generally the drift of his remarks were in favor of dancing.

IN MEMORY OF LINCOLN.
Patriotic Exercises in the Schools and Numerous Banquets at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Chicago paid tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln today, the eighty-sixth anniversary of his birth. The day, as a legal holiday in the state, was fittingly observed by patriotic exercises in the public schools, and numerous banquets and social gatherings.

All public offices were closed, as were also the stock exchange and the board of trade. The principal event of this evening was the last day of the National Auditorium given by the National union, at which Henry Watterson will deliver the oration.

IN A RECEIVER'S HANDS.
The Linden Steel Company, of Pittsburg, is in Difficulties.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12.—The Linden Steel company, a large concern of this city, has gone into the hands of a receiver. The application was made by large creditors who claimed that owing to the financial stringency the company was unable to meet its obligations as they matured and it was feared the valuable property would be sacrificed.

Henry Warner was appointed receiver. The liabilities are $485,000 with estimated assets of $685,000. The company was granted an extension for two years.

GEN. TAI SUICIDED.
Report That a Chinese General Took His Own Life.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—A special dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Wei Hai Wei, Feb. 7, by the way of Higo, Feb. 11, says that notwithstanding the desperate nature of the fighting that has occurred at Wei Hai Wei but little damage has been done.

The dispatch also says that Gen. Tai, of the Chinese army, committed suicide in a moment of anger on account of the loss of the city.

THE HAWAIIAN CABLE

Hawaiian Policy of the House Does Not Include the Proposed Cable in Its Creed.

There Will Be Strong Opposition to Expending $500,000 Upon the Survey and Preliminary Work.

Important Decisions on Pension Questions Are Given by Assistant Secretary of the Interior Reynolds.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The appropriation for a Hawaiian cable which was added to the diplomatic and consular appropriation by the senate, furnishes material for an interesting controversy between the two houses. The Hawaiian policy of the house does not include the Hawaiian cable in its creed, or at any rate the Hawaiian policy of the Democratic majority of the house. There will be a strong opposition in the house to the expenditure of $500,000 upon the survey and preliminary work, both on the general principle of objection to government aid to enterprises of this character and because of the depleted condition of the treasury.

Chairman McCreary, of the committee on foreign affairs, has stated plainly his objections to the cable project in a recent speech, and the keynote to the Democratic policy of objection to the cable has always been uttered by the chairman of the committee. The cable item will command the support of the Democrats in the senate, but there is every probability of a majority against it.

The conference committee upon the bill to amend the act relating to the Hawaiian cable, the senators of the committee will be Blackburn and Brice, Democrats, and Hale, Republican, and Democrats, and Hitt, Republican. Both Blackburn and Brice voted against the amendment in the senate, but they will be placed in the attitude of support in the conference, as the instructions given to conferees are to insist upon the amendments adopted by their house.

They may make a report to the senate that the conferees are unable to reach an agreement and recommend that the senate recede from the cable project, but unless the senate votes to do they will be practically bound to support it. Speaking generally, more senate amendments to the bill are agreed to by the house than the number of those given up.

In this case the situation is more uncertain because four of the six conferees are likely to be personally in favor of striking out the amendment, and representatives of both houses may be disposed to report back recommendations that it be stricken out.

Recent important decisions on pension questions have been promulgated by Assistant Secretary of the Interior Reynolds. In the case of Frederick W. Spencer, of New Jersey, Judge Reynolds holds that where a soldier pensioned on account of deafness, walks alongside of a railroad track to save distance and is struck and injured, the injury is primarily due to his own negligence, and only remotely if at all to his own deafness. If he is subject to some physical infirmity, it is held that his obligation to avoid the dangerous situation is so much the greater.

To establish a claim for pension, increase because of injury, the claimant must be able to show that the injury was caused by the negligence of the government, and not by his own negligence or carelessness of the claimant.

Pension attorneys are held to be entitled to fees when the evidence to establish a claimant's right to a pension is completed. This fee, according to the decision will vest in the personal representative of the claimant, and not in the legal status of the claimant.

The widow of a soldier or sailor, says the assistant secretary, whose husband voluntarily served in the Confederate army or navy either prior or subsequent to his service in the United States army, is not entitled to a pension under the act of June 27, 1890.

An Express Deal.
The Northern Pacific Railroad is negotiating for the complete sale the Northern Pacific Express company. Bids have been received from the American, Adams and the United States Express companies. The bid made by the American Express company is the highest and the deal with that company may shortly be closed, with the consent of the court.

Ex-Chancellor Garland Dead.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 12.—Ex-Chancellor L. C. Garland, of Vanderbilt university, died suddenly today of heart disease. He was 81 years old and for nearly half a century he had been one of the leading educators of the country. Dr. Garland was a native of Nelson county, Virginia.

The Armenian Outrages.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 12.—Advices from Moosh of Feb. 9, says that the Armenian mission inquiring into the Armenian troubles have examined several witnesses, all of whose testimony was favorable to the Turks. At the conclusion of the evidence of the government witnesses, a number of Armenians will testify.

Ordered to Return.
SHANGHAI, Feb. 12.—A local paper prints a statement from Peking saying that the Chinese government has ordered the foreign ministers to return to China.

Fire at Buffalo.
BUFFALO, Feb. 12.—Fire in the Dornor warehouse today caused a loss of $50,000.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Defendant has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale duly executed and delivered by David W. Evans and Minnie G. Evans, his wife, to American Loan and Trust Company, dated August 1st, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on February 8th, 1895, at 2 o'clock a. m. in Book 12 of mortgages on page 574.

Which mortgage was duly assigned by said American Loan and Trust Company to William E. Richardson by deed of general assignment dated July 11th, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on November 7th, 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m. in Book 1 of miscellaneous records on pages 42-44, a copy of said assignment duly certified by the clerk of the court of said county, having also been duly filed and recorded in the office of said register of deeds on July 12th, 1894, at 11 o'clock a. m. in Book 1 of miscellaneous records on pages 21-23, which mortgage was duly assigned by said American Loan and Trust Company to the undersigned, The St. Paul National Bank, which is now the owner and holder thereof, and of the debt thereby secured, by instrument in writing dated January 8th, 1895, and duly filed for record, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said St. Louis County on January 11th, 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m. in Book 12 of mortgages on page 184.

And whereas said default consists in the non-payment of one hundred fifty-seven dollars and thirty cents in three installments of fifty dollars and 50 cents each on August 1st, 1894, and February 1st and August 1st, 1895, and the holder of said mortgage has exercised the option to declare the entire debt secured by said mortgage to be due and payable as provided by the terms of said mortgage and the notes secured thereby, the sum of one hundred and thirty-seven dollars and thirty cents, together with interest thereon, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of said declaration, as provided by law.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the premises therein described and situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit: Lots number one hundred and fifty-seven and one hundred and fifty-eight in Block number one hundred and fifty, in Duluth Township, Third Range, Second Township, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state on Wednesday, the 27th day of February,

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
Feb. 12.—The thermometer has fallen four-tenths of an inch in Eastern Minnesota. It is now low. Lowest has also fallen decidedly in Alberta.
An extensive area of high pressure is central in the Middle Rocky Mountain region, being attended with fair weather in the plateau regions and with temperatures ranging from 6 degrees below zero at Dodge City, Kan., to 25 degrees below zero at Lander, Wyo., and Haver, Mont. From the Missouri valley eastward the temperature is everywhere above zero, except at La Crosse, Wis., where it was 10 below at 7 a. m. today.
Light snows have been general in the Middle Missouri, Illinois and West River valleys and near Lake Superior and cloudy weather still prevails this morning in those sections.
Duluth thermometer at 7 a. m. today, 14 degrees above zero; maximum yesterday, 18 degrees above zero; minimum yesterday, 10 degrees below zero; snowfall, melted, during 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. today, .02 inch.

DULUTH, Feb. 12.—Forecast for Duluth and vicinity till 7 p. m. tomorrow: Fair, preceded by snow flurries today; slightly colder today and tonight; northerly shifting to southwest winds.
JAMES KENDALL,
Local Forecast Official.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Light local snow tonight and today; slightly warmer at Lacrosse tonight; Wednesday fair, northwest winds. For Minnesota: Light local snow today and tonight; Wednesday fair, northwest winds.

The Forest Reservations.

To the Western people one of the most interesting problems they have been called upon to consider is the management of the forest reservations that have been created during the past few years
by presidential proclamation, and the ultimate disposition of the lands not strictly timber lands, and the protection of the forests on the reservations. The problem has been also a puzzle to Secretary Smith, of the interior department, who has no authority to employ men to look after the forest reserves, and yet as they were created through his department and are public lands they are still under his jurisdiction. They are subject to his control with nothing to control them with.

A bill prepared in the land office was sent to congress by the secretary but it did not meet the approval of the Western men. After being amended in many particulars and made to conform to the wishes of the Western men it passed the house, and was sent to the committee on forest reservations in the senate.

Senator Teller, of Colorado, a member of the committee, has recently reported the bill to the senate but it is not the measure which passed the house and bears only the name of that bill. Senator Teller strikes out the entire bill and reports one which he thinks will meet the wants of the people and care for the 17,000,000 acres of timber land now set apart in forest reservations in different states and territories.

Mr. Teller's substitute provides that no forest reservations shall be established except to improve and protect the forest within the reservation or for the purpose of securing favorable condition of waterflow and to insure a continuous supply of timber for the people of the states, wherein such forest reservations are located, but it is not the purpose of this act to authorize the inclusion within the reservations of lands
more valuable for the mineral thereon or for agricultural purposes than for timber.

The secretary of the interior is authorized to make regulations for the protection of the forests from fires and depredations, and their occupancy and use
under such rules as will insure the objects for which they were created. He is empowered to sell dead and matured trees, but particular care must be exercised in making such sales, the money to be used as a special fund for the care and management of the reservations.
The secretary is authorized to permit
the use of timber and stone on the reservations free of charge to bona fide settlers, etc.

A Cable to Hawaii.

A Washington dispatch today states that the policy of the Democrats in the house is opposed to the construction of a cable to Hawaii, and that strong opposition will be offered to the senate amendment to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, which sets aside $500,- 000 for survey and other preliminary work in connection with the proposed cable. Whether the senate will be able to retain this amendment by insisting upon it in conference remains to be seen.

The majority in the senate in favor of aiding the construction of such a cable was large. The strongest plea in its favor was probably that made by Senator Hale of Maine. Speaking of American commerce with Hawaii, Mr. Hale said that it exceeded our commerce with any other point, with the exception of Yokohama and Southampton, and it is proposed to ultimately extend the Hawaiian cable to Yokohama. It might be suggested, said Mr. Hale, that if we built the cable we should then build other cables. But this was clearly an exceptional case. If there was quick telegraphic communication with Hawaii it would materially aid in the establishment of stability on the island and the protection of American interests there.

The project was not one of annexation,
although the annexationists of Hawaii
were undoubtedly united for the cable.
Careful estimates made by cable experts showed, Mr. Hale said, that the distance along the surveyed route was about 2100 miles. The estimates showed the cost to be about $10,000 to $12,000 per mile. This would make a total cost of $21,000,000 to $25,200,000 for the entire cable. Mr. Hale said the recent unfortunate events on the island and the debates in congress emphasized the need of a cable. There is no doubt that the cable is a necessity, and the country would heavily approve the moderate measure of aid to its construction which the senate has proposed.

An Excellent Measure.
Representative Grondahl introduced in the state legislature yesterday a bill making it a misdemeanor to furnish a newspaper with false and libelous statements. The bill has been referred to the judiciary committee and should receive a favorable report. It is an eminently just measure and one which must result in much good. The Herald first introduced this subject several months ago and urged that such a law should be passed at the present session of the legislature. The suggestion was warmly supported by the St. Paul Pioneer Press and with the aid of that paper's powerful influence The Herald felt that success was well nigh attained.

A similar provision can now be found in the penal code of New York state and it has worked well in that state. Section 254 A of the New York penal code says: "Any person who willfully states, delivers or transmits by any means whatever to any manager, editor, publisher, reporter or other employee of a publisher of any newspaper, magazine, publication, periodical or serial, any statement concerning any person or corporation, which, if published therein, would be a libel, is guilty of a misdemeanor." The Herald has not yet received a copy of Mr. Gron-dahl's bill, but it is probably a copy of the above quoted section of the New York law, and if so it should be speedily passed by the legislature. Every newspaper man of experience knows how difficult it is to guard against libelous publications and how often attempts are made by people to libel their neighbors through the columns of the press. A law of the character proposed would make such attempts dangerous and might put an effectual stop to them.
Every newspaper in Minnesota should urge the senators and representatives from its district to support the Grondahl bill.

The Morning Reprint.
The Herald of last night did not leave
very much news for the morning paper of today. In last evening's edition was announced the safe arrival of the steamer La Gasconne at New York. The fact that United States Marshal Campbell has been turned down by the senate judiciary committee was given. Complete reports of the legislature's doings
were given, and the work of congress was described. Then the first report of the recent murder at Industrial was given, while two columns were devoted to the terrible story told by Adry Hayward as his brother's murder trial.
All these important items of news given by The Herald last night were repeated
by the morning paper, generally in more complete form, and it had nothing additional of special interest. The Herald gives the news when it is news.
What is the use of morning papers anyhow?

The institution of the Zenith Transit line draws attention to some needed legislation in order that Duluth may be made the home port of a large fleet of vessels. The fear of excessive assessment now prevents many vessels from registering at Duluth. Senator Spencer, who has given considerable attention to admiralty law, will find in this subject
an opportunity to benefit Duluth to a large extent. A bill should be passed assessing vessels registered at Minnesota ports, according to their tonnage,
with a provision that the rate per ton shall decrease according to the age and consequent deteriorated value of the vessel.

Helen H. Preston, in Womankind, discusses "the new woman" in a manner that all can understand. She says:
"This is called the woman's era. God grant that it may be an era of common sense in the kitchen—that we have charge of homes may awaken and realize that we are often to blame for many of our most dread diseases, especially typhoid fever, and that if we knew how to cook, and cook well, there would be far less interference among men."

Dr. Zier of Minneapolis has not yet introduced in the senate a bill drawn by one of his constituents for the suppression of the high hat nuisance at theaters.
The doctor is evidently scared at the wrath of his female patients. Perhaps he can accomplish more good by per-

WAR FEVER RUNS HIGH.

City of Mexico, Feb. 12.—The Diario Oficial, the Mexican official government daily, this week begins the publication of the official correspondence between Mexico and Guatemala over the threatening international boundary question. The correspondence is very voluminous, extending over a number of years, and is given publication by the Mexican government for the purpose of allowing the Mexican people to judge of the merits of the case according to their individual tastes.

The daily drills of volunteers for the Guatemalan war are gaining steadily in numbers in this capital, and throughout the republic. Although the policy of the government is to hold the people in check and give out to the press nothing which will tend to inflame public sentiment, or lead to further demonstrations on the Guatemalan questions, still the war fever runs high and is evidently on the increase in all directions.

The volunteers are, for the most part,
from the middle and upper classes, and if the present excitement does nothing more than it has already done, it will lead to the uniting of sentiment in favor of Gen. Diaz and the present administration, which, apparently, is gaining a deeper hold on the Mexican people than ever before.

Gen. Ignacio Topepe, the commander-in-chief of the 15,000 Mexican troops
now awaiting orders on the Guatemalan frontier, has scattered his forces in good order, although the soldiers are hungry for wages.

Chicago Gas Company.
Chicago, Feb. 12.—The Chicago gas meeting was postponed today until Thursday. It was stated that Messrs.
Billings, Campbell and Brady of the old management will remain as directors and that the new members of the directorate will be Robert E. Lincoln, N. B.
Ream, O. S. A. Sprague, J. W. Doane,
G. H. Wheeler and E. M. Phelps.

Martin Will Hang.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 12.—Governor Stone today refused to interfere in the case of Philip Martin, to be hanged Friday at Kansas City for the murder of Eli Stillwell.

To Be Hanged for Rape.
St. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 12.—A special to the Daily News from Jefferson City says the supreme court has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of Joe Dusty, and he has been sentenced to be hanged March 1. Dusty was convicted of rape in the courts here.

A Blow on the Jugular.
TOLEDO, Feb. 12.—Fred Brown, of this city, defeated Frank Roy, of New York, last night in the liveliest 2-round battle ever fought in Toledo. Both men are colored middleweights and the mill-for $200 purse—was pulled off in a dance hall. A swinging blow on the jugular finished Roy.

Marvelous Results.
From a letter written by Rev. J. Gundersen, of Minneapolis, Minn., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were most marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church, at Green Junction, Minn., she was afflicted with pneumonia succeeding a gripe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would, and she was little interrupted, and it seemed as if she would never live. The Herald on the subject of Dr. King's New Discovery, it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Trial bottle free at Max Wirt's drug store. Regu-

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the sum of $25.25, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Nicholas Pastore and Anna Pastore, his wife, to George F. Lange, bearing date the 23d day of December, A. D. 1891, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on October 4, A. D. 1891, in Book 1 of miscellaneous records on pages 251-252, which mortgage was assigned by said William F. Richardson as assignee of said American Loan and Trust Company to the undersigned, The St. Paul National Bank which is now the owner and holder thereof and of the debt secured thereby,
by instrument in writing dated January 24th, 1895, and duly filed for record, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said
Louis County on January 24th, 1895, at 10:45 o'clock A. M. in Book 122 of mortgages on page 184.

And whereas, said default consists in the non-payment of three hundred fifty dollars in installments due on four installments of $125 each on February 1st and August 1st, in the years 1893 and 1894, the holder of said mortgage has exercised the option to declare the entire debt secured by said mortgage to be now due and payable as provided by the terms of said mortgage and the notes secured thereby to wit:
the sum of twenty-nine hundred and fifty-one and 61-100 dollars which amount is claimed to be due thereon at the date of this notice.

And whereas, no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in that behalf made and provided in St.
Louis County, Minnesota, to wit: Laws number one hundred forty-five and one hundred forty-seven in block number sixty-three in Duluth Traction Division according to the recorded plat of the estate of said Nicholas Pastore, the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and costs, together with seventy-five dollars, the attorneys fee, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale as per law provided.

Dated January 12th, 1895.
THE ST. PAUL NATIONAL BANK,
Assignee of Mortgage.
FRANK A. DAY,
Attorney for said Assignee of Mortgage.

IS THE TYPICAL ARTICLE.

G. Fred Stevens' Picture. Produced as That of a "Typical Swedish Woodsman." The February number of the Northwest Magazine, in a collection of engravings, entitled "In the Northern Minnesota Vignettes," has among its prominent features a picture of a "typical Swedish woodsman." A casual observer would look at the cut with a smile as he recognized the familiar figure, with its guileless blandness of countenance and its checked jacket and green trousers of limb and position.

Most Duluthians, however, see something familiar about it. If they have ever been to a Bohemian club or lumbermen's entertainment, it is especially pronounced, and yet a moment's thought is necessary before the picture is recognized as that of G. Fred Stevens, in his inimitable Swedish characterizations, which have at last brought fame, for such is fame.

THAT BOOK CONTRACT

Chamber of Commerce Will Consider the County Board's Award of the Blank Book Work.

It Comes in the Line of Patronizing Home Manufacturers and Home Industries the Members Say.

Set of Resolutions Expressing Disapproval of the Board's Action Will Be Offered and Discussed.

The action of the board of county commissioners in letting a contract for furnishing blank books for the county offices to George D. Barnard & Co., of St. Louis, simply because they bid $10 to less than a Duluth firm has been severely criticised by many Duluth business men and the criticism has not yet been exhausted. Tomorrow this matter will be brought up before the chamber of commerce and some resolutions strongly resenting the board's action will be presented.

The chamber of commerce some time ago took up the matter of favoring home manufactures and home industries, and succeeded in doing considerable good. In several cases contractors and others were induced to cancel orders sent outside and use home manufactures. Now, comes the county board and sends work outside the city which would have given employment to considerable labor here in Duluth and all because of a paltry difference of $10.40.

The bid of George D. Barnard & Co. was $80.00 and that of Nugent & Brown was $89.00. On ten out of the twelve different sets of books the latter firm's bid was the lowest. On the assessors' books it was higher and sufficiently so to bring the total above that of Barnard & Co.

A wrong idea as to this matter has been gained by some people from the fact that the morning paper in reporting the meeting quoted Commissioner Dinham as saying that the county would be saved $3000 by giving it to Barnard & Co. It should have read $20. The saving in question is $10.40, no more and less. It should not be forgotten that Commissioners Helm and Miller voted to keep the work at home.

Hurt the Laboring Men.

A Herald man was talking with a representative of Nugent & Brown today and he said that if his firm had received the contract, Duluth laboring men would have received about $300 in wages. From 40 to 50 per cent of the cost of getting out blank books is labor and that amount would have all gone into the pockets of the men here and from their into Duluth merchants. Now it will all go to St. Louis workmen.

Nugent & Brown's representative said further: "It is not so much against losing the contract alone that we feel like complaining, but it is going to hurt Duluth blank book manufacturers in competition in other places. Now, for instance, we expect to put in a bid in a few days for furnishing the books for a county in the western part of the state. If D. Barnard & Co. will have a man there, he will not get a contract in St. Louis county where they are located, when the difference was only $20 on an $850 contract. You don't see how your work to a firm that has no higher regard than that at home? That is the most serious feature to us in this matter. The contract itself does not concern us so much."

There is some talk to the effect that the board may reconsider its former action and award the work to A. E. Humphreys. It is said that the matter is in such shape that this could be done.

GEORGE A. ELDER ARRESTED.
Apprehended on a Civil Process and Brought Into Court Today.

George A. Elder, now under indictment for grand larceny in the second degree, was arrested on a civil process this morning and brought into court to answer to supplementary proceedings in the case of Wolf Bros. bank against William McKinley, G. A. Elder and H. A. Wing. Suit was brought on a note, judgment was entered for $526.66 and an execution was issued and returned unsatisfied. All this time Elder was in Chicago.

Now that Elder is here on his criminal cases the plaintiffs sought to take advantage of his presence to bring him up on supplementary proceedings to disclose if there was any property this execution might attach itself to. So an affidavit representing that Elder was about to leave the state, as his criminal case would not keep him very long, was made and a warrant issued. J. L. Washburn, Elder's attorney, argued that as Elder was called here on a criminal action of another nature, the court had no jurisdiction over him, and he could not be compelled to answer a process. Judge Lewis, who heard the matter, seemed inclined to that belief, but he reserved his decision until this afternoon. In the meantime Elder was released. This afternoon Judge Lewis ordered his discharge.

This afternoon Judge Lewis decided that the court had no jurisdiction over Elder and the supplementary proceedings were dismissed.

The grand jury this morning returned two indictments. One was against William McNaughton for grand larceny in the second degree, and the other was not made public. Yesterday afternoon Nels Hanson withdrew his plea of guilty to grand larceny in the second degree and pleaded guilty to petit larceny. The jury was at work this morning but no indictments were taken when adjournment was taken at noon. It is Charged with Perjury.

August Fenske was brought down from Ely this noon on an indictment for perjury found against him by the grand jury last week. The charge of perjury is the outgrowth of a neighborhood quarrel in Ely. Before Judge Ensign yesterday afternoon the false imprisonment of Michael di Santo was taken up. It was still on trial at noon today and promised to continue for the greater part, if not all, of the afternoon. In the morning the charge of perjury against John Fogarty et al was on trial and was expected to take up the afternoon.

Before Judge Moer the case of Mary Zoe Allard, to recover $5000 from the Northern Pacific for the death of her husband, who was killed in a collision between a Duluth and Duluth Northern Pacific freight train, was taken up. It was still on trial at noon today and promised to continue for the greater part, if not all, of the afternoon. In the morning the charge of perjury against John Fogarty et al was on trial and was expected to take up the afternoon.

The next case taken up was that of the Duluth Music company against Kate Smith.

The case of A. J. Miller against the State bank was dismissed by the plaintiff. In the First National bank of Washington, Minn., against A. E. Humphreys et al judgment was ordered by stipulation for the plaintiff.

JUDGE OLIVE GONE.

He Has Concluded His Investigation of Register Taylor's Case.

Sunday, after four weeks spent in Duluth investigating the land office in general and the charges against Register Taylor in particular, Judge Olive shook the snow of Duluth from his feet and went to Ashland. He is not expected back here, and his report in the land office matters will be duly made to Secretary Smith. The report in Mr. Taylor's case proved to be much larger than Mr. Olive anticipated and embraced a good deal of testimony and material both for and against the register.

Will Make Final Accounting.

In the matter of the assignment of W. O. Tillotson an order has been issued for R. H. Harris, the assignee, to show cause Feb. 11 why he should not make his final account and distribute the remaining assets among the creditors. The order was issued on the petition of the creditors of the estate.
